

Relocation Study Started Of Accident-Prone Rt. 209

BY LYNN MULVANEY

Accident-prone Route 209 is apparently about to be bypassed.

The long-awaited route relocation study of the road from the Town of Hurley to the Sullivan County line, has just been instituted. Special preference is to be given the two most critical segments of the road, Stone Ridge and Ellenville.

High Priority

The announced action on the part of the State Department of Transportation followed bumper to bumper an inquiry by Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson who cited the pressing need for rerouting 209 in a letter to E. Burton Hughes, executive deputy commissioner.

Hughes replied saying the need was recognized and that the route has a high priority on the listing of projects requiring attention.

Wilson had cited the newly-opened Ulster County Community College in Stone Ridge and the new VAW aluminum plant in Ellenville as contributing to traffic trauma.

The commissioner answered saying "we anticipate that the preliminary work of updating traffic values and studying alternate choices for the route improvement may take another six to nine months."

Local transportation issues and opportunities as they pertain to the forthcoming state transportation bond issue referendum which allocates $414 million for Ulster and four other Mid-Hudson counties are discussed in a story on Page 38.

Assemblyman Wilson said he realized that there were many problems connected with the project, and said that he had been assured by Commissioner Hughes that "before any decisions are made by our department, and before we can schedule a public hearing, we will be more than happy to advise you and the officials of the communities affected so that a coordinated plan can be developed."

Wilson said he was gratified by the quick action taken by the department and that he was pleased with the high priority given the route.

Death Toll

Statistics on fatal accidents occurring on Route 209 during the last few years show that an average of five persons lose their lives each year traveling in the Stone Ridge-Kerhonkson-Ellenville area of the route.

So far this year three have been killed. In 1966 there were 12. In '65, four died on the narrow and winding highway.

The fatal accidents cannot be chalked up to teenagers, for again statistics show that all fatalities during the past three years, with the exception of two small children, involved persons between the ages of 24 and 78.

Police agencies are inclined to think, therefore, that the road, as much as the drivers, may be at fault. Records also show that a good many of the fatal accidents involved only one car and several were head-on collisions, and pedestrian fatalities.

Not All Fatal

Not all the accidents are fatal however. Many so-called "fender-bender" mishaps take place almost daily and the toll of personal injury occurrences mount steadily.

Just a little less than two weeks ago an elderly Lyonsville couple was hospitalized when the car in which they were riding on Route 209 swerved to avoid hitting a school bus coming out of side road.

Residents of the area, especially in the vicinity of Stone Ridge have, for several years, been urging action on the part of the state to secure a by-pass. Both private protest and organized community action precipitated the movement to have a state study.

2 Dead in Ellenville Fire

BY WALTER S. CLARK JR.

Ulster County's worst fire in years early today raced through the four-story wooden frame Wayside Inn on Canal Street in Ellenville, snuffing out at least two lives and forcing upwards of 35 guests to flee to safety.

The fire, that was fought by fire units from a dozen communities including Kingston and Ulster Hose Co. 5, was one of two fatal blazes in the area. An elderly Catskill woman perished in a Tuesday night fire that gutted her apartment.

Authorities said that two bodies had been found in the smoldering debris at Ellenville.

The victims were tentatively identified as Solomon Tannenbaum, 74, who resided in the oldest Revolutionary house in Saugerties, and Charles Levisdowsky, an employee of the bar and grill on the first floor of the building.

According to available information, Tannenbaum had checked in at the hotel several days ago as a guest. His Saugerties home is the oldest historic residence in that community, and under the house is a tunnel reportedly used by slaves.

No further details of the fatalities were available at noon. Victim of the Catskill blaze was identified by Leeds State Police as Mrs. Catherine E. McLane, 74, who resided in an apartment house at 80 Spring Street in that Greene County community.

Several firemen were treated for smoke poisoning at the Ellenville Community Hospital. At least two persons were injured as they leaped from the burning hotel, a landmark in the Ellenville area.

Occupants of the hotel were awakened by Tony Russo, operator of a bar and grill in the Wayside building, who smelled smoke and discovered the fire, and Patrolman Leonard Quick who was on patrol when he observed the fire and summoned the village fire department. Russo and Quick were credited with saving the lives of several of the hotel guests and employees. The two men raced through smoke-filled hallways pounding on doors of the rooms and shouting to arouse the sleeping occupants and order them to evacuate the building.

The hotel, two restaurants, law offices, a beauty salon, a photography studio, were involved in the blaze which roared out of control for hours—a raging inferno.

Many of the hotel occupants leaped from second floor windows as the stairways were blocked by fire and smoke. Others made their way down fire escapes and several of the older people were carried down ladders by firefighters, who braved the flames and stifling smoke that erupted from the burning structure and at times licked the fire ladders.

Ellenville Fire Chief George Garrison, assisted by fire unit officials from neighboring communities, directed more than 200 firefighters as they battled the flames. Police Chief Abe Rand and his men obtained a list of names of people who were in the hotel when the fire started. A check was made at police headquarters to determine anyone who had not been accounted for as firemen searched the debris.

Russo and Patrolman Quick discovered the fire before 2:25 a. m. and sounded the alarm. Upon arrival at the scene Chief Garrison summoned assistance from outside communities through Mutual Aid. In addition to the three Ellenville companies, units were dispatched to assist from Kerhonkson, Pine Bush, Nanoch, Wawarsing, Cragmoor, Walker Valley, Woodbourne, Shawangunk Valley.

Aerial ladder trucks from Kingston, Ulster Hose Co. 5, Monticello and other neighboring communities were also present.

10 MIGs Red Toll In Biggest Attack

SAIGON (AP) — American jet bombers flew through challenging Communist MIGs today to pound the Phuc Yen airfield again in a quick followup to the massive strike Tuesday on North Vietnam's biggest airbase.

Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs from Thailand bombed Phuc Yen's main 9,170-foot runway for a second time and also hit maintenance and support facilities north of the field which were untouched in the strikes Tuesday.

A U.S. military spokesman said the raiders tangled twice today with MIG interceptors but reported no kills for either side. U.S. pilots reported the North Vietnamese had filled in some of the bomb craters from the first assault during the night.

The U.S. Command reported earlier that 10 MIGs were destroyed or damaged and the air base put out of action for at least five or six days in the biggest raid of the war.

U.S. headquarters disclosed that four American planes were lost over North Vietnam Tuesday instead of two as previously announced. But a spokesman said none was shot down in the Phuc Yen area.

Four fliers were missing. The day's losses raised to 711 the announced total of American combat planes downed over the north.

While the tempo of the air war increased, the Viet Cong unleashed light mortar attacks on six closely bunched towns and one airfield in Kien Hoa Province, 30 to 45 miles south-southwest of Saigon in the Mekong Delta.

A U.S. spokesman said a two-hour barrage before dawn killed 11 persons and wounded 48, most of them Vietnamese civilians, although one U.S. government civilian employee was among the wounded.

U.S. headquarters announced a new search-and-destroy sweep in the central highlands—Operation MacArthur—by perhaps 8,000 men of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division but said after 13 days of the hunt for elements of three North Vietnamese divisions, no significant contact had been made.

The U.S. Command said four of the enemy had been killed and 16 Americans wounded.

More than 100 Air Force, Marine and Navy planes struck in four alternating waves in the attack on the Phuc Yen airfield 18 miles northwest of Hanoi, a target on the Pentagon's prohibited list until Tuesday.

Aerial photos showed nine MIGs wrecked on the ground, and an Air Force Phantom crew shot down one of the MIGs that managed to get up to challenge the raiders. The U.S. pilots said they also punched craters all along the 9,170-foot runway and knocked out four missile sites and three anti-aircraft sites.

U.S. officers said one Navy Phantom jet was shot down by ground fire after leaving Phuc Yen and the two crewmen were missing. Elsewhere over North Vietnam, an Air Force F105 Thunderchief and a Navy A4 Skyhawk and another Navy F4 Phantom were lost, but the pilots of the Skyhawk and the Thunderchief were rescued by helicopters.

The MIG21 kill was reported by Maj. William L. Kirk, 35, of Rayville, La., and Lt. Theodore R. Bongartz, 25, of Catonsville, Md., after what Kirk described as "a good old-fashioned dogfight."

$500 From Rocky for Santoroski

With a contribution of $500 dollars last week by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller the Michael P. Santoroski Memorial Scholarship Fund has now realized $9,128 in donations.

PPC Santoroski was wounded in Vietnam Sept. 6 by a booby trap, subsequently having both legs amputated. He expressed no bitterness over the loss of his legs, writing his mother Sept. 10 that "it was God's will." The 20-year-old soldier died in a hospital in the Philippines Sept. 26. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Santoroski of 95 Miller's Lane.

The current cash total is $7,838 while pledges amount to $1,289. The Kingston Trust Co. has volunteered to act as trustee of the fund.

The money will be used to provide scholarships in schools in Ulster, Greene and northern Dutchess counties, whose former students died in combat in Vietnam.

Chairman of the board for the fund drive is Lawrence Quilty. The president is Dr. George B. Erbstein, president of Ulster County Community College in Stone Ridge.

An 18-hour marathon was held over radio station WGHQ Oct. 3 which realized $7,019 toward the fund. Persons interested in contributing to the fund are advised to contact the radio station at 82 John Street.

Little Hope for Soviet Move

Israel, Egypt Trade Charges

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A new Israeli attack on Egypt's major oil refineries at Suez was reported today as the Soviet Union sought support for its demand that the U.N. Security Council condemn Israel as the aggressor in Tuesday's battle of Suez.

Newsman visiting the Egyptian port at the southern end of the Suez Canal reported an Israeli plane penetrated Egyptian air space today and fired its machine guns at firemen fighting the fires at the refineries hit by Israeli artillery the day before.

The newsmen said Egyptian anti-aircraft guns drove off the Israeli intruder. There was no word on casualties.

The Israeli army reported trouble on another frontier. It said two Israeli soldiers were killed, another was seriously wounded and an Arab was killed in a clash between troops and Arab infiltrators seven miles north of the Damiya Bridge spanning the Jordan River.

At the United Nations, there seemed little chance the Russians could round up enough votes to secure approval of their resolution condemning Israel.

Chief U.S. delegate Arthur J. Goldberg brushed aside the Soviet resolution, terming it a "midnight rerun of this stale record." He introduced a resolution calling on the council to condemn all violations of the Arab-Israeli cease-fire.

Israel and Egypt blamed each other for triggering the fierce artillery and mortar duel at the southern end of the Suez Canal.

Fires still roared today in Egypt's two major oil refineries in the city of Suez which produced 80 per cent of Egypt's petroleum. The pipeline terminal at nearby Port Taufiq also was ablaze.

Gov. Hamid Mahmoud of Suez told visiting newsmen one refinery was almost completely destroyed Tuesday and the other was half flattened. He said three civilians were killed and 60 wounded by the Israeli shelling, while an Egyptian communiqué said military casualties were three killed and 12 wounded.

Israel filed a counter complaint accusing the Egyptians of "open aggression and violations of the cease-fire resolution." The Israelis charged the Egyptians fired first from gun emplacements within inhabited areas of Port Taufiq, Port Ibrahim and Suez.

Dutchess Sheriff Cleared by State

A State investigation has exonerated the staff of Dutchess County Sheriff Lawrence M. Quinlan of negligence in the Sept. 28 jail break at the County Jail in Poughkeepsie, in which three prisoners including an accused murderer of a retired New York City policeman took part.

A general finding released by the State Commission of Correction exonerated Sheriff Quinlan but found fault with some of the county's training practices, which included inspection of cells with only one officer present.

The report emphasized that a minimum of two guards should make the inspections on regular schedule to check inmates and the cell blocks.

The state findings noted that availability of civilian clothing to prisoners "invited temptation" and recommended closer control over such apparel.

Salary increases for jail employees to bring the pay to private industrial levels, was recommended as the Commission report contended that the greatest deterrent to escapes was capable and well trained personnel.

The report of the commission's investigation was made by Raymond Narohn, senior inspector for the State Commission of Correction.

The largest escape incident recorded at the Dutchess jail occurred on Sept. 28 and involved three inmates. They were Richard J. Kent, 15, of Poughkeepsie, accused of the murder of Joseph Murphy, 74, a retired New York City patrolman, who was found dead in his Clinton Corners Road home near Salt Point on June 25; Edward C. Whitney, 21, of Poughkeepsie, who was accused of grand larceny and Joseph J. Lalak, 27, of New York City, who was under indictment on charges of grand larceny and burglary.

The escapees were apprehended by State Police near the Port Authority Terminal in New York City, not far from a tavern after less than a day of freedom.

After an investigation immediately after the escape, the sheriff's committee of the Dutchess County Board of Supervisors concluded that there was no negligence on the part of the sheriff's staff.

The escape of the trio was the seventh break-out at the jail since 1962.

Bill to Ban Bank Lottery Sales Moves

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill that would prohibit federally insured or chartered banks from selling lottery tickets—labeled a “severe blow” to New York State’s lottery — has moved a step closer to final action.

The Senate Banking Committee Tuesday agreed by a 7-6 vote to send the House-approved measure to the floor of the Senate.

Meanwhile, a New York Democrat who is a House sponsor of the proposal said that the New York lottery was a failure and that Gov. Rockefeller did not have the political courage to admit it.

Rep. John M. Murphy of Staten Island made the comment Tuesday in a House speech reporting the Senate committee action.

In approving the proposal, the Senate committee accepted an amendment made by a subcommittee that would permit banks to handle record-keeping and distribution functions for a lottery.

In Albany, State Tax Commissioner Joseph Murphy, said the bill would be a “severe blow to the New York State Lottery for education, as presently constituted.”

The commissioner added, however, that the bill, if finally approved, would not become effective until April 1, 1968, thus giving Rockefeller and the Legislature time to take corrective action.

About 2,500 banks sell the $1 lottery tickets. They represent 60 per cent of the outlets, which also include hotels, motels and some government offices.

In another development, Ernest Bird, of the State Lottery Commission, told a business group in Albany that additional sales outlets were needed in “places where there is a large gathering of people.”

Bird suggested shopping centers and supermarkets might be added to the list of eligible outlets.

Transferred

NORTH TONAWANDA, N.Y. (AP) — A Roman Catholic priest, identified as one of 10 men who turned in their draft classification cards during an anti-Vietnam war demonstration last week, has been transferred from his teaching post here to a parish near Toronto, Canada.

The Rev. Gian F. Pietra, a native of Italy and mathematics teacher for the last five years at Bishop Gibbons High School, took part in the protest last Wednesday at Selective Service headquarters in Buffalo, officials said.

Nixon Backers Ask Clearance On Standby Plan

NEW YORK (AP) — The Richard M. Nixon for President organization is negotiating with aides of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller for clearance to create a standby campaign organization in New York.

Nixon himself travels today to New Hampshire at the invitation of the Laconia Chamber of Commerce. He will address a dinner meeting of the chamber.

The campaign negotiations were revealed Tuesday aboard the SS Independence as she steamed here on the final day of the 59th National Governors Conference.

Former Oklahoma Gov. Henry M. Bellmon, chairman of the national Nixon-for-President committee, already has discussed the matter with New York’s national committeeman, George Hinman.

Credibility Gap Is on Vietnam Romney Claims

BISMARCK, N.D. (AP) — Michigan Gov. George Romney says President Johnson’s administration “has cried wolf so often that it has lost credibility.”

Romney told a gathering of some 750 Republicans at a GOP fund-raising dinner Tuesday night, “There’s no doubt the biggest bulge in the whole credibility gap comes over Vietnam.”

Starting an eight-day, ten-state speaking tour, the Republican governor, an undeclared candidate for the GOP presidential nomination, talked again about “brainwashing.”

“Apparently there were a lot of brainwashed American voters in 1964,” said Romney who stated recently he was brainwashed into going along with President Johnson’s Vietnam policy.

Romney said he believed what he was told about Vietnam in 1964 and he continued to believe what he was told on his visit to Vietnam a year later.

“I am like the rest of the American public,” Romney said. “I want to believe what our government leaders tell us. But today if any major public figure quoted Johnson’s 1964 comments on Vietnam he would be regarded as the dullest of the doves.”

An early plastic, which was manufactured in England under the name of Galalith in 1914, was made of a milk derivative and formaldehyde.

Automation Survey Here

The University of Michigan's Survey Center (SRC) is continuing its pioneering nationwide studies into the effect of automation on American life. Ulster County has been selected as one of the areas to participate in the survey. Mrs. Walter S. Herring of Ulster Park is participating in the survey.

SRC field staff members will interview a second group of Americans across the country between Oct. 26 and Dec. 4. A similar survey was conducted last spring under sponsorship of the U. S. Department of Labor.

The study is an attempt to measure the impact of automation and other changes in machine technology on a cross-section of the nation's working people. Interviews will be conducted in 76 communities.

The Center, a division of the Institute for Social Research, maintains a staff of professionally trained interviewers in local areas to conduct the questioning in several national surveys each year.

Beside automation questions, people will be asked their opinions about national business conditions and their plans to purchase various goods. These questions are part of the well-known quarterly surveys of consumer attitudes conducted by the Center for the past 16 years.

Information is held in strict

1,000 Reserve For Thursday Dinner of GOP

To date 1,000 reservations have been received by Chairman Albert Spada for the Republican dinner and rally to be held at the Nevele Country Club, Ellenville, Thursday night. The dinner will be at 7 p. m.

New York State Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Vincent L. Tofany will be guest speaker.

Spada said tickets will be on sale at the door and reservations will be accepted up to 1,500 persons, capacity of the facilities.

Tofany will be guest speaker. Tokyo's weather in June averages one clear day, 9 partly cloudy days, and 20 cloudy days.

WEARY OF IT ALL — Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Borelli realize President Johnson has his problems at the present, but they are a little weary of helping him carry them. A Sunday newspaper ran a story on "Dial the President," for a recorded message from the chief executive, but the Borelli's telephone number corresponds with LBJ's with the exception of the area code, which was omitted in the paper. Mrs. Borelli throws up her hands with the expectation of the next call — over 300. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Republicans Prepare Moves To Win Senate Fund Cutback

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans have $5 billion and $2 billion moves ready in their effort to win Senate approval of a multibillion dollar cutback in federal spending.

The administration, beaten in a similar fight by the House, is trying to block the attachment of any across-the-board spending curbs to an otherwise routine money resolution.

Senate votes were expected today on the resolution, which extends until Nov. 15 the authority for many federal agencies to continue to spend government money.

Congress has not completed action on these agencies' regular appropriations for the budget year which began July 1. An earlier interim spending authorization expired at midnight Monday.

Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., wants to add a provision establishing a $121.5 billion federal spending ceiling for this fiscal year. That's estimated to be worth a $5 billion cut and is almost the same as one provision the House tacked onto the resolution last week.

The House also added a broader directive to the President to reduce expenditures by $6 to $8 billion in the present year.

Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., proposes a 5 per cent cut in all appropriations except those for defense and for items fixed by law such as interest on the national debt.

He estimated this would reduce appropriations by nearly $2 billion.

Williams told the Senate Tuesday the nation is in a "chaotic financial situation" and that President Johnson has contributed heavily by "false economy promises" and by "juggling the budget figures in an effort to mislead the American people as to the true extent of deficit spending."

Chairman Carl Hayden, D-Ariz., of the Appropriations Committee said the House riders seek to make economies "by blind, across-the-board reductions" and it is impossible to know their real effect.

Meanwhile, progress continued in pushing through the regular money measures. Six have been enacted and nine are pending.

Senate-House conferees completed work on a compromise $2.2 billion measure to finance the departments of State, Justice and Commerce.

The House passed and sent to the Senate a $2.1 billion military construction bill, carrying $800 million less than Johnson originally asked.

Both the House and Senate sent back to conference a $10 billion catch-all money bill for another try at agreement on two major administration programs designed to improve city slums and house low-income families.

These are rent supplements, for which the House voted nothing this year and the Senate $40 million in contract authority, and model cities, for which the House allowed $237 million and the Senate $537 million.

NO WIFE IS ANXIOUS TO BECOME A WIDOW!

And even a considerate husband cannot forestall the probability — but he can make it much easier!

First and foremost, see your attorney and either make a will or be sure that your old will still covers your constantly changing present situation and desires.

Maybe you have chosen a best friend as executor of your will — but your lawyer knows a better executor-friend, The State of New York National Bank. Your best friend may very well be an accountant, a good bill-collector, a top-notch investment analyst and a tax expert, all of which enter vitally into the administration of your estate — but he cannot spend full time on your estate, he does take vacations and may frequently be out of town on business just when your family most needs his attention — or he may die, be incapacitated or move to another locality at a critical time.

The State of New York National Bank Trust Department offers the services of several experts covering various portions of your estate, they work full time on nothing but trusts, and the Bank is available every working day, day in and day out, this year, next year and for 114 years thus far.

And both the part-time friend and The State of New York National Bank are entitled only to exactly the same fee, by law, for administering your estate.

No on New Charter

The proposed New York State Constitution, which will be presented as a one-question ultimatum for a "Yes or No" vote at the November 7 general election, should be defeated because of the imperious manner in which it is being submitted to the registered voters of the state. We repeat that to deprive the people of the opportunity to endorse the changes they approve and reject the changes they disapprove is tragic. We condemn this procedure that takes away from the people the right to take a stand on issues based on individual merit.

There are a number of desirable provisions in the proposed new charter that doesn't necessarily have to be lost if it is turned down. There is an alternative piecemeal method for amending the Constitution for separate action on various items. They can be passed by the Legislature in 1968, receive second legislative endorsement in 1969 and be submitted separately to the voters in that year's election thus giving the people opportunity to exercise their right of choice. Proposed changes approved by the people in 1969 would become effective January 1, 1970, or just one year later than the date on which they would become operative under the revised charter.

In other words, you don't have to take it or leave it. You can vote "No" on the proposal and still have the Legislature submit certain provisions for a vote. The people then will decide what it wants or doesn't want in the Constitution. There have been 93 amendments to the Constitution approved by two successively elected Legislatures and adopted by the people at general elections. Some of the objectives also could be adopted as statutes at the next session of the Legislature.

The proposed new Constitution could have been drafted to permit separate action on such controversial subjects as the repeal of the so-called Blaine amendment, which prohibits the use of state funds directly or indirectly to church-connected schools; the ending of public referendum on all state bond issues, eliminating the requirement that state debt be authorized by the people; the assumption by the state of the administration of all social welfare programs to the state of the entire cost of such activities over a 10-year period; the computation for state aid for education to be based on the number of pupils according to registration rather than attendance.

The people should be given the right to make up their minds on these and other issues. We recommend rejection of Question No. 1.

First Health Fair

The Ulster County Health Fair to be held Saturday, October 28, from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. at 235 Fair Street, Kingston, is a civic project for civic good that should attract widespread interest on the part of residents of the county.

The health fair is free to the public with no charge whatsoever for the tests, which will include blood pressure, chest X-ray, diabetes, glaucoma detection, pulmonary function, height and weight readings. The results of the tests will be sent by the Ulster County Health Department to individual physicians designated by the registrants.

The First Federal Savings and Loan Association is sponsoring this first health fair and we commend the local banking institution for this public spirit and altruistic venture.

Indicative of the importance of this service to the general welfare is the number of participating health agencies which are cooperating with the First Federal. They include the Ulster County Health Department, Mid-Hudson Heart Association, Ulster Chapter, New York Diabetes Association, TB and Health Association, Kingston Lions Club, Ambulance Association, Kingston and Benedictine Hospitals and the New York State Department of Health.

Premier Fidel Castro's tribute to his fallen comrade, Ernesto Che Guevara, may be the prelude to more desperate efforts to export Cuban Communism to Latin America, where Guevara met his death. This warning by Senator Howard H. Baker Jr., Tennessee Republican, recognizes the desperate straits Castro is in. He must do something to recover from the blow.

Personal income reached a record annual rate of $633.5 billion in September, with a gain of $2 billion, the smallest in four months. It included wages and salaries at an annual rate of $427.6 billion, up only $900 million, as compared to a $3.3 billion rise the month before. Individual income moved slowly as corporate profits did.

Many British automobile drivers went on the water wagon to avoid submitting to a breath test for drunken driving since the police were empowered to make the tests on suspicion of imbibing. That makes the test a success, by cutting the number of drunken drivers.

David Lawrence Says Disunity and Discord Seen in Ranks of GOP

WASHINGTON—The Republican Party is giving the country an impression of disunity and discord—a seeming inability to make up its mind on what ought to be done in national or international policy.

The 46 governors—Republicans and Democrats—gathered together in a week's conference could not muster the necessary votes to pass a resolution expressing an opinion about the Vietnam war because of the wide divergence of viewpoints. This was one of the most discouraging episodes in national politics.

Reports vary as to what were the motivating influences in preventing any resolution from being adopted on the Vietnam question. It is apparent, however, that the Republicans could not agree among themselves, while the Democratic governors did not have enough votes to bring up a simple resolution supporting the President of the United States in the midst of a war.

The same situation, however, prevails here in Congress. Republicans are divided, and so are the Democrats. Many of the members are keeping an ear to the ground while trying to think of things to say that will please the folks back home. The prevalent theory is that at present the people like to hear their representatives denounce the war and that anybody who is demanding "peace at any price" is expressing the "popular will."

ISTANBUL, Turkey—The courtyard is composed of old gray stone and young green plants. The morning sun slanted across the orange tile roof of the house and peeked at the flowers. An ancient attendant with bad feet came out a back door and motioned for us to come out a back door and motioned for us to come inside. He pointed up a stairway which curved against a cracked wall.

We were led into a square office in the back. The walls were yellow, except where the stern face of Kemal Ataturk stared from a frame, an old couch and a few chairs leaned against each other, and behind a little desk sat the figure of His Holiness, Athenagoras, Ecumenical Patriarch of the Greek Orthodox Church. He is 81.

His secretary, Bishop Gabriel, stood beside the desk, a tall black hat on his head and a black cassock falling to the heels beneath a graying beard. Athenagoras read a document, nodding now and then. Then he placed it on the desk and signed it. He motioned with a hand for us to sit. I was interviewing him just before he left on a month-long trip.

On the desk was a two-volume set of memories by Harry S. Truman. Behind the desk was a framed photo of Lyndon B. Johnson. The Patriarch looked up. The eyes were two dark searchlights. The hair was long and stringy gray; so was the silken beard. The cheeks were prominent and made of yellow parchment. The searchlights switched from face to face. "My son," he said in a voice deep as the gloom of Moses. "I am glad you are here." He looked at Kelly and, behind the beard, made a small smile. "It is good for a man as old as I to have a granddaughter too," he said.

Wars have always been unpopular. But so are taxes, and so are any laws that are restrictive. There never has been a time, however, when the American people seemed so unaware of the true significance of a war insofar as their own safety and security is concerned. Much of the misunderstanding is due to the misleading speeches that have been made and superficial commentaries which ignore the role being played by the Soviet Union and Red China.

Apparatus brought on World War II, but evidently the politicians are willing to take risks by making statements which give the enemy an impression of American weakness.

Nearly all of the potential candidates for the Republican presidential nomination have discussed the Vietnam War in abstract phrases. While supporting in general the objectives of the United States in Southeast Asia, criticism has been directed either at the military strategy or the alleged failure of the State Department to press intensively for a peace conference with the enemy. All the sniping, however, doesn't go to the basic problem, which is that neither President Johnson nor Secretary Rusk nor the military chiefs have any control over the minds of the rulers in Hanoi, who have rebuffed every peace feeler.

It might well be asked how a small nation like North Vietnam can afford to keep up the fight after the damage which has been inflicted by the American bombing operations. The truth is that the United States is fighting not just North Vietnam but also the Russian and Red Chinese governments, which are rendering assistance, militarily and otherwise, to the Hanoi government.

Under these circumstances, one might have expected firm support from the Republicans for proposals to embargo shipments of arms or supplies by sea from any country in the world to North Vietnam. This might have been accompanied also by a demand that the United States re-examine its diplomatic relations with Soviet Russia and its trade with Communist nations in Eastern Europe which are openly supporting the North Vietnam cause.

The Democrats, too, are vacillating. They have in their ranks many members of Congress who feel they must curry favor with voters back home by criticizing the policies of the Johnson administration in Vietnam. The conduct of the Vietnam war unquestionably will be an issue in the 1968 campaign, but it looks now if it will be widely misrepresented. The people who will be voting against the administration on that particular point may not have the slightest idea of how a Republican administration would deal with the same problem. For the Republicans have not given any intimation of what they would do if they came into power.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

Once, when I was a young reporter, this man was a Patriarch in New York. His church, which has flourished in the Balkans and Russia, was strong and well nourished in the United States. He was born with a superior intellect and the compassion of his Savior. Now he was being diplomatic with the word "granddaughter" because his home is a monastery and no women are permitted, unless you count the old crones whose fingers fly sewing gold thread in new vestments.

For centuries, there has been a schism between his church and the Roman Catholic. "I came back," he said slowly, "when President Truman asked me to do it. There was trouble in Greece." After the war, the Communists tried to assume control of Greece, and President Truman knew that the presence of Athenagoras, speaking for God, would turn the people away from new and dangerous ways to where their hearts are.

"And now," he said, pointing a long finger from the black robe, "Pope Paul came to see me and he sat in your chair." He was speaking to Kelly. "I told him, I said: 'You are not Paul the Sixth, but Paul Deux.'" (Paul Two.) This was an outrageous compliment because the first Paul was the Evangelist who came from Tarsus to preach to the alien gentiles.

"There are old troubles between our churches, but they are forgotten by all except the theologians. One must always leave something for the theologians to debate." The eyes magnified with joy, as though Athenagoras was contemplating something accomplished which had yet to be undertaken.

A man came in with two dishes of whitish cream and six tiny silver spoons. "Eat something sweet," Athenagoras said, "and s p e a k sweet." We sipped the sticky stuff. "I will visit Rome," he said, as Bishop Gabriel stared in alarm, "and we will adjust this old dispute between our churches. The Pope and I will be careful to leave something for our theologians to debate and then, in spite of them, we will lock arms and walk forward together."

It was the first time that the head of the Greek Orthodox Church had announced his determination to heal the schism. "What nobility of mind," he murmured, "for Paul to come to see me in his poor place. What majesty and humility of soul moves a man like that?"

"Ah well," he said, slapping the sides of his chair and standing, "let us go to dinner." He seemed as tall as Mount Ararat and, as I stood, he folded both arms around me and kissed me on the forehead. "My son, you come with me." He turned to Kelly. "My granddaughter," he said with mock solemnity, "here we do not invite ladies to dine, so, if you will excuse this once, you will have something with Bishop Gabriel."

She left. The dining room was long and narrow, and the black-robed Bishops sat on both sides of the table, popping pieces of bread and ladies of soup into their beards. Athenagoras sat at the head of the table. Because the food seemed alien, I pushed it from one side of the table to the other.

When we parted, Athenagoras caught my hand in his. "You did not eat," he whispered. "Why?" "A little," I said. "A little." He gave Kelly a gold medal of himself and Pope Paul. I was silent all the way back to the hotel. A truly holy man silences the tongue and awakens the heart . . .

Drew Pearson Says California Can't Adopt Tough Smog, Exhaust Laws

WASHINGTON—Rep. John Dingell, the Detroit Democrat, is a great defender of the public interest when it comes to almost everything except automobiles. Regarding these he has been a vigorous, effective inside lobbyist for the motor moguls.

Right now Dingell is in the middle of some backstage jockeying over curtailing smog in Los Angeles and California generally. The issue has come up as a result of the air pollution control bill which the Senate passed last summer permitting California to set tougher standards to curb motor exhaust fumes than the federal government may set.

Purpose of the Senate amendment was to allow California to be tougher than the rest of the country because of the serious situation faced by Los Angeles. There 90 per cent of air pollution comes from motor vehicles.

When the Senate bill reached the House Commerce Committee, of which Dingell is a member, he assumed his role as auto industry lobbyist. Guided by Lloyd Cutler, efficient attorney for the auto industry, and Tom Mann, president of the Automobile Manufacturers Association, Dingell rammed through the Commerce Committee a provision that federal standards for auto exhaust fumes would prevail rather than any tougher standards by the states.

Dingell's bill would permit a state such as California to prove that it needed tougher standards, but in view of the present HEV bureaucrats, this would be difficult, perhaps impossible.

Dingell's neat campaign now faces the unanimous opposition of California Congressmen. Even conservative Sen. George Murphy, a Republican, has united with such California liberals as John Moss of Sacramento and Lionel Delrin of San Diego to battle against Dingell. Sen. Murphy claims that Dingell is betraying the health of the public.

It's also claimed that the exhaust control device Detroit put on 1966 and 1967 models sold in California have not been working effectively, that it fails to function after a car operates around 5,000 miles.

The legislation is due to be threshed out in the House of Representatives in the next few days.

Black Rebellion Spreads

The black rebellion is now spreading across the country into the Negro neighborhoods of the smaller cities. It doesn't seem to matter that these cities have had good race relations in the past.

In Tacoma, Wash., for instance, black militants are talking about violence as the only way to win equality.

At a recent closed-door meeting, Les MacIntosh and Bob Redwine, two black militants from nearby Seattle, told a group of angry young Negroes that marching might not be enough to bring changes.

"We must exhaust every means at our disposal in the community," MacIntosh said. "If that doesn't work, then we might have to knock off a couple of cops."

MacIntosh's speech points up the frustrations of Negroes in the state of Washington, despite the fact that both Senators, Warren Magnuson and Henry "Scoop" Jackson, have been in the forefront of the civil rights fight on Capitol Hill.

Just a few months ago, Gov. Dan Evans sought MacIntosh's aid when it appeared that race riots were brewing in Seattle. MacIntosh helped to cool things off.

Now, however, he says he isn't sure he did the right thing.

Redwine, a young, skinny SNCC worker who calls whites "honkeys" like Rap Brown and poses like George Lincoln Rockwell with a cornob pipe, told Tacoma's angry young men that he and MacIntosh would not appear as leaders in the Tacoma activities.

"We're just here to advise you," he said. Then he took his hand-picked "leaders" aside for more words "so these honkeys can't hear us," referring to two sympathetic whites who had been admitted to the meeting.

Exactly ten years ago a young Italian, Mariano Rumor, undersecretary of agriculture in Rome, visited Washington. The Soviet Union had just launched its first Sputnik, the world was agog over this space achievement, and critical of the United States for its space failures.

When Undersecretary Rumor was asked what would restore American prestige in Europe, he replied: "An American moon. You must launch a small American moon soon."

Last week the same Mariano Rumor came back to Washington, this time in the very important post of secretary general of the Christian Democratic Party, which means that he holds much of Italy's political destiny.

In the years that have passed many small American moons have been launched and the United States is now abreast of the Soviet.

Secretary General Rumor was delighted with this advance, but privately worried over the low ebb of American prestige in Europe as a result of another factor—the war in Vietnam.

At a luncheon given in his honor by Vice President Humphrey, Rumor indicated that his government would support the United States, though he hoped we could find a peaceful solution in Vietnam soon.

At the luncheon Vice President Humphrey recalled that Rumor, in addition to heading the Christian Democratic Party, was president of Europe's Federation of Christian Democratic Parties and may become secretary general of the proposed Christian Democratic movement of the world. This would include the ruling parties of Chile, West Germany, and Austria.

Toasting the guest of honor, Vice President Humphrey said: "That great political man, Larry O'Brien, the Postmaster General, is here with us today. But after listening to Mariano Rumor and considering all his qualifications, Larry O'Brien seems an amateur politician."

Henry J. Taylor Says

Detroit Hopes for Good Auto Year

DETROIT — This riot-scarred, strike-wounded city still hopes for a good automobile year, and a downright excellent 1968. Much in our economy as a whole goes the way this bellwether industry goes and thus its outlook foretells a great deal.

This side of a crystal ball, probably the simplest way to see what seems to be ahead is through a look at one company. The figures I use are from inside General Motors, No. 1 in the industry and the largest manufacturing company in the world. The opinions are those of Frederic G. Donner, the Chairman of the Board, who gave me his views.

The industry will build approximately 7.7 million passenger cars in the United States this year. That is a production level exceeded only four times in its history. And this is in the face of a fast-running race in which records keep falling at a quickening pace.

General Motors, for example, built its first 25 million cars across a period of 32 years. It built its next 25 million within 14. Its third came within seven. The next 25, making a landmark total of 100 million, scored the year, came within only five years. This typifies the acceleration in the race when we read of a "good" or "bad" 1967 and forget that the measurement moves upward very fast.

The industry averaged 5.6 million units annually in the five-year period between 1957-61. In the 1962-1966 period the yearly average was eight million units. This is an increase of more than 40 per cent.

Buyer registration figures revealed by state vehicular bureaus are the ultimately significant figures that tell the industry where it stands on a year-to-year basis. That's how you can see the real picture which is often badly obscured by variations in year-end inventories. How many vehicles are actually passing into consumer consumption? The ultimate payoff is on this, and all forecasting is done on that basis.

It's not easy to calculate a "normal trend" line for as long as 10 years ahead, but the lead-time needed for tooling, plant construction, research productivity, etc., in the industry makes this necessary.

The trend line established in 1957 is working out correctly in 1967. Unit sales are running amazingly close to the calculation, and the calculation itself called for an increase of 43 per cent.

Meanwhile, the dimensions of each unit have increased enormously, the industry no longer reflects the same kind of cars.

"Current consumer demand is spearheaded by the popularity of the 'top car' in each of the lines," Mr. Donner said. "In short, more car per car. The word 'units' is losing a lot of its previous meaning."

Ten years ago 38 per cent of the company's customers ordered power-steering installations. Last year the percentage was almost 75 per cent. The word 'units' is brakes increased from 35 per cent to nearly 50. Air conditioning was ordered on about five per cent of the

This bellwether industry had a 1966 favorable export balance of about $600 million on the sunny side of our balance-of-payments problem and our gold crisis. In the 21 postwar years its contributing balance in our country's favor has exceeded $18.5 billion.

Mr. Donner believes 13 million vehicles a year will be sold in the United States within eight years. His inside figures produced at this company headquarters give that remarkable figure as a minimum.

Do you earnestly believe that in our Christian society founded on the love of God, that we should condemn a person for the rest of his life, punishing him still more, by denying him a chance to make an honest living, having an honest desire to become a respectable and useful member of society?

What about the industrial or professional future of an individual who has only a correctional institution or prison as his only reference?

An amnesty bill for first offenders was defeated, 62-58, some time ago in our N. Y. State Assembly at Albany.

This bill provided immediate amnesty upon application to a court of law following completion of sentence.

It is a step in the right direction, but it should be governed according to the individual as to time limits after sentence.

There are people who should be convicted who probably never will be for one reason or another.

Editor, The Freeman:

The first amendment to the Constitution of the U. S. guarantees all Americans right of free speech.

Therefore, may I present this article concerning those convicted of crime relative to adoption of our laws and the enforcement in all levels of government?

On most applications for employment there are unfair, and unethical interrogations for even the common jobs:

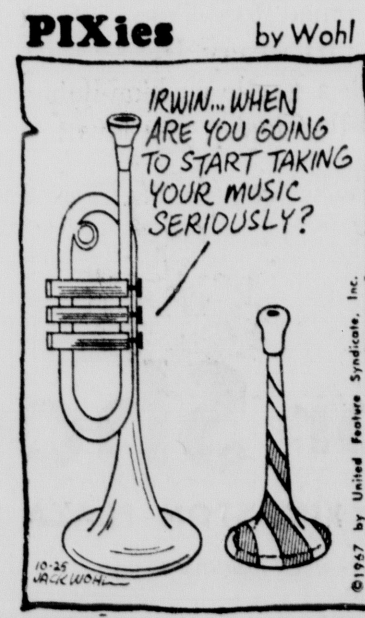

"Have you ever been convicted of a crime?"

If you say, Yes, you are rejected, or if you say, No, you are rejected following investigation for a fraudulent statement.

Society never lets the matter drop. It seems the person convicted, or even arrested, has no right to a future good name, thereafter, in employment opportunities of his choice.

However, the employer has the right to investigate without embarrassment to an applicant.

Employment should be available to all convicted people who have paid society for their offense.

Big Business Taking Keener Interest in Fighting Poverty

By WILLIAM J. EATON
Chicago Daily News Service

HOT SPRINGS, VA.—Affluent big business is taking a keener interest in planning and carrying out programs to fight poverty and improve race relations in major U. S. cities.

Federal officials, encouraged by the trend, are urging leaders of giant corporations to help reform the welfare system, plan better health care and devise improved city transit networks.

This new social gospel was a major topic at the fall meeting of the powerful and influential Business Council, an American version of the House of Lords. The concern stems largely from this year's rioting in Detroit, Newark and elsewhere.

In a resort setting far from urban woes, the big names from U. S. industry and finance heard how future profits are linked to a stable society.

"City Hall can't go it alone any more," said John W. Gardner, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare. Gardner said business must join with organized labor and Negro leaders to deal with the most pressing urban dilemmas.

Mitchell Ginsberg, New York's Social Service Commissioner, asked for business backing for a system of family allowances and other radical changes in the ever-costlier welfare system.

Ginsberg also supported government subsidies to help corporations train slum dwellers once rejected as "unemployables" because of their poor education and police records.

John W. McCone, the former director of the Central Intelligence Agency who headed the inquiry into causes of the 1965 Watts riot, joined the chorus.

Training Programs

McCone told how Aerojet General and other firms had found jobs for many Negroes from the Watts area after conducting special training programs and taking risks on hiring. Some of the added costs have been paid by the companies but the Labor Department has helped with on-the-job training grants, he said.

"This has helped relieve the pressure in Los Angeles," McCone said. "Although there is continuing discontent within the Negro community."

Businessmen had high praise for the Rev. Leon Sullivan, a Negro minister from Philadelphia who has helped to establish opportunities industrial centers in several major cities.

These centers help prepare so-called "unemployables" and inspire them to remain on the job.

The discussion of slum problems at the Business Council was arranged by Albert L. Nickerson, Mobil Oil's board chairman who is serving as council chairman this year.

"Business must have an increasing appreciation that its ability to make profits over the long run depends on having a stable social system," Nickerson explained.

Gardner also asked for business help in long-range planning so the public could consider alternatives before a crisis demanded a fast decision.

"We spend a good deal of our time stumbling into the future," Gardner said, referring to the neglect of air pollution until citizen resentment forced the federal government to take action.

Alan S. Boyd, Secretary of Transportation, discussed traffic congestion and mass transit facilities and sounded the same theme.

Government Allowances

Ginsberg, who said he was encouraged by the business

reaction to his talk on welfare reforms, predicted Congress would adopt a system of government allowances to all families within three to five years.

This step, he insists, would cut down the high cost of welfare investigations and checking for eligibility to receive relief. Ginsberg also favors job-related training and more attention to family planning instructions.

He urged the business leaders to drop their traditional hostility to welfare and take a greater role in shaping the system instead of leaving the problems for social workers to handle.

"This job is not going to get done without business support—no doubt about it," Ginsberg said of his reform program.

"Right now welfare is a band-aid operation," he added. "We pick up the casualties from poor housing, poor schools and lack of jobs."

Both Sides Are Pleased

By WILLIAM MCGAFFIN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23—

Both sides appeared to be pleased after the weekend confrontation between the military and the antiwar demonstrators.

It was obvious from conversations a reporter had with various demonstrators at the Pentagon that they felt they had succeeded in what they set out to do, to dramatize their opposition to the Vietnam conflict.

Pentagon officials were relieved that they had succeeded in controlling the crowd with a minimum of force, and that the "siege of the Pentagon" had been repelled without a shot having to be fired.

The demonstrators, who numbered an estimated 55,000 when they gathered for their initial rally at the Lincoln Memorial Saturday afternoon, had dwindled down by yesterday to probably not more than 1,500.

Asks Executives Oppose Quotas Many Products

HOT SPRINGS, Va.—Sen.

Charles H. Percy (R-Ill.) is the only potential GOP Presidential nominee with an open door to meetings of the corporate elite known as the Business Council.

Percy, who was elected to membership on the high-prestige group of executives when he headed Bell and Howell, dropped in on last weekend's session to deliver a pep talk against the "New Protectionism."

He asked Council Chairman Albert L. Nickerson for time to make a brief argument against the many bills in Congress that would impose quotas on imported steel, textiles, oil and other products.

Percy, acknowledging that some industries have special trading problems, warned that U. S. quotas would bring foreign retaliation and American business would lose its world markets.

His speech was almost a carbon copy of an appeal Friday by Gardner Ackley, chairman of President Johnson's Council of Economic Advisers, on the protectionist moves in the Congress. Percy's talk touched off a spirited discussion and not all agreed with him.

Percy also found time for lunch with Central Intelligence Director Richard Helms, who usually attends the council gatherings, and played tennis with Federal Reserve Board Member Dewey Daane as his partner.

DeFeliceis Critical Of Mayor Reid

Mayor Joseph Reid of Rosendale was chastised today by Town Supervisor Gerard DeFeliceis for not having announced the Oct. 6 verdict of the district attorney regarding Reid's complaint that town equipment had been utilized for private purpose.

Reid's charge stemmed from DeFeliceis' authorization of moving of Sportsman's Park by the Town Highway Department to the Bloomington and Rosendale Fire Companies fund raising donkey ball game.

The district attorney's opinion, issued in a letter Oct. 6 to both DeFeliceis and Reid, states that the town was not in violation of the law but that it is prohibited in the future under Article 8 Section 1 of the Constitution from continuing the practice of aiding community efforts through certain services, according to DeFeliceis.

Mayor Reid was not available for comment this morning.

Stating that although the mayor "might be technically correct to the finest point of the law," DeFeliceis expressed the opinion that Reid was "morally wrong." He said he released the information himself "rather than let it become a political issue a day or two before election."

DeFeliceis explained that he is now "prohibited from continuing to assist the Little League, play snow from churches, fire companies, cemeteries, and perhaps saddest of all, can no longer continue to use town trucks to deliver hospital beds, wheel chairs, etc., to the sick in our town, from the town closet."

"I wish to assure every resident of our town that I will do all in my power to continue these services in the township. I intend to seek, if necessary, a ruling from the state attorney general's office," he said.

"Every township in the county supplies similar services to its residents but the difference is that no ruling is forced because no people would think of complaining about this regardless of political affiliations."

De Feliceis said he did not publicize the district attorney's ruling before because Mayor Reid also received a copy of the letter and he thought Reid, as the complainant, would bring the results to the people.

$50,000 in Safe Tied to Large Gambling Ring

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—Federal tax agents say a safe they seized at the home of Philip Silbert, one of four men charged with operating what has been called a $10 million gambling ring, contained $50,000 in cash.

Silbert is the brother-in-law of Sheldon S. Cohen, U. S. commissioner of internal revenue. Federal agents Monday described Silbert in affidavits as "one of the most important numbers bankers in the Baltimore area."

In addition to the $50,000, agents who seized the safe Tuesday, said it contained two $100 Canadian bills, English currency and a gold certificate.

Also charged in the case are Jessie Bondroff, William Schreck and Maurice Silbert, Philip's brother. All are free on $2,500 bond.

2 Dead in Ellenville

ing communities responded to calls and raced to Ellenville.

At least two persons were injured when they jumped from second floor windows of the burning hotel. Hospitalized included Diane Chung, an employee of the Inn, and Michael Pashman, who suffered smoke poisoning and bruises sustained in his jump to safety. They were taken to Ellenville Community Hospital.

Fire officials said the Ellenville blaze started in the basement of the building located in the heart of the community. Flames spread rapidly and within minutes the fire swept out of control.

Police moved through the village during the height of the blaze, which at times threatened to develop into a conflagration, and warned residents of houses on three blocks next to the hotel to evacuate their homes and get outside the fire line, because it was feared that sparks and flaming embers might set the houses on fire. One block next to the Wayside is vacant.

The fire, out of control for hours, was pronounced under control after daybreak, although still burning. A number of elderly men and women, permanent residents of the 50-year-old hotel, were provided care and shelter in houses outside the fire area.

Fire officials credited the work of firemen from Kingston and Ulster Hose and other communities, who battled the flames from atop the 60-foot aerial ladders, a factor in preventing the fire from spreading through the entire village area.

Other tenants in the Wayside hotel building included the law firms of Lonstein and Stapleton and Kooperman and Kooperman. Assistant District Attorney Albert Lonstein had offices in the first floor area. Carl's Beauty Salon, Tony's Restaurant, the Key Restaurant, and the accounting firm of Rieger and Greenberg were other first floor tenants.

The origin of the fire was under investigation. No monetary loss estimate was available.

The Wayside has been a popular resort hotel in the Ellenville area for many years.

The fatal Catskill fire was discovered at 8:38 p. m. Tuesday by Mary Gregory, a neighbor, who observed flames in the front room of the second floor apartment occupied by Mrs. McLane. The neighbor ran next door and notified Gary Kelly, a Catskill fireman who sounded the alarm.

State Trooper L. J. Addis of Leeds said Kelly ran to the apartment across the street and called off-duty Trooper Emanuel Sanchez, owner of the house and occupant of the first floor. Sanchez guided his five children to safety and then, with Kelly, groped his way upstairs.

The two men forced open a door leading to the McLane apartment, but the intense heat and dense smoke forced them back. Later, according to troopers, Kelly and another fireman, Stanley Adist, donned Scott air masks and made their way to the McLane apartment, where they found the elderly woman in bed.

She was rushed to Greene County Memorial Hospital where she was pronounced dead on arrival. The origin of the fire was not immediately learned.

Investigating the blaze and the death of the woman were Greene County Coroner Leland Cunningham, Senior BCI Investigator James Buckley, Zone Sergeant Hayward Rasmussen, uniformed troopers and Catskill village police.

Mrs. McLane was born in Watervliet April 30, 1893. She was retired from the New York Telephone Company with whom she was employed for 19 years. She retired nine years ago and resided in Catskill since 1954. She was the widow of George E. McLane and Thomas Clappett. Surviving are a son, John E. Clappett of Catskill and a stepdaughter, Mrs. Albert Klein of Walla Walla, Washington. Funeral services will be held Friday morning at 9 a. m. from the Traver and McCurry Funeral Home, Catskill and at 9:30 a. m. a requiem high Mass will be celebrated in St. Patrick's Church. Friends may call at the funeral home Thursday from 2 to 4 and after 7. Burial will be in Wiltwyck Cemetery, Kingston.

Flah's to Open Kingston Plaza Shop Next Year

Kingston Plaza, Inc., announced today that Flah's of Albany, a fashion ladies wear store, has signed a lease for 12,000 square feet of space in the Kingston Plaza Shopping Center. Flah's store will be built in the middle of the area between Sears, Roebuck & Co. and Grand Union Co. and will be flanked on both sides by eight other stores.

Total space will be 26,000 feet. The other stores include a jewelry store, cap shop, another ladies wear, bakery, beauty parlor, and a restaurant.

Flah's presently has its main store on Pearl Street in Albany with branch stores in Hudson Plaza in Poughkeepsie; Stuyvesant Plaza in Albany, and the Sears' Macy's Colonial Center.

The Kingston store will be patterned after the Colonial one with wall to wall carpeting, and recessed light fixtures among other improvements. Flah's plans call for an Aug. 1, 1968 or earlier opening, but the other stores will probably open in the late spring.

Construction is expected to start shortly pending completion of fixture plans. An important aspect of the new stores will be a canopied sidewalk which will connect Sears with the rest of the center and provide sheltered walking from Sears to Britts regardless of the weather.

Find No Bomb At Onteora

Approximately 1,100 students at Onteora High School enjoyed an unscheduled entertainment more than two hours today on the school athletic field.

Watson Goodrich of the school system, said an anonymous telephone call was received at about 8 a. m. warning that a "bomb had been planted" in the school and it would explode at 11 a. m.

State Police and the sheriff's office were immediately notified and about a dozen officers sped to the school. Meanwhile, school officials evacuated the building while a search was made. No bomb was found.

Goodrich said the 1,100 pupils were immediately escorted to buses and driven to the athletic field. While the search was on musical instruments were loaded on a truck and a band entertained the students with an unscheduled program.

According to Goodrich the all clear was sounded shortly after 11 a. m. Students were returned to the school and classes were resumed.

Senior BCI Investigator Edward Shannon and other BCI officers and deputy sheriffs continued the investigation.

Napanoch Man's Death Probed

Ellenville State Police on Tuesday investigated the death of Kenneth Slater, 56, of National Street, Napanoch, whose body was found in the carbon-monoxide filled cab of his truck off Old Farm Road near Napanoch.

Sergeant Henry S. Rhodes said Slater's wife had notified troopers early yesterday afternoon that her husband had been missing for about a week. At 4 p. m. State Police were notified that Slater's truck had been found.

Authorities reported a piece of plastic hose was found connected to the exhaust pipe of the truck, and extended inside the cab. The gasoline tank was empty and the switch was on.

Ulster County Coroner Arthur C. Chipp of Kerhonkson was notified. Troopers said an official verdict was pending.

Dead Taxpayer?

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Letters to the tax collector produce smiles as well as problems.

George Lehr, Jackson County collector, recently received a letter which said:

"As I have notified your office before, I have been deceased since November 1965. Please remove my name from the tax rolls."

Secretary McNamara: Center of the Quiet Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — A quiet debate goes on in the nation's capital these days: Is Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's stature within the administration slipping?

Opinions range from assertions that McNamara is stronger than ever in one of the world's most powerful jobs, to claims that he is losing influence.

A body of opinion — largely outside the Pentagon — points to widened bombing of North Vietnam as evidence McNamara is yielding ground to more hawkish elements advising President Johnson.

Pentagon insiders consider this thesis wrong, but quite readily state that McNamara would like to leave the secretaryship and move on to a new field, perhaps heading up a university or foundation.

"He would beat the hell out of McNamara, in turn, feels a sense of responsibility for through the 1968 presidential election. After that, regardless of the outcome, he may well step down.

Most officials feel that, unless the conflict should end tomorrow, McNamara will remain fast at his station at least in one of the most stormy assignments government offers.

Throughout much of that tenure he will have served as a valuable lightning rod for political heat brought on the administration by the controversial war.

The McNamara's falling-down chorus has been sounded in Congress and by some columnists. As one wrote recently: "Speak well of the dead. So far McNamara is the Orient just as soon as I finished ... whipped out of the Pentagon. He didn't say when that might be."

Differ on Harmful Effects

Marijuana Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top federal officials are widely divided in their views on marijuana. But they're concerned and trying to learn more about it.

The division was underscored following the statement last week by Food and Drug Commission Dr. James L. Goddard that he believes marijuana is less dangerous than alcohol.

Goddard recommended relaxing severe laws against marijuana to eliminate penalties against possession. He said penalties should be retained for distribution or sale.

Not Enough Data

Taking a sharply different position, U. S. Narcotics Commissioner Henry L. Giordano testified before Congress earlier this year that marijuana "is not, as some people say, less (dangerous) than alcohol or less than smoking tobacco. Some way we have got to get this across to the public."

And Dr. Philip R. Lee, assistant secretary for scientific affairs for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, told The Associated Press, "We just don't have enough information" to know the dangers of marijuana.

But federal officials agree the growing use of marijuana is of serious concern.

To fill the gap in scientific data on the drug, the government has put high priority on new research by the National Institute of Mental Health. The Institute's new Center for Studies of Narcotic and Drug Abuse hopes to have solid evidence in about two years.

Acting center director Dr. Roger Meyer acknowledged in an interview that the center is under heavy pressure—both public and governmental—to get the answer fast. And he said the question policymakers want to answer is whether marijuana should be legalized.

For now, says Lee, the administration's policy is that there should be no change in the law, which equates marijuana with the extremely dangerous opiate heroin and with other strong narcotics.

The Federal Narcotics Act provides for a mandatory prison term of 2 to 10 years for first offenses on possession of marijuana, though discretionary sentences are allowed for offenders up to age 26.

In Colorado, the death penalty is provided for second convictions involving persons under 25 with narcotics—including marijuana.

Not Easily Cited

What are the dangers of marijuana?

Federal officials agreed in a series of interviews that it's easier to say what the dangers are not.

The President's Crime Commission said earlier this year marijuana isn't habit forming physically, although users may become psychologically dependent on it; the user doesn't feel the need to increase the dosage as do opiate users; there is no conclusive evidence marijuana users graduate to more powerful drugs or that it causes crime; there are no obvious lasting physical effects and have been no known deaths.

But the commission found it to be by no means harmless, saying "it can cause anxiety, confusion or disorientation... (and) induce temporary psychotic episodes in predisposed people."

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market resumed its decline in active trading early Wednesday.

Losses outnumbered gains by a 2-to-1 ratio.

The Dow Industrials were off 3 or 4 points.

The market was lower from the start in a continuation of Tuesday's slide.

State Awards Bond Issue of $87 Million

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The state has awarded an $87-million bond issue to the Chase Manhattan Bank at an interest rate of 3.9858, per cent, which is described as "gratifying" by State Comptroller Arthur Levitt.

The award was announced Tuesday and Levitt said the interest rate was "gratifying in view of the pressure that exists on the current money market."

A total of $75 million of the issue is earmarked for highway construction and $12 million is destined for grade-crossing elimination projects.

The total interest cost over the 20-year life of the bonds will be $36,411,683, Levitt said.

The First National City Bank offered an interest rate of 4.019 per cent for the bonds, Levitt said. It was the only other bidder.

Last week, New York City agreed to pay 4.912 per cent interest on $119 million in municipal bonds, the highest charge for city bonds in 35 years.

Guaranteed Income In Ford Pact Noted

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The guaranteed annual income plan now being considered by Ford Motor Co. workers is far different from the much-publicized guaranteed income that is often suggested as an antidote to poverty.

The Ford plan would provide laid-off workers a bit less than 95 per cent of their take-home pay for a limited period, with the funds coming from company contributions and from the worker's state unemployment compensation.

Less Discernible

Whether this is true is still debatable, but the wide swings from boom to bust are now far less discernible than they were earlier in this century.

With such relative stability, industry also has less fear of the future. Its business projections are rather accurate. Since the future is not the gamble it once was, it can commit itself to a plan such as a guaranteed wage.

Nevertheless, a guaranteed income may produce adverse repercussions for the less affluent corporations, specifically for the financially troubled American Motors, which may find a guarantee difficult to uphold.

The guaranteed income plans related to poverty demand considerable government initiative.

Federally Funded

The guaranteed annual wage that has often been proposed as part of the war on poverty would provide federal government funds to a family whether the breadwinner has ever held a job or has a skill.

There is very little precedent for guaranteeing money specifically to nonworkers. These plans aren't designed so much for security as to avoid abject poverty and its consequences.

However, the plans have more in common than their names. Both have as their basic motivation the desire to free human beings from the ups and downs of the economic cycle, to enhance dignity, to promote purchasing power.

Both also depend on much more planning than was attempted, or even possible, just a couple of decades ago. During these decades the concept of the controllable economic cycle has gained wide acceptance.

This concept, sometimes called the New Economics, asserts that a low level of unemployment, a high level of productivity and relative price stability are attainable through delicate fiscal and monetary policy.

Whether this is true is still debatable, but the wide swings from boom to bust are now far less discernible than they were earlier in this century. With such relative stability, industry also has less fear of the future. Its business projections are rather accurate. Since the future is not the gamble it once was, it can commit itself to a plan such as a guaranteed wage.

Nevertheless, a guaranteed income may produce adverse repercussions for the less affluent corporations, specifically for the financially troubled American Motors, which may find a guarantee difficult to uphold.

The guaranteed income plans related to poverty demand considerable government initiative.

even interference into the old "hands off" concept that tied man's lot to production. No production, no wages.

However, the rapid advance of technology has made obsolete a lot of the minimal skills and has left some individuals without the chance of earning a living wage. As more human skills become obsolete these numbers may swell.

The growing relief rolls, in part, are the result of technological advance, although certainly other factors are involved. Partly as a result, some of the guaranteed income plans are proposed as replacements for welfare.

Price Determined by Earnings and Growth

Q—What is happening to Burroughs Corp. common? According to their annual report, the stockholders' equity on Dec. 31, 1966, was $26.45 a share and the stocks sell above 170. We hold Burroughs bought at 32. Our problem is: should we sell this issue and buy stocks paying 5 per cent on their market price, such as Pacific Power and Light? We are both in our 80s and would welcome more income. G. H.

A—Please let me congratulate your wife and you on reaching such a fine age together. The stockholders' equity or book value, of Burroughs or any other stock has little influence on the price of the shares. This is determined by earning power and the rate of growth which investors project in the years ahead. Burroughs makes computers, an area heavily favored by today's investors. Earnings have been growing rapidly and should reach $4.50 a share in 1967. On this estimate the stock sells at 38 times its earnings which is not excessive for the computer group. The yield is negligible at current levels and, while I think the shares will continue to work higher, I believe a switch such as you mention is advisable in your particular situation.

Q—I am interested in providing for my 25-year-old son who will need financial help after we're gone. How should I go about this? Should I buy securities for him or perhaps annuities? T. F.

A—I assume from the tone of your letter that your son is in some degree handicapped. I understand and sympathize with your problem, but I don't believe it can be solved by laying down here a program if investment. Neither do annuities appear to be the answer. I advise you to see a lawyer and talk with him about establishing whatever form of trust is most suitable to your circumstances and your son's future needs.

To Aid Homeless Animals

Appointment of Mrs. Benjamin A. Morgan, P. O. Box 402, Port Ewen, as local representative to spur its campaign to reduce the number of homeless dogs and cats in this area was announced today by Friends of Animals, Inc., New York City.

Friends of Animals is a non-profit voluntary organization whose objective is to reduce the number of unwanted animals by having pet owners spay their female dogs and cats.

"Of the 33 million puppies and kittens born yearly in the United States, permanent homes exist for only eight million," says Miss Alice Herrington, president of the organization. "The national total of abandoned cats and dogs which die in suffering every year is close to 25 million."

Friends of Animals offers financial help to owners who cannot afford to have their dogs and cats spayed. Application should be directed to Mrs. Morgan.

Build Chain Fence On Korean DMZ Line

ALONG THE WESTERN FRONT, Korea (AP) — U.S. forces guarding an 18½-mile section of Korea's demilitarized zone are building a chain link fence across the front to cut down on North Korean sneak attacks that have killed at least 20 Americans and wounded 60 others in the last 12 months.

South Korean Army authorities said construction of a similar barrier is expected to be completed before next spring in the part of the 151-mile border the Koreans guard.

The barrier going up in the U.S. patrol area is topped with barbed wire and appears similar in some respects to the one secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara ordered built just below the demilitarized zone in South Vietnam to slow North Vietnamese infiltration.

Both fences are basically an early warning system. The Korean fence, although reinforced by watch towers with electronic equipment, does not have the electronic and antipersonnel devices planned for the Vietnamese barrier.

"The fence itself is not the barrier," said Lt. Col. George A. Meighan, a battalion commander of the 2nd "Indian Head" Division at the Korean front. The big factor in determining its success, he said, would be the soldiers watching the fence.

Sections completed since construction began in June stand 10 feet high and are topped with rolls of barbed wire. They run relatively straight through mountainous terrain 50 to 200 yards below the southern edge of the 2½-mile-wide buffer zone.

Towers with electronic equipment, searchlights and numerous positions for sentinels are dotted along it.

About 80 to 150 yards of land have been cleared on either side of the fence. Meighan said this would help his men observe movement of any infiltrators.

At night searchlights flash on and other electronic detection equipment comes into play.

Photo Renews Father's Hope That Son Alive

COKATO, Minn. (AP) — A photograph from North Vietnam has renewed a father's hope that his son is alive in a prisoner of war camp although the Pentagon has listed him as dead for several months.

Hanoi's Vietnam News Agency released a picture Monday, showing the man with a group of Asians. In Tokyo, VNA identified him only as "U.S. Capt. Schumann" and said he was commander of a unit captured by Communist forces.

The Pentagon said it had no such name on its missing list. After a copy of the Communist photograph was supplied to defense officials, officers said the American apparently was Capt. John R. Schumann.

He was originally listed as missing, but the Defense Department said last March he died in a Communist prison camp in South Vietnam.

The soldier's father, John P. Schumann, was shown a copy of the Communist photograph at his home Tuesday and said, "It looks a lot like him."

The elder Schumann whose wife died of a stroke a few weeks ago, found his hopes bolstered that his son was still alive.

Canisteo Fire
CANISTEO, N.Y. (AP) — Fire caused extensive damage early today to two business places in this community five miles south of Hornell.

Several other establishments were damaged by smoke and water.

Firemen said the fire started at the rear of an appliance store. The flames spread to an adjoining wallpaper and paint store.

The cause of the fire was not determined.

The loss was not estimated, although firemen said the damage was extensive.

Almost one-fourth of the land area of the United States is owned by the government.

THE BECHTOLD GIRLS

First Political Activity For Young Ladies of City

Commencing this week and continuing until Election Day, the doorbells in each Ward of the city are going to be rung by a group of attractive young ladies. These will be the Bechtold Girls making their calls in support of the Bechtold-Smith Campaign. C. John Bechtold and Louis J. Smith are the Republican candidates for mayor and alderman-at-large.

Each of these young ladies will wear a large attractive badge which reads in bold print "I'm a Bechtold Girl." They will call at every home and distribute material which will be composed of messages from Bechtold and Smith explaining their campaign platforms; information concerning the County Legislators to be elected this year for the first time; a sample ballot to assist in voting on Election Day, along with various additional informational material.

The Bechtold Girls, who are recruited from every ward of the city are engaging in their very first political activity. They will be under the direct supervision of Mrs. William Krum, Mrs. Bernhard Kramer, Mrs. Thomas Ingarra and Mrs. Stephen Burns.

In addition to their ward activities during the remainder of the campaign, the Bechtold Girls will staff Republican Campaign Headquarters at 296 Wall Street on Election Day. Here they will perform such necessary and important services as telephone girls; baby sitters for voters while at the polls; distribute literature and Ballot assistance to anyone stopping in. Election night they will serve as tellers of election

N.Y. Times, Guild Reach Pact With Union

NEW YORK (APK) — Negotiators for The New York Times and the Newspaper Guild of New York have reached tentative agreement on a new three-year contract that raises wages and fringe benefits about 21 percent over the contract term.

Announcement of the agreement — subject to a ratification vote by 2,500 Guild members — was made Monday by Theodore W. Kheel, who has served as mediator in a number of newspaper contract negotiations here this year.

The Guild, a unit of the AFL-CIO American Newspaper Guild, represents mostly editorial, business office and maintenance employees.

Kheel said that Times and Guild negotiators agreed that details of the contract would not be made public before the membership ratification meeting. No date for the meeting has been set.

Present Guild top minimum at the Times range up to $200 a week for reporters, among others. The top minimum for editors, columnists and some other categories is $215. Many employees in Guild jurisdiction are paid more than the top minimum.

Kheel said Monday, "I think this is the beginning of a new era in the newspaper industry in New York City. I feel confident it will grow — certainly in circulation and possibly in the number of newspapers."

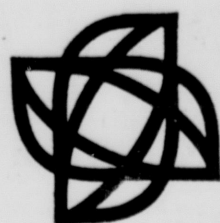

Nineteen members of Girl Scout Codette Troop 66, their leaders and committee, sponsored by the Women's Guild for Christian Service of the Plattekill Reformed Church recently visited New York City. Their activities included a morning tour of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the musical show Hello Dolly and ended with a subway ride and dinner at a Chinatown Restaurant. This social event, planned by the scouts as a kick-off for the new scouting year September thru June was also instrumental in covering many requirements for current badges, including player producer, painting and inter-

Health for All

Last spring, for the 30th consecutive year, many eager young school journalists were gladened and encouraged by the bestowal of national recognition on their work.

The recognition came in the form of proficiency awards made by a nonprofit enterprise called the School Press Project, which seeks to promote higher standards of school journalism in certain areas of public health. The project jointly conducted by the Columbia School Press Association and the National Tuberculosis Association with the approval of the National Association of Secondary School Principals, awards certificates of merit to outstanding examples of journalistic activity on the subjects of tuberculosis, other respiratory diseases, and health careers in general.

This incentive to produce work superior in quality and useful as public service calls forth each year a remarkable response from hundreds of dedicated young school press editors, reporters, feature writers, and artists. Aided and encouraged by health experts in the assigned fields of interest, the youngsters often come up with ingenious ideas for stories and features. Their technique in putting them into practice ranges from slightly picturesque to highly professional in calibre.

Health is everybody's business and so is education. A school newspaper or magazine is designed to benefit both the youthful staff that produces it and the student body that reads it. It can do that job better by taking one of its most important news subjects — health — out of the narrow sphere of the school building and relating it to the life of the whole community. That's what the School Press project helps schools accomplish. It's open to elementary, junior and senior high schools. The local TB association has all the details.

Three Injured

Three persons were injured at 10:15 a. m. today when the car in which they were riding was in collision with the rear of a county highway department truck on Sawkill Road. The injured were taken to Kingston Hospital by Doctors Ambulance, and the sheriff's department investigated. An ambulance attendant said the injured were Mrs. Dorothy Stokes, 35, of 23 Furnace Street, who sustained injuries of the chest, legs and head; Mrs. Marion Glass, of 12 Center Street, who was treated for injuries of the head and legs, and Patrick Glass 4½, who received head injuries. No further details were available.

Gets Two Deer

LUSK, Wyo. (AP) — Rancher Paul Percival recently bagged two deer—without firing a shot. Percival said he got his first deer with his pickup truck—at a cost of $700 damages to the vehicle. He phoned his wife to get the deer in their car. En route back to the ranch, Percival's car struck and killed another deer but the car escaped damage.

Kronick, Fred Strugatz and Stanley Davidson. Wedding anniversaries will be observed by Mr. and Mrs. Max Eckdich, Mr. and Mrs. Hyman Rosenberg, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Samuels, Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Fischweicher, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Nussbaum, Mr. and Mrs. George Muller, Mr. and Mrs. Abe Camhi, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kirschner, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Scher, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Rosenbaum and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Kronick.

The Friday evening services will be conducted by Rabbi Schechtman, who will deliver his sermon, entitled, What Is Man, as the creation of man is read in this week's portion of Genesis. The liturgy will be chanted by Cantor L. Larry Jacobs. The yahrtzeiten of the week will be memorialized and the names read.

During the religious services this Saturday morning the Bar Mitzvah of Steven, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Rafalowsky, will be celebrated. The first part of the service will be conducted by Herman G. Rafalowsky, grandfather of the Bar Mitzvah, and the second part, by the Bar Mitzvah boy himself. The Bar Mitzvah will also read from the Torah and the prophets, and will receive his religious lesson from Rabbi Schechtman at the ceremony. A luncheon, honoring the Bar Mitzvah, will be held after the services in the auditorium.

The Talmud of Kingston will resume its regular schedule of Hebrew and Religious classes on Sunday for primary grades, and on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday for the grades 1 through 4.

The Adult Education Courses at Ahavath Israel will begin the first week in November. On Sunday, Nov. 5, at 8 p. m., the Book Review Club will have its organization meeting in the library of the Synagogue Building. On Tuesday, Nov. 7, classes will be held at 8 p. m. in Hebrew Reading and Conversation, and at 9 p. m. in Jewish Ethics. These classes will be tutored by Rabbi Schechtman. On Thursdays, at 3:45, the U. S. Y. class in Hebrew Reading will continue under the tutelage of Mrs. Schechtman.

METZKO AS LECTURER — William Metzko, currently appearing as Ernest in The Importance of Being Earnest at the new Hudson Valley Repertory Theatre, was guest speaker in senior English classes at Ontario High School last week. An actor who has performed widely in Shakespeare, he discussed the master dramatist and delved into problems of rehearsal, performance and voice control. Metzko also read from Hamlet and told of experience during a two-year tour of the U. S. with a repertory group. In the "embarrassing moments" department, he told of the time — during a performance of Macbeth — when a heavy sword flew from his hands during a fight scene, striking a woman in the third row of the audience. Metzko proved popular with the OCS students, many of whom stayed after class to query him further.

Woodstock News

Jaycees Hold Candidates Night

The Woodstock Jaycees, in cooperation with the League of Women Voters, held its second annual candidates night last week at the Woodstock Elementary School.

Jaycee president, Paul DeLisio introduced the moderator, Dr. Harold Snyder, superintendent of the Ontario School District.

The candidates on hand to air their views were, for the newly created post of county legislator were: John Bonilla (D) and William West Jr. (R); for town supervisor, Milton Houst (R) and William Sheehan (D).

Constitutional Convention delegate H. Clark Bell, guest speaker for the evening, gave an excellent talk on the proposed New York State Constitution, particularly urging a "No" vote on the new document.

The candidates, while offering a generally mild debate, did touch on some issues that stimulated further questions from the audience. Bonilla, for example, urged definite action on a plan to bring more industry into Ulster County. West agreed that more industry is needed and countered by explaining that machinery for this purpose has already been set in motion by the current county board of supervisors.

Sheehan, fielding a question as to the "efficiency" of the Town Highway Department, said that much money could be saved by buying needed road materials and supplies from the New York State Central purchasing pool. Houst, in response to the same question, said he thought the highway department was already functioning efficiently and that the taxpayers "got their dollars worth."

Church Notes

"Everlasting Punishment" will be the subject of the sermon Sunday at 11 in the Christian Science Church, Woodstock.

The Well Child

In earlier centuries in Europe most babies were thought to be tongue-tied at birth and many midwives routinely severed the "bride" or chord under the tongue with their fingernails. Things took a turn for the better in 1776 when the court physician in Sweden announced that in all his years of practice he had never seen an infant that was truly tongue-tied. He had, however, seen several who had choked to death when, after the chord had been snipped, the unfortunate infant had swallowed his tongue.

True tongue-tie occurs in only about one in 3,000 infants. Many parents still ask their doctor to snip the chord of their child's tongue and blame their child's slowness to learn to talk on tongue-tie. In many cases, as the child uses his tongue for speaking, the supposed tongue-tie corrects itself automatically.

To test whether your baby is tongue-tied, all you need to do is to take a dry cotton tipped applicator and touch the junction of the skin and red mucous of his lower lip and the two corners of his mouth. He will try to lick it away and, if he succeeds in touching the cotton with his tongue, he is not tongue-tied.

An older child who is tongue-tied will have difficulty making the sounds "d," "n" and "t," the only sounds that require him to touch the roof of his mouth with his tongue. He may also have trouble learning to play a wind instrument. If true tongue-tie exists, it should be corrected but this does not insure proper pronunciation. A

Basic Weaving For Learners

Iona Plath (Alan), noted textile designer and authority on weaving crafts, will conduct a class in basic weaving this season. Sessions will be held Monday afternoon in the weaving room of her home, 55 Glasco Turnpike. Opening date was Oct. 23.

Although Mrs. Alan has other classes for advanced weavers, no knowledge of weaving is required for the beginners' classes. Students will work on small looms, learning to weave such items as place mats, purses, belts, table runners, wall hangings, tote bags and pillows.

Mrs. Alan's latest book, "Hand Weaving," is well known to home weavers everywhere. She writes under her maiden name of Iona Plath. Those interested in registering or further information should call Mrs. Alan at her home number in Woodstock.

Making Your Own

Christmas is just around the corner and more and more creative people are finding it fun to give handmade gifts to friends and relatives. Anyone can do just that by taking advantage of Joan Pond's class in enameling at Woodstock's Guild Shop. Here students learn to make attractive enamel jewelry and ash trays and most are surprised at their own imagination when given the chance to work in a new and fascinating medium, she maintains.

Classes are now being held in the Guild Shop every Monday from 1:30 to 5 p. m. Those interested should register with Mrs. Bert Wangler at the Tinker Street Shop.

Headquarters

The Democratic Party has opened its headquarters in Woodstock at 85 Mill Hill Road. The office will be open from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. each day, and the public is invited to stop in anytime during those hours for information, literature, or to make contributions. Transportation to the polls on Election Day will be arranged by the office.

Some Ford Workers Approve New Pact

DETROIT (AP) — Skilled tradesmen calling for rejection of the contract, if the contract is approved, workers in 25 Ford plants across the country would resume work schedules Thursday and Friday. Striking workers have been living on benefits ranging from $20 to $30 a week and Ford's new car sales have fallen drastically this month.

The dissident tradesmen led by Chris Manning, president of a Chevrolet local, purchased a half-hour's television time and attacked the contract, urging its rejection.

Unprecedented Appeal
Reuther appeared immediately before Manning in an unprecedented television appeal for ratification. He told some 80,000 Ford members in Michigan that "if you strike for three more months, it is our judgment there will be no substantial improvement in this contract."

State Grange To Reappraise Charter Course

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — Delegates attending the annual meeting of the State Grange began a "salvage" operation today on the proposed new state constitution.

Tuesday, the farm group approved a recommendation by its education committee that the new charter be voted down in the Nov. 7 election.

But, a spokesman for the Grange said, some proposals in proposed document would be studied today and Thursday to determine whether they could be recommended for action by the Legislature if the constitution is defeated.

About 800 delegates are attending the four-day session, which began Monday. It is the state Grange's 95th annual convention.

In other action Tuesday, Mrs. Calvin Riddlespraker of Lowville won the annual baking contest.

Earlier, Mrs. Eunice Jones of Malone and Mrs. Isabelle Harris of Glens Falls were chosen lecturer of the year and the centennial lecturers. Boosters' award went to Miss Henrietta Fuller of Lowville, and Miss Jane Cannon of Copake.

'Pete' Ruth Dies

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — Stanley "Pete" Ruth, whose goal as a circus clown for a half century was to make children laugh "as best I could," died Tuesday at Faxton Hospital here.

Ruth, 73, of nearby Sauquoit, performed in his battered high hat and over-sized shoes with several circuses, including Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey.

In recent years, he appeared at fairs and benefits, mostly in New York State. His last performance was Aug. 13 in Sidney.

He leaves a sister, Mrs. Lilian Grathwohl, also of Sauquoit.

Greene Man Hurt in Crash

A 34-year-old Greene County man was injured at 12:25 a. m. today when his car went out of control on the Cairo Junction Road, Town of Catskill and hit a tree after colliding with a mail box on the opposite side of the road.

State Trooper L. J. Addis of Leeds said the driver, Francis Varga, of Catskill, was taken to the Albany Medical Center Hospital suffering internal injuries, shock and lacerations of the face.

A report of Trooper A. J. Peterson noted that the car was traveling east when the operator failed to negotiate a left curve. The vehicle veered off the pavement, knocked down a mail box and then careened across the road and hit a tree.

Correction Group Endorses Schick

Citing the now-famous Hughes Report, which has Ulster County with the lowest felony indictment-felony conviction record in the State, the N. Y. State Correction Officers Committee on Political Education endorsed John J. Schick for Ulster County Court judge.

In a letter sent to Democratic-Conservative Schick at his Kingston home, Committee Chairman Warren L. Cairo wrote, "State Correction Officers are genuinely concerned about the rate of felony convictions in Ulster County."

"As law enforcement officers, we recognize the dangerous threat to lives and property when grand jury indictments are dismissed and known criminals are released."

The Correction Officers spokesman further declared, "In our opinion, the failure to convict in many cases is the fault of the district attorney, county judge, or a combination of both."

Cairo pointed to a 1966 case involving a correction officer who was "maliciously attacked by an inmate" at the Catskill Reformatory in Napanoch.

"The attack was without production. The correction officer was so brutally beaten, he had to be hospitalized. Most of his teeth were knocked out, and his face will be disfigured for life. There is absolutely no doubt he could have lost his life.

"The correction officer preferred charges, the inmate was charged with second degree assault which was reduced to third degree assault and the sentence therefore minimized."

The Correction Officers Political Education chairman stated that "The inherent dangers that result from such leniency we have to live with every day. We know the danger and can adjust to it, but the public must be protected."

"From the record of convictions in Ulster County, it appears we are not being afforded this protection as guaranteed by law," the letter declared.

In the organization's endorsement of Schick, Cairo said, "We know your position. We know that you will mete out justice firmly and fairly."

"As state chairman of the Committee on Political Education for New York State Correction Officers, we overwhelmingly endorse your candidacy for the office of county judge."

CLINTONDALE NEWS

CLINTONDALE — Clinton-dale, Modena and Plattekill Methodist Churches held a joint service Sunday morning at the Modena church.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Smith celebrated their 56th wedding anniversary. They were honored at an open house Sunday at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Smith. Mrs. Grace Bernard of Modena and Albert Torwilliger of Connecticut, who attended the couple were present. Other guests were from Clintondale, Highland, Monticello, Newburgh, Poughkeepsie and New Paltz. Refreshments featuring a large wedding cake were served. Mr. Smith is a retired employee of the highway department. The Smiths have two sons, Donald and Vernon.

The new staff for the Friends Church School is adult class, Jesse Stanfield; senior high, the Rev. Gerald Sutch; junior high, Mrs. Betty Hurd; juniors, Mrs. Janet Elting; primary, Mrs. Sylvia Rorschach; and kindergarten, Mrs. Mary Mount.

The penny social held Saturday night by Clintondale Grange at the hall on Mill Street was well attended.

Treasury Will Melt Silver Coins to Meet Shortage

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Treasury Department expects to begin melting silver coins after Christmas to help accumulate enough silver for domestic use into the 1970s.

Robert A. Wallace, assistant secretary of the treasury, said the department expects to have between 350 million to 425 million ounces of silver in bars and coins by next June 24—enough to supply industry for three to four years.

June 24 is the deadline for Americans to turn in their silver certificates—one type of paper money issued between 1929 and the early 1960s—for silver.

The price of silver rose to a record $1.89 an ounce Monday in New York, 10 days after the government announced it is saving its purest silver for the strategic stockpile.

But Wallace said there's plenty of silver to go around.

Earlier this year, the government quietly began withdrawing from circulation some of the old dimes and quarters containing 90 per cent silver. It now makes copper-nickel coins.

The withdrawal was described as a precaution to provide a backlog of coins for the Christmas rush and to make sure the Treasury had enough silver to redeem certificates and feed the strategic stockpile.

What began as an informal practice, Wallace said, became a fixed rule in late July and now all the old dimes and quarters are being withdrawn from circulation when they return in the normal course of business to the 36 federal reserve banks and branches.

He said the coins retrieved through last Friday contain 150 million ounces of silver. Another 100 million to 175 million ounces is expected to be pulled from circulation through June 24.

In all probability, he said, the department will begin melting

the old coins into bars after December.

The Treasury is not bound by the ban on melting of coins imposed May 18 when it also barred export of silver coins and limited sales of silver bars to domestic users.

The department has no plans to lift the melting ban or to recall all silver coins.

It's estimated that the 8½ million dimes and quarters considered in circulation contain about 700 million ounces of silver.

ACS Believes Picture Worth Million—Words

One picture worth a thousand words? The American Cancer Society believes that one picture—a motion picture—may be worth a million words.

The American Cancer Society has been using words for years—printed and spoken—to educate the public about cancer; that it is curable, but that cure almost invariably depends on early detection, diagnosis and treatment. Those are only a few words, but they're just about the whole story, except that in the case of lung and skin cancers, prevention is possible too.

However, words alone have not had the desired effect in persuading Americans—particularly the lower educated and lesser privileged to do what is

Asks Evaluations

HINGHAM, Mass. (AP) — A Jesuit psychologist has urged Roman Catholic bishops and heads of male religious orders to provide psychiatric evaluations for priesthood candidates.

The biggest problem in running a seminary is the "number of people who come in for false reasons," the Rev. John McCall of Boston College told a meeting for bishops and superiors at Glastonbury Monastery.

Father McCall said the mental health of priests could be improved by group therapy, ready access to psychiatric advice, honesty in assessing their motives, and more candor in dialogues between seminarians and their teachers.

Plans for the Future

Hucktrol Projects Under Study

By WALTER S. CLARK Jr.

Steady growth in business and a decided increase in personnel since it acquired the local facility at 85 Grand Street, on Oct. 25, 1965, has been experienced by Hucktrol, Inc., under the guidance of the parent firm, Huck Manufacturing Co., of Detroit, Mich.

Company officials are working diligently on plans for the future, recognizing the fact there is much to be done. They are working to implement a plant training program with the Board of Cooperative Educational Services (BOCES) to provide skilled workers to fill the needs of the area.

No Layoffs

Other projects are under study by Hucktrol officials that will be of value and interest to Kingston and other communities in Ulster County.

Sale of the Kingston facility which comprises more than 100,000 square feet of manufacturing space under one roof on a 5-acre site, was finalized and approved on Oct. 25, 1965.

Charles W. Hansen, vice president and general manager of Hucktrol noted on the second anniversary of the company's operation in this city, that during the two years in Kingston no one has been laid off for lack of work. He said there has been a steady increase in personnel at the plant, which presently is operating on two shifts.

Two years ago when Hucktrol took over the Grand Street facility, only two employees were on the active payroll. Today, Hansen said, the company employs 228 and is gradually approaching the original goal of 250 estimated in 1965. Hansen explained that of the 228 employees, only a dozen were non-residents of Ulster County. The others were residents of this area.

Payroll Tops Million

The present payroll is "well over $1-million," according to Hansen.

Soon after taking over the Grand Street property, Hucktrol had the sprawling one-story building completely painted and improved and new machinery and other equipment was installed to augment that used by the former owners.

Hucktrol, which produces 96 varieties of installation tools for the Huck fastener system, is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Huck Manufacturing Co., which operates in the United States, Canada and overseas. The 27-year-old company is a prime supplier of fastening devices to aircraft, aerospace, railroads, U. S. Navy and private shipbuilders, bus and trailers, military electronics, farm equipment and building construction.

Hucktrol continues in the business of supplying the products and services of the former Kingston firm and in addition it has become the prime source for installation tools and accessories to the parent company.

For more than 20 years, Huck Manufacturing Co. has been part of the world of metal fasteners. The company was founded by Louis Huck, a remarkable inventive man, whose personal contribution to the "state of the fastener art" and to many industries which today still rely on the fasteners he invented, are matters of great personal pride to the company.

Huck representatives are located throughout the world to help customers analyze and evaluate fastening needs. The representative, a trained specialist, will arrange actual demonstrations of the Huck system at plant or field locations. Huck can provide operator training at either a potential customer's plant or at formal training courses regularly scheduled at the main plant in Detroit.

This training service is unique in the industry and the course itself covers all phases of fastener technology and use along with installation tool operation and maintenance.

CSEA Takes Issue With Supervisors on Salary Plan

Ulster County Civil Service Association Chapter, at a meeting Monday night, at the American Legion Hall in Kingston took issue with recent action by the Ulster County Board of Supervisors, whereby the board passed by resolution to adopt Part I of a salary and classification study completed by Hanawalt Associates.

The Civil Service Employees Association group charged the board with failure to consult with the local chapter in a matter which affects the county employees groups in terms of salaries and classification. Although, the board's action suggests a pay rise for 700 employees excluding highway employees whose jobs will be continued under study, the Civil Service Employees Association claimed that "Failure to consult with the County Civil Service Employees Association prior to any legislative action constitutes another unilateral decision by the Board of Supervisors in terms and conditions of employment for its employees."

Harold DeGraff, Ulster County Chapter president, indicated that "The board had advised the chapter that they would be unable to meet with the Civil Service Employees Association until such time as it decided what course of action the board would take on this question of County Pay Schedules."

DeGraff suggested that this type of action, clearly does not indicate the necessary good will and good faith on the part of the county as the employer needed under the terms of the newly enacted Taylor Bill.

The Taylor Bill, passed last year, repeals the Condon-Wadlin Law and gives public service employees the right to bargain with their employer.

Edward J. Gusty, area field representative for the state-wide Civil Service Employees Association, was highly critical of the board's action. He asserted that the board by passing Plan I of the study without any opportunity for county employees to review the plan was an insult to the integrity of all county employees.

Gusty commented that, "In an area where the livelihood of the employee is at stake and in time when the general public is demanding more and more of its public servants in terms of services and in view of the fact that the State Legislature has made the attempt to initiate collective bargaining in the public service this action by the board of supervisors seems to be discriminatory to the Ulster County employees."

The local chapter is again attempting to meet with the board to discuss this situation. A chapter spokesman indicated that the county employees as a result of its well attended meeting were initiating a membership drive calling on all county employees to join the Civil Service Employees Association in a new county employees unit of the Ulster County Chapter. Currently the chapter comprises members in the City of Kingston, the school district and the county. The new county unit will be made exclusively of county employees.

Planning for Showdown On Civil Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House is arranging to fly a senator here from England for a cliff-hanging showdown in the Senate Judiciary Committee on a civil rights bill.

Opposing sides said the vote set for today could go either way, depending on absentees, in the battle over legislation to provide federal protection against interfering with violence or threats with the exercise of civil rights.

The administration and civil rights forces are backing a bill passed by the House in August. A rival measure sponsored by Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., was approved by a Judiciary subcommittee 5 to 1. The full committee has 16 members.

Nose-counting by administration strategists indicated they would fall one vote short of defeating Ervin's substitute because of the expected absence of Sens. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., and Hugh Scott, R-Pa., both consistent supporters of civil rights measures.

Dodd is in a Rhode Island hospital reportedly suffering from nervous exhaustion.

Scott has been in England lecturing at Oxford University. Early Tuesday he received a call from the White House and was advised a military plane would fly him here in time to vote at the Judiciary Committee meeting.

A spokesman for Ervin, after learning that Scott was being rushed back to Washington, said only that the vote will be "awfully close."

The House-passed bill is part of an omnibus civil rights measure submitted to Congress by President Johnson in mid-February.

It provides stiff criminal penalties for injuring or intimidating a person because he is exercising federally guaranteed rights and because of his race, color, religion, national origin or political affiliation.

Ervin's substitute provides for the same penalties but no showing of racial, religious or other discrimination would be required. Under his bill, federal protection would extend to all citizens.

Cooper-Saxe Case Continues On Negligence

Continued in Supreme Court before Justice Louis G. Bruhn and a jury is a negligence action brought by Timothy Cooper and another against Virginia Lee Saxe. The action arises from an accident on Route 52 in the Town of Wawarsing some six miles out of Ellenville on November 14, 1964.

The car, traveling east from Ellenville, was proceeding downgrade and failed to make a turn, running off the road some 169 feet and striking a tree. James Saxe died in the accident.

Louis B. Scheiman appears for plaintiffs and Gerald Orsek for defendant.

Bees have compound eyes, each made up of many complete eyes, so that a single bee actually has about 12,000 eyes.

Beauty College Slayer Directed To Stand Trial

PHOENIX, ARIZ. (AP) — Robert Benjamin Smith was sane when he killed four women and a child at a Mesa beauty college and should die in the gas chamber, a Superior Court jury decided Tuesday night.

After deliberating an hour and 49 minutes, the seven-woman, five-man jury found Smith, 39, guilty of five counts of first degree murder and two counts of assault with intent to commit murder against the two survivors of the November 12 shooting spree.

The slender, dark-haired defendant sat quietly as the verdict was read to a hushed courtroom where his parents sat with about a dozen spectators. Only after they were out of the courtroom did Mrs. Robert L. Smith bury her head in her husband's arms and cry softly.

Presiding Judge Laurance T. Wren said he would set a sentencing date within the next two weeks. The defense had maintained throughout the trial that Smith was mentally ill at the time of the shootings. It never denied he was the killer.

Defense attorney Rod Wood said later that "the notes undermined our case. They showed a certain coyness on the part of Smith."

He referred to the state's introduction of notes written by Smith to a former jailmate which said, "My attorney is trying to make everyone on the outside think I'm insane."

A key witness was Mrs. Bonita Sue Harris Canteloupe, the only adult survivor, who testified she played dead after Smith shot her in the head and arm. She pointed to Smith as the killer during the first day of testimony.

Three other beauty school students—Mrs. Carol Farmer, 19, Mary Olsen, 18, and Glenda Carter, 18—were slain along with a customer, Mrs. Joyce Sellers, 27, and her daughter, Dedra, 3.

Returns to Base

NORMAN C. BOHAN

Captain Norman C. Bohan, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bohan of River Road, Ulster Park, has returned to base after six months duty in the Mediterranean.

Captain Bohan, who resides in Newport, R. I., with his wife, the former M. Frances Stout of Kingston, and their six children, captained the USS Nantahala, a refueling ship.

A member of Service Squadron Two, the Nantahala's primary task is fueling the Navy's vessels at sea. In the 172 days that she was a sea, the 234 men and 14 officers have fueled 260 ships, pumped over 25 million gallons of petrol and transferred over 17 tons of drummed lubricants.

Capt. Bohan is a graduate of Kingston High School and the United States Naval Academy. He is a charter member of the American Legion Post Number 1298, Port Jervis.

Dewitt Studies

Data Systems Technician Third Class Charles D. DeWitt, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles V. DeWitt of Tiltons is attending the 38-week Data Systems course at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

During the course he will learn how to maintain electronic data equipment, test and repair computers, video processors and tape units.

Sgt. Decorated

Staff Sergeant Robert F. Sylvester, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Sylvester of RD 1, Bingham Road, Marlboro, has received the U. S. Air Force Commendation Medal at Ent AFB, Colo.

Sergeant Sylvester was decorated for meritorious service as a personnel technician at Bolling AFB, Washington, D. C. He was cited for his outstanding professional skill, knowledge and leadership.

He is now at Ent with the Air Defense Command which provides aerospace defense against hostile aircraft and missiles.

The sergeant is a graduate of Newburgh (N.Y.) Free Academy.

AF Lieutenant

PETER F. LORDI JR.

24, whose parents, Dr. and Mrs. Peter F. Lordi, live at 53 Main Street, Highland, was commissioned an Army second lieutenant upon graduation from the Officer Candidate School at the Army Artillery and Missile Center, Fort Sill, Okla., Sept. 19. Gunnery was the primary subject taught during the 23-week course, designed to prepare men for officer duties in artillery units. He was also trained in artillery survey and transport, communications, map and aerial-photo reading, electronics, counterinsurgency and leadership. Lt. Lordi received a BA degree in 1965 from Marist College, Poughkeepsie.

Passer Gets Award

Army Specialist Four Richard H. Passer, 20, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Komasa Jr., live in Route 3, Saugerties, received the Air Medal Sept. 25 in Vietnam.

Spec. Passer earned the award for combat aerial support of ground operations in Vietnam. A helicopter crew chief in Battery A, 2nd Battalion of the division's 20th Artillery, Spec. Passer entered on active duty April 1966 and was stationed in Germany prior to his arrival in Vietnam last July.

Army Commission

Three Marines

Marine Privates Stephen F. Betley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Betley of Murphy Street, Stewart J. Doherty, son of Mrs. Mary J. Doherty of Route 3, and John A. Viano, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fortunato J. Viano of Route 5, all of Kingston were graduated from eight weeks of recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot here.

They will now undergo from two to four weeks of individual combat training and then, after leave at home, will report to their first Marine Corps assignment.

The intensified Marine recruit training emphasizes rigid physical conditioning and survival techniques, both at sea and ashore, to develop self-confidence and endurance. Marksmanship with the M-14 rifle and 45-caliber pistol are equally stressed, and close order drill instills the tradition of Marine Corps teamwork.

Completes Basic

MICHAEL A. PRISCO

Michael A. Prisco, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael A. Prisco of 268 Washington Avenue, Kingston, has completed basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex. He is now assigned as an administrative specialist with a unit of the Tactical Air Command at MacDill AFB, Fla. Airman Prisco is a graduate of McArthur High School, Hollywood, Fla.

Ends Duty Tour

THOMAS M. TORKELSEN

electricians mate second class, was released from active duty after serving four years in the United States Coast Guard. While in the Coast Guard he served in the Pacific and on Coast Guard cutters operating out of New York City. Torkelsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Torkelsen of Ridge Road, Shokan, will attend RCA Institute in New York City.

Craig on Carrier

Communications Yeoman Seaman Wayne A. Craig, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Craig of Rte. 4, Kingston, is serving aboard the anti-submarine warfare support aircraft carrier USS Intrepid off the coast of North Vietnam.

O'Byrne Graduates

Marine Private Richard J. O'Byrne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. O'Byrne of River Rd., New Paltz, was graduated from eight weeks of recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Paris Island, S.C.

He will now undergo from two to four weeks of individual combat training and then, after leave at home, will report to his first Marine Corps assignment.

The intensified Marine recruit training emphasizes rigid physical conditioning and survival techniques, both at sea and ashore, to develop self-confidence and endurance. Marksmanship with the M-14 rifle and 45-caliber pistol are equally stressed, and close order drill instills the traditions of Marine Corps teamwork.

Girl Scouts Fete Volunteers Nov. 4

The annual recognition dinner of the Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts will be held at the Governor Clinton Hotel Saturday, Nov. 4.

Invitations have been sent to the 600 adult volunteers who help to provide a program of fun, learning, adventure and service to over 3100 registered Girl Scouts in Ulster County Council. This is a once a year event when adults gather together for the purpose of recognizing the accomplishments of the more outstanding volunteers and to spend an enjoyable evening with others who share a common interest in volunteer scout work.

Included in the evening's schedule is a buffet in the Crystal Room of the hotel, preceded by a social hour. In addition to many special awards and other surprise awards, there will be an entertainment in the form of songs and audience participation games. Richard Mathews will be master of ceremonies. Reservations may be sent to the Girl Scout office by Oct. 27, care of Mrs. John Murdoch, general chairman of the dinner. The Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts is one of the 13 member agencies of the Ulster County Community Chest.

To Open Drug Cure, Prevention Centers

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller says the Narcotic Control Addition Commission will open seven additional education centers to inform the public about its program to prevent and cure drug addiction.

Four of the new centers will be located upstate—in Rochester, Syracuse, Binghamton and Albany. The others will be in Yonkers, Suffolk County and the lower west side of Manhattan.

The state already has eight of the centers in operation. Seven are in New York City and the eighth in Buffalo.

Rockefeller, in announcing the plan Tuesday, said the centers would be opened in about three months at a cost of $35,000 each. The cost includes renovation of space, rents and staff salaries.

The new offices, Rockefeller said, were designed to fill the educational gap in the "soft drug area" between New York City and Buffalo. The term, a spokesman said, is used to indicate predominant use of such drugs as amphetamines, barbiturates and marijuana, rather than such drugs as heroin and opium.

Each center will be staffed by four persons, including two ex-addicts. They give information regarding prevention of addiction and procedures for placing addicts in treatment centers operated by the commission.

Reagan Has Cold, May Cancel Trip

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — A severe chest cold today threatened to cancel Gov. Ronald Reagan's three-day trip to six cities, beginning with a GOP fund-raising address in Des Moines, Iowa, tonight.

Reagan, who returned to Sacramento Saturday night from the National Governors Conference, was so hoarse by the end of a 30-minute news conference Tuesday he had trouble talking.

Reagan's schedule called for him to lecture at Kansas State University in Manhattan Thursday, address Republican affairs in Dallas and Houston later the same day, speak to the Illinois Chamber of Commerce in Chicago Friday noon and address a Republican dinner in Cincinnati on Friday night.

Survey Has 1967 Taxes Up $377,884

ALBANY — Real property estimated revenues from the taxes levied by New York's 57 Upstate counties reached a new high in 1967—$72.7 million or 18 per cent more than in 1966.

The 1967 total levied by the board of supervisors for counties outside New York City was $468.6 million, compared with $395.9 million in 1966.

The Citizens Public Expenditure Survey, a private tax research organization, said real property taxes paid for 42.6 per cent of the $1.1 billion spending authorized for operations of county governments in 1967.

The real property tax levies or "net budgets" are arrived at in each county by deducting estimated revenues from the gross amount of budgeted spending for county purposes, the survey said. Those estimated revenues are state aid, federal aid, departmental charges and fees, surpluses of previous years, and in several counties, non-property taxes. These sources provided 57.4 per cent of the revenue needed to pay for county spending in 1967.

Ulster County was one of the 56 Upstate counties which increased real property taxes from 1966 to 1967. The net budget amount levied on real property in Ulster County for 1967 was $5,145,120, an increase of $377,884.

Ulster County's gross budget was $12,341,047, an increase of $1,846,938 from last year.

Tentative budgets for 1968 under preparation, must be filed with boards of supervisors by November 15. Boards may change tentative budgets, but before final adoption, copies of the proposed budgets as changed must be made available at the offices of the clerks of the boards of supervisors and public hearings must be held.

Boards of Supervisors may revise budgets following public hearings and prior to final adoption which cannot be later than December 20.

By dividing the tax levy by the most recently estimated population of the counties, we can obtain the per capita tax levy for each county.

The highest per capita real property tax levy is Hamilton County with $127.43 followed by Nassau at $101, Sullivan at $72.61, Suffolk at $58.66 and Warren at $54.23 per capita.

At the low end of the ranking is Broome County with a per capita tax levy of $15.48 followed by Tompkins at $18.72, Tioga at $20.58 and Saratoga at $22.16.

A county by county comparison of real property tax levies is subject to certain qualifications:

There is great variation among counties in the number, extent and quality of services provided by county governments.

Some counties levy non-property taxes which reduce the demand on the property tax. In these cases, the total tax burden is not reflected in a comparison of real property taxes.

One of Aussies Richest Men Dies

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — A. W. Palfreyman, one of Australia's richest men, died Tuesday night at the age of 92.

Palfreyman was chairman of Henry Jones Ltd., a jam and fruit canning concern, for 39 years until he retired in 1965. He also had a large interest in the Consolidated Tin Dredging Co. which pioneered the recovery of

Corning Man Killed

CORNING, N.Y. (AP) — Fredrick Weber, 30, of Corning was killed Tuesday night when his automobile and a tractor-trailer truck collided head-on at the intersection of Routes 17 and 15 about five miles southwest of this Southern Tier community.

Conservative Hoffman Brings Out Issues

Harry S. Hoffman Jr., county Conservative Party chairman, today called on the Republican and Democratic Party chairmen "to reduce the heat, and provide more light on this campaign."

"To be really ethical with the voters, both of these disputants," said Hoffman, "should unite in a demand on the State Legislature to stop the buying of votes with giveaway programs, such as Medicaid, before Ulster County is financially wrecked by state and federal mandated expenditures."

"These chairmen," he continued, "should also urge the defeat of the proposed State Constitution and the 2.5 billion dollar transportation bond issue, for the same reasons."

"In the long run," Hoffman explained, "the expenditure of the taxpayers money for these programs will dwarf even the Medicaid program. Federal and state funds really come out of the same pocket as the local taxes—the taxpayers'."

Hoffman further said that, "a top priority area of discussion should also be law enforcement, from the police, through the courts, and into the jail."

Over the past several months it has certainly become apparent that all aspects of this problem need immediate attention."

"If an impartial organization were to sponsor a program for all county chairmen to expound their positions," Hoffman stated, "it would be of great service to the voters."

"This past Tuesday night, Oct. 17," he continued, "the Saugerties Chamber of Commerce had a successful program of this kind, when the Saugerties Conservative, Democratic and Republican town chairmen presented their platforms."

Chairman Hoffman stated that he would be glad to meet at a public forum with the other county chairmen in a calm discussion of the issues.

"If the other political parties of Ulster County are interested in enlightening the voters," Hoffman concluded, "they should make a public presentation of their programs, as has the Conservative Party as far back as this summer, when its county platform for 1967 was available to the public at the Ulster County Fair, and is now available at its various headquarters."

DAR Hears Report on Conference

The Saugerties Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution held its October meeting at the home of Mrs. John Lowther, Mrs. Carroll Nieffer, regent, presided.

The National Defense article was read by Mrs. Lowther from a speech by Enid Griswald, entitled "We Believe."

Program for the afternoon was a report on the Seventy-first New York State Conference held in Buffalo given by the Chapter's delegates. The work of the DAR for their sponsored schools was stressed. It was reported that tons of clothing, hundreds of trading stamps and thousands of dollars are only some of the gifts which have been pouring into our DAR schools this past year from the generous chapters and members of New York State. The local Chapter has an adopted student at the DAR School-Tamassae. The Chapter supplies the student with clothing, supplies and money and he is remembered on his birthday and at Christmas time.

It was announced that a flag and the DAR American Citizenship booklet and flag code were presented the Junior Girl Scouts at the Methodist Church. Mrs. William Young has donated the American flag.

The next meeting will be held Nov. 1 at the home of Mrs. Ross Snyder. The program will be on DAR Museum and the American history award. Honored guest for the afternoon will be Miss Amy Walker, New York State Chairman American history award and national vice chairman of Credentials, and Mrs. Max J. Schurr, New York State Room, Ten Broeck House Committee. All members are asked to bring their Christmas presents for our student at Tamassae. Hostesses for the afternoon will be Mrs. Emerson Hull, Mrs. Albert Tice, Mrs. Herrick and Mrs. James Stater.

GOP Meets

Saugerties Republican Club held its monthly meeting Thursday to which candidates were invited to appear.

Attending were Ben Rinaldi and George Turner, candidates for councilman, and Michael Cattalino, candidate for Justice of the Peace. Also county legislator candidate Freeman Lasher, Clifford Snyder and William Brinnier. Town chairman Louis P. Francello also addressed the group.

Women's Club Will Hear Consumer Word

Dr. James E. Mendenhall, educational director of Consumers Union, Mt. Vernon, will be guest speaker at a meeting of Saugerties Womens Club Thursday.

The event will take place at 8:15 p. m. in the Dutch Arms Chapel of Reformed Church, John Street.

Consumers Union is an independent, non-profit, non-commercial membership organization which issues a monthly publication on consumer reports.

GOP Scored By Schovel

Michael Schovel, Democratic candidate for Town of Saugerties supervisor, took the GOP to task this week on a part of its platform relating to construction of Rt. 9W from the Greene County line to Malden.

Quoting the Republican platform which states in part, "we have kept after the State Highway Department to speed up construction of that portion of 9W.... This work is now scheduled for completion during 1968...."

Schovel maintains that a thorough check with the Department of Transportation in Albany "brought forth the startling information that there is no hope whatever of that piece of construction even being started in 1968 let alone being finished."

Schovel reports that the Albany office claims to have just passed the preliminary stage, having three plans for proposed routes up for consideration. If all goes well, he maintains the contract could be let for bid in late 1969. Schovel says the Albany office states there is no priority on this piece of construction.

Concluding, Schovel said, "No responsible administration would issue a voting platform plank that is made out of thin air just so it would look good in print. This is the kind of thing that must end in this town."

Elephant Seals

One of North America's least known of large mammals is the elephant seal, which lives in isolated places along the California coast. They derive their name from the huge, curving noses of the ungainly bulls.

Candidate

Eighteen years of legislative experience which I firmly believe will enable me to assist in representing the people of the Town of Saugerties, is a main reason for my seeking election to the new county legislature.

Peter Williams said this week. The other members of the Republican team, Bill Brinnier, Freeman Lasher, and Cliff Snyder, eminently qualified in all aspects will, however, I believe, find many occasions when my background and former association on the Board of Supervisors can be utilized to good advantage for Saugerties, stated Williams who is seeking one of the posts from District 1, Saugerties, in November.

Supervisor Williams has given 18 years of public service to the people of Saugerties. He has served as majority leader of the Board of Supervisors in 1962, and also as chairman of that board in 1964. Under the law, the Board of Supervisors will be abolished and a new County Legislature created as of January 1, 1968.

The advancement of the Town of Saugerties among the townships of the county and state during the town's greatest expansion in history speaks highly of his expert guidance and executive ability, party spokesmen claim.

His knowledge and background has insured the citizens of Saugerties that they have received the utmost in state and federal aid available to communities of the state. Williams' handling of the town budget has been efficient and economical and at the same time, he has provided all the services necessary to operate a township of this size.

His efforts in keeping the town tax rate at a level within the ability of the citizens to pay keeps Saugerties among the most efficiently operated townships in the state.

The establishment of new industries in the township is no accident, they add. Industries seeking new sites look for townships which are operated economically and those who maintain a fair tax rate.

Supervisor Williams' policies and economics has made the township attractive to industry. This has been done without subsidies or promises of preferential treatment and has cost the taxpayer nothing.

A noted champion of local veterans, Williams manages to squeeze into his busy schedule time to aid and comfort the serviceman and his family. He is often called upon to head campaigns of benevolence and has given his services to further the youth organizations of the community.

A man of great political stature in Ulster County, he is known for his loyalty to his constituents in the township and is constantly alert to their needs, party spokesmen concluded.

PETER M. WILLIAMS

Auxiliary Buys Needed Equipment for Hospital

A successful summer in the gift shop, sales cart and snack bar of the Kingston Hospital has enabled the sponsoring organization, Kingston Hospital Auxiliary, to purchase needed equipment. This announcement was made by Auxiliary President Mrs. Richard Kalish at an opening fall-winter meeting of the group Oct. 17 in the nurses residence. The volunteer group is adding bed tables, wheel chairs, air mattresses and other equipment to the supply now at the hospital.

Seven new members were welcomed into the Auxiliary. They are: Mrs. Alice Farmer, Mrs. James Tyrell, Mrs. George Erbstein, Mrs. Peter O'Hara, Mrs. George Melahn, Mrs. Saul Schechter and Mrs. Thomas Lea.

Zone Meeting Set
Mrs. Kalish and Mrs. Karl Pitcock are accepting reservations for the upcoming meeting of the Southeastern Region of Hospital Auxiliaries which will be held Nov. 9 at the Homewick Lodge in Wurtsboro. The Ellenville Hospital Auxiliary will be the host group. The annual card party slated for April will be headed up by Mrs. James Elder, Mrs. Harold Finkle and Mrs. Raymond Armater were named chairman of the hospital's annual dance.

Open House will be observed at Kingston Hospital on October 26, according to Mrs. Carl Dedy, chairman of Nurse Recruitment. Auxiliary members will be hostesses.

Schnitzer Speaks
Robert Schnitzer, who has been hospital administrator for the past 13 years, has accepted a position with the State Board of Health in Albany. He was historian for the group, exhibited the completed Book of Memories which covers activities of the volunteer organization. The following committee chairmanships were assigned by the Auxiliary president: Mrs. Robert O. Wemple, membership; Mrs. Henry Singler, publicity; Mrs. Charles Schulenberg, hospitality; Mrs. Hurley Simpson, desk; Miss Marguerite E. Meyers, candy strikers; Mrs. James E. Norton, baby photo; Mrs. Harold Finkle, budget chairman; Mrs. Frederic Holcomb Sr., gift shop; Mrs. Neil Ryder and Mrs. Neil Whitehurst, sales cart; Mrs. Herbert Powell, good cheer; Mrs. George C. Rifenburg, historian; Mrs. William K. Gregory, student nurse acquest speaker at the October 17 meeting. In his address he emphasized the various changes which have taken place in hospital administration during the past year and a half covering such topics as voluntary governmental control through Medicare and Medicaid. He also outlined tentative expansion plans to include X-ray facilities, food service assembly line equipment, computer service in the business office and expanded parking area.

Retired Teachers' Conference At Grossingers; State Level

Approximately 300 delegates will be attending the New York State Retired Teachers Association convention October 31, Nov. 1 and 2 at Grossingers, it was announced today.

Pending legislation concerning cost-of-living adjustments and health insurance will be among important topics to be discussed.

In addition to a list of distinguished guests, officers of the National Retired Teachers Association will be in attendance.

Some of the delegates from this area will include Miss Mary Polhemus, Ulster County director; Mrs. Bertha Allan, Mrs. Harry Christiana, Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Vaughn. Registrations should be made directly with Grossingers.

County Meeting
The first fall meeting of the Ulster County Retired Teachers Association will be held at luncheon in the social hall of Lake Mohonk on October 19 and the membership voted to oppose the proposed New York State Constitution.

The next meeting of the Ulster County group will be a legislation.

Bill Skilling Gives Dramatic Readings

The Welcome Wagon of Kingston met for its regular monthly meeting Tuesday, Oct. 17, at 8 p. m. at the YWCA.

The program for the evening was a selection of dramatic readings presented by William Skilling, program director for Radio Station WGHQ. "Americana was the title Mr. Skilling chose to give to his group of readings. Included were a selection from Thomas Wolfe: "Prayers of Today," made by prominent Americans: "Ode to an Unborn Child," said to be written by an American soldier about to go into battle; and a humorous selection from William Saroyan.

After the readings, Mr. Skilling invited those present to ask questions or make comments on either radio programming or other things of interest to them in the Kingston area.

During the business meeting, several service projects in which the club is involved were discussed. Volunteers from the club will help with registration at the Health Fair to be sponsored by First Federal Savings and Loan Association on Saturday at 235 Fair Street. Other club members have volunteered to tell children's stories throughout the year for the Story Hour at the Kingston Public Library.

Plans are currently being made for a theater party for Friday, Nov. 17. Members and their husbands will attend the Coach House Players production of "Goodbye Charlie." Anyone interested may contact Mrs. Robert Schneider.

Hostesses for the social hour which followed the meeting were Mrs. Eugene Yarotsky, Mrs. William Evans, Mrs. Stanley Woodbury, and Mrs. John Watts.

The next meeting of the club will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 21, at 8 p. m. at the YWCA. The program at that time will be presented by Roy Donaldson, a former Peace Corps member who served in Ethiopia.

Persons interested in further information about the Welcome Wagon Club may contact either Mrs. Charles Selzo, area hostess, or Mrs. Joseph Colon, assistant hostess.

Green Pepper Sauce

For something unusually good over vegetables serve green pepper sauce. Brown three strips of bacon in a skillet. Remove and crumble the bacon pieces. Pour off fat and measure back into the skillet three tablespoons bacon fat. In bacon drippings saute until tender, one chopped green pepper and one chopped pimiento. Add the crumbled bacon and pour the pepper sauce over the prepared vegetables to serve.

County Participates in National CYO Week

National CYO Week will be October 29 to November 5. Ulster County participation in the event will include an elementary age Holy Hour at St. Mary's Church, Kingston, Sunday at 3 p. m. in tribute to "Christ the King." Boy Scouts, Cubs, Brownies and all uniformed groups are requested to wear uniforms, to meet at the school at 2:45 p. m. and proceed to the center aisle of the Church. Services will be under the direction of the Rev. John Farley, St. Mary's CYO moderator.

Theme Is Chosen
"Youth . . . Apostles to Youth" is the theme of 1967 CYO Week, taken from the decrees of Second Vatican

Council. "Young persons themselves, then should become the first and immediate apostles to other youths, exercising an apostolate of their own among themselves."

National CYO Week was first observed in Ulster County in October 1951 and has been marked annually by special youth Holy Hours. Teenage Holy Hour has been scheduled for Sunday at St. Joseph's Church at 7 p. m. The service will be under the direction of the Rev. James Keating, CYO moderator for St. Joseph's Parish. During the service new officers of the Ulster County CYO Teen Age Federation will be officially installed in their office. A short meeting of the County Council will be held afterward in St. Joseph's School. School boy cross country races will be held at Hasbrouck Park Saturday, Oct. 28, as the opening event. The race is for boys of elementary age and is run as a memorial tribute to the late Richard Hinkley, an outstanding Catholic layman of Ulster County, who devoted much of his time to youth work. The winning team will receive the County Trophy and individual winners will be awarded CYO medals. Complete details may be obtained from the school principal, CYO moderator or members of the Parish Youth Committee.

Oratorical Contest
Another activity during CYO week invites boys and girls of the seventh and eighth grades to submit short stories in competition. Awards will be made to the winners. St. Peter's hall, Kingston, will be the site of this year's annual CYO oratorical contest for elementary students. The topic is, "What Challenge Does the Church of Today Present to Our Catholic Youth?" Each parish may enter only two contestants in this contest. First place winner will represent Ulster County in the finals in New York City on Sunday, Dec. 3. The county contest is slated for Saturday, Nov. 11 at 2 p. m. Public is invited.

Saturday, Nov. 18, after the 8 a. m. Mass at St. Joseph's Church, a "free throw" contest will be held. All participants are invited to attend Mass for the intention of quick and lasting peace in the world and protection of the servicemen in Vietnam. After Mass a breakfast will be served in St. Joseph's cafeteria. Boys will proceed to the George Washington School and girls will remain at St. Joseph's gym for the foul shooting contests. Contestants must wear sneakers.

Awards Program
Don Kiernan, newly appointed Ulster County athletic chairman, has announced that a meeting will be held Sunday, Nov. 5 at 7:30 p. m. at St. Mary's School for all adults involved in CYO basketball programs.

Awards ceremony will be held at St. Patrick's Cathedral Sunday, Nov. 5, at 2 p. m. Those desiring transportation are asked to contact the Rev. James LeBar at St. Joseph's for bus accommodations. Annual Catholic Youth Communion crusade will take place Sunday. Every Catholic youth is urged to participate by receiving Communion in a group or with his family on that special day.

Cheer leading contests are scheduled for February 4 and March 3 at Fordham University gym. Local parishes interested in competing should notify the Ulster County Office before December 1.

Activities slated for Ulster County include an art show, craft show, hobby show, quiz contest, teen age oratorical contest, poetry writing contest, essay contest, talent show, one-act play contest, doll show.

ster County GOP Committee. Looking on are (L-R) Mrs. John A. Rogalin, GOP committee vice chairman, New York State; Miss Cordelia Felman, Bloomington; Mrs. Herbert J. Spender, Spencerport, and Mrs. Keith McHugh, New York State Republican National Committeewoman.

The annual convention for teenagers has been scheduled for Friday, Nov. 24 and Saturday, Nov. 25, at New York Hilton Hotel. Registration, workshops, conferences, banquet, cotillion, county caucuses will take place Friday starting at 11 a. m. On Saturday beginning at 8:30 a. m. there will be breakfast, archdiocesan elections, con-celebrated Mass, installation of officers. All arrangements should be made through the parish clubs and Ulster County CYO Office by November 15. Two Ulster County council officers seeking election to Archdiocesan Office are Mike Habernig, president and Kathy Bunyar, vice president.

Federated to date are St. Catherine's, St. Joseph's, St. Peter's, all of Kingston; St. Peter's, Rosendale; St. Mary of the Snows, Saugerties; St. Augustine, Highland, St. Mary's, Kingston, will be federated.

Appeared Recently On Television Show

Geraldine Jamiolkowski Hill appeared on the television program "Think Twice" on Oct. 19 as part of the Massachusetts Bay United Fund solicitors participation training program on WHDH, Channel 5, featuring local Bay Area volunteers.

She is the daughter of Sophie Jamiolkowski of 22 Glen Circle Drive, New Paltz.

Courtship Among Birds

Most songbirds do their mating with both feet on the ground or on a handy perch; the male prairie chicken dances and struts before the female; grouse hiss and make a loud drumming noise with their wings; mergansers chase their mates underwater; bobolinks and meadowlarks sing and display on the wing.

A 1948 graduate of New Paltz High School, Mrs. Hill received her bachelor of science degree from Simmons College, Boston, Mass. in 1952, and also did post-graduate work in business administration with the Harvard - Radcliffe Program. Prior to becoming a mother she worked in the fields of public relations and sales promotion. Mrs. Hill is active in community affairs in the city of Newton, Mass., a suburb of Boston. She has worked in a variety of jobs for the United Fund and this year is public relations chairman for Newton and for the 18 towns of the West Division. She is married to Walter D. Hill. The Hills live in Waban, Mass., and have three children ages 3, 7, and 9.

Mind Loads Up Best in Spurts

By the Reading Laboratory
(Excerpted from the World Publishing Company book, "Study Faster and Retain More." Illustrations by Roy Doty.)

Nobody is really sure just how learning works. We do know enough about learning to figure out some productive study methods, and perhaps more important, we know something about forgetting, too.

We know, for instance, that your learning is restricted by your span of concentration, and we know that the average span of concentration for a student is about 50 minutes. That's why your classes are usually 50 minutes long.

We know that you can learn meaningful material more easily than you can memorize nonsense syllables—and that you can retain the meaningful material longer.

We know that most forgetting occurs immediately after learning because the continued flow of new material makes it difficult for a new concept to "take."

On the other hand, if you can still remember something the day after you learned it, you can be sure you won't forget it easily.

This just scratches the surface of learning theory, but it's enough to help you plan your study time more intelligently. For instance, if your span of concentration is only 50 minutes, isn't it silly to study one subject for three or four hours straight through?

Since the influx of new material speeds up forgetting, doesn't it follow that if you study for several hours without reinforcement, you'll forget most of what you learned in the first hour?

And if meaningful material is the easiest to learn, isn't it pointless to memorize without trying to understand what you're memorizing?

Here's the way you ought to study to make the process of learning work for you:

● Study in spurts. Study for about a half hour, then take a five-minute break.

● Really turn your mind on full power for each "study spurt." Get the most out of each spurt. Be active, involved and thinking.

● Switch subjects. Spend two half-hour periods on one subject then switch to another. It'll keep your mind fresh.

● Spend the first five minutes of each half-hour period reviewing the previous half-hour. This kind of regular reinforcement will eliminate a lot of forgetting.

● If you have to memorize something, understand it first.

● Take notes as you study—just key words to help you remember. Your memory is tricky; don't trust it.

● At the end of each week, make a quick review of the week's study.

Make your mind work for you; don't work against it.

Meet After 55 Years

Lucio Cercone of Allife, Italy, Province of Sostera, was reunited recently with his seven brothers and one sister, after not having seen them for over 55 years.

Mr. Cercone arrived here recently for a three month stay visiting friends and relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Cercone of 63 Atkins Avenue, Bristol, Conn., entertained at a family reunion, at which he was guest of honor, Sunday, at the American Legion Hall. Members of the family who attended were Paul Cercone, David Cercone, Amedeo Cercone, Rose Fiorillo, Lucio Cercone, Arthur Cercone, Edward Cercone, Alexander Cercone and Orlando Cercone. The reunion was attended by 75 guests from Kingston and Schenectady as well as surrounding towns.

The Mt. Rushmore Memorial in South Dakota is larger than the Sphinx of Egypt. The sculptured heads of the memorial are so large that Lincoln's nose is longer than the entire face of the Sphinx.

'Quiet Time Apart' Service Scheduled

The Women's Society of Christian Service of St. James Methodist Church will climax the week of Prayer and Self-Denial with a Quiet Time Apart Service at their regular monthly meeting Wednesday at 1 p.m.

"Feed My Sheep" is the theme for 1967. Mrs. Viola Tarsia will be assisted by Mrs. Molly Mahar, Mrs. Maria Finkla and Mrs. Viola Finger.

Each year women all over the world observe "The Week of Self-Denial and Prayer" by private daily devotions and by an offering of self-denial.

Monies collected from this self-denial offering are used in various ways. This year the projects are for social welfare work in the U.S., such as building programs for homes for disturbed children; residences for young business women in cities, for example, Esther Hall in Indianapolis, Ind. The special offering for overseas work is designated for leadership training for women around the world.

A representative of the Women's Society stated: "It is often said that charity must begin at home. Creative good will, understanding, and mutual accord must increase among us, the people, if nations are to survive the turmoil of this world and find harmony. It is hoped that the love and the concern expressed through prayer and truly sacrificially-generous offerings for Christian work with women, children and youth here and overseas through these call to Prayer and Self-Denial meetings in the U.S., will contribute meaningfully to God's creative powers for brotherhood and peace around the world."

All women are invited to attend.

To Meet Thursday

The Little Gardens Club of Kingston will meet Thursday at 1 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Clifford Henze, Hurley, Co-hostess will be Mrs. Kenneth Odell.

A workshop, "Pressed-Flower Pictures and Trays," will be conducted by Mrs. George Brown after the business meeting.

Several members of the club were in attendance at the fall meeting of the Third District Federated Gardens Club of New York State which was held in New Paltz October 19. Mrs. Harold Schadehead, club member, was requested to give the invocation before the luncheon. Mrs. Anteo Marchetti was in charge of place cards and name tags for the event.

Tiny Tips

Clothespin Bag

Hang a clothespin bag on the side of baby's playpen to hold his toys when he is not using them. This keeps the playpen neat, and prevents baby from being confused by too many toys.

For Hemming

Cream of Tartar

Vinegar for Suede

Remove those shiny spots that appear on suede shoes by sponging them with vinegar. Allow the shoes to dry thoroughly, then brush them briskly with a suede brush to raise the nap.

Use Lemon Juice

By adding lemon juice to your meringue recipe you can give it more flavor and a nicer cutting quality. Mix the lemon juice with the egg whites just before beating.

Save Empty Spools

Save empty thread spools of graduated size, and paint them in bright colors. When dry string them on a tape measure; they make stunning tie-backs for the sewing room curtains.

Christmas Ornaments

Save all your empty thread spools. The first rainy day that comes along, let the children paint them gold, silver, red, and green, to hang as ornaments on the Christmas tree.

Deep Freeze Bags

You will have much better luck sending candy and cookies through the mail if you seal them in deep freeze bags before packing. This way, they remain fresh until they arrive at their destination.

To 'Skin' Nuts

To remove the brown skin from shelled nuts, place nuts in a pan and cover them with cold water. Bring the water to a fast boil. Remove from the fire as soon as the water has boiled up good. Drain, then rinse with cold water. The skins will slip off easily and quickly.

Guerin Finds Can Opener

Hawks Topple Knicks For Seventh Straight

By ED SCHUYLER JR., Associated Press Sports Writer

There's nothing that goes quite so well with a cold beer as a hot streak. But sometimes both are difficult to come by.

It took St. Louis Coach Richie Guerin several minutes to get the beer because he couldn't find an opener in the Hawks' crowded dressing room at New York's Madison Square Garden.

It took his Hawks considerably longer to keep their streak hot, but they did—winning their seventh National Basketball Association game in as many starts by outlasting the New York Knickerbockers, 135-130 in overtime Tuesday night.

In other NBA action, Philadelphia drubbed Detroit 124-102 in a game preceding the Hawks-Knicks contest, San Francisco topped Cincinnati 116-106 and Baltimore whipped Seattle 136-123.

Kentucky edged Anaheim 128-127 and Minnesota trounced Pittsburgh 104-86 in the American Basketball Association.

Tied at 119-119 The Hawks trailed 117-112 with three minutes remaining in regulation time. But then the Hawks took advantage of some sloppy New York play and charged to a 119-119 deadlock, the tying points coming on Paul Silas' field goal with 39 seconds left.

The Hawks thought they had won it 121-119 on Gene Tormohlen's final shot, but the officials ruled that he didn't get the shot off before the 24-second time limit had expired.

Howie Komives put the Knicks ahead 121-119 in overtime, but then the Hawks reeled off 10 straight points and held off New York for the victory.

Hal Greer scored 38 points and Billy Cunningham 25 in leading the Philadelphia rout. Wilt Chamberlain scored only 11 for the 76ers, being content to lead both teams with 27 rebounds and his club with five assists. John Tresvant led Detroit with 19 points.

Baltimore built up a 22-point lead, but Seattle then rallied to cut it to two, 103-101, before the Bulls again pulled away. Le Roy Ellis scored 26, rookie Earl Monroe 25 and Kevin Loughery 21 for Baltimore. Seattle was led by Bob Rule's 25 and Walt Hazzard's 21.

Jim King, now in his fourth NBA season, had his best scoring game as pro, pouring through 37 points to lead San Francisco. Bob Love and Oscar Robertson carried the brunt of the Cincinnati attack—Love scoring 29 and Robertson 27.

Darrel Carrier's field goal with 35 seconds left climaxed a winning Kentucky ally. Carrier finished with 33 points, but individual scoring honors went to Anaheim's Steve Chubin, with 42.

Mel Daniel, Don Freeman and Les Hunter paced the third period, but Seattle then rallied to cut it to two, 103-101, before the Bulls again pulled away. Le Roy Ellis scored 26, rookie Earl Monroe 25 and Kevin Loughery 21 for Baltimore. Seattle was led by Bob Rule's 25 and Walt Hazzard's 21.

Unitas has been breaking records each week. The latest was the mark for career completions, previously held by Y. A. Tittle. The 20 completions in Sunday's 20-20 tie with Minnesota gave him 2,131 for his lifetime total, compared to Tittle's 2,117.

The involved standings give Unitas the lead on a combination of a 60.1 completion percentage, 10 touchdowns, 2.9 in interception percentage and 8.14 yards average gain.

Norm Sneed of Philadelphia, last week's leader, dropped to third and Sonny Jurgensen of Washington moved into the No. 2 spot.

Leroy Kelly of Cleveland, heading for his second straight 1,000-plus yard season, has 516 yards for six games, counting the 111 on 18 carries Sunday against Chicago. Johnny Roland of St. Louis is second with 459 yards, picking up 71 yards on 17 attempts against Philadelphia.

Jim Bakken, St. Louis' place kicker, continues to pull away in the scoring department with 70 points on 17 field goals and 19 extra points. His closest competitor is Homer Jones, New York's split end who has scored nine touchdowns or 54 points.

Jones is ninth among the pass receivers, but his 28.4-yard average and eight touchdowns are tops. Charley Taylor of Washington has caught the most passes, 35.

Pat Studstill of Detroit still leads the punters with a 45.4 yard average.

Donny Anderson of Green Bay has the best punt return average, 13.7, and John Love of Washington has the best kickoff return average, 39.0 yards.

Marv Woodson of Pittsburgh still has the most interceptions, five.

Wins, Not Records Payoff for Unitas

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Unitas of the Baltimore Colts has taken over as top passer in the National Football League's weekly statistics, but he would trade it all for victories instead of ties in the last two games.

Unitas has been breaking records each week. The latest was the mark for career completions, previously held by Y. A. Tittle. The 20 completions in Sunday's 20-20 tie with Minnesota gave him 2,131 for his lifetime total, compared to Tittle's 2,117.

The involved standings give Unitas the lead on a combination of a 60.1 completion percentage, 10 touchdowns, 2.9 in interception percentage and 8.14 yards average gain.

Jim Bakken, St. Louis' place kicker, continues to pull away in

Russians No Like Our Golf

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Soviet athletes swept event after event in Mexico's Pre-Olympic Games but they won't be any competition next month during the World Cup golf tournament.

The Russians don't play golf. "We'd like them to start and get in some of these international tournaments," said Fred Corcoran of New York, tournament director for the International Golf Association (IGA). "But we took a survey and found out they don't even have a golf course."

Corcoran said a course was built in the Soviet Union during the presidency of Dwight Eisenhower in anticipation of a visit by the U.S. president to the Soviet Union.

"Were told that it never was used and has grown up in weeds," said the man who will supervise the World Cup tournament Nov. 9-12 at the Club de Golf Mexico.

The absence of the Soviet Union, however, distracts not a bit from the tournament which is larger this year than ever before. The World Cup, formerly called the Canada Cup, pits the two best professional golfers a country has against the best from other nations in a 72-hole battle of international pride and prestige.

Forty teams are entered this year for play on the longest course ever used for the tournament, a 7,216-yard, par 72 layout just 30 minutes from downtown Mexico City.

Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus, generally agreed to be the two best professionals in the world, will represent the United States. Palmer has been on five winning teams but never has won individual honors. The U.S. is the defending champion.

Other top golfers entered are Gary Player of South Africa, Bob Charles of New Zealand and Roberto deVicenzo of Argentina.

Practice rounds on the completely renovated course are scheduled for Nov. 6-7 with a program set for Nov. 8.

Fallsmen Win In Cross Country

The Falls finished with 28 points against 45 for coach Bud Smith's Sawyers and 48 for the Beacotters.

Individual winner over the 2.5 mile course was Rick Thornton of the hosts. He was timed in 13:29. Teammate Joe Daley was second and Jim Gilbane, the SHS ace, finished third.

Chargers Have Edge In AFL Total Offense

NEW YORK (AP)—San Diego leads the American Football League in total offense and passing offense, according to statistics released by the league today.

The Chargers have amassed 394.3 yards per game with 270.3 of them coming on passes. Kansas City leads the league in rushing offense with 146.5 yards per game.

Oakland leads in all three defense departments, having allowed 73.0 yards per game rushing, 99.0 yards passing for a total of 172.0 yards.

MAN WITH A RECORD — University of Texas head football coach Darrell Royal and his star tailback Chris Gilbert are both pretty happy about what the 1700 on the football stands for. With 162 yards against Arkansas Gilbert set a new Texas varsity rushing record of 1700 yards and still has one half of his varsity career remaining. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Trojans, Tar Heels Key Picks Saturday

NEW YORK (AP) — Like the cost of living, a football forecaster's average sometimes goes out of sight. But there's a difference because the forecaster's figures always get smaller and smaller. Last week's average was .704.

The year's average is .713.

Here are this week's picks: Southern California over Oregon: By sundown Saturday, Orange Juice Simpson will taste like bitter lemon to the Webfoots of Oregon.

Colorado over Oklahoma State: The Cowpokes are strong on defense but they never have encountered anyone who can puncture a line with the speed and efficiency of Wilmer Cooks.

Tennessee over Louisiana State: If the Volunteers could beat Alabama last week with a third string quarterback, what will they do to LSU now that everyone is healthy?

North Carolina State over Duke: Dennis Byrd, a 250-pound tackle is in charge of the Wolfpack's defense. The friendliness of the home field also will help NC State remain unbeaten.

Notre Dame over Michigan State: A year ago this was the all-everything game but this time around there is a lot less glamor although the bumps and bruises will be as numerous as ever. You can watch from your own arm-chair.

Georgia over Kentucky: This season, Kentucky has lost five straight while yielding 140 points. Georgia has won four of five while punching over 151 points.

Purdue over Iowa: Mike Phipps, Purdue's sophomore quarterback, is the nation's all-offense leader.

Wyoming over Arizona State: The game is being played in the Sun Devils' stadium but that won't help them any.

Houston over Mississippi: The margin of victory could be as thin as a point after touchdown.

Indiana over Arizona: The Hoosiers travel a great distance for their sixth triumph of the season but the journey home will be a happy one.

Syracuse over Penn State: Neither team has a pass attack and you can't run against the Syracuse line.

Alabama over Clemson: The Crimson Tide gets revenge for its upset defeat of last week. Harvard over Dartmouth: The passing of Ric Zimmerman will decide.

Hubbell Cracks Mark, OCS Harriers Score

Craig Hubbell established another record and Ontario Central beat New Paltz, 23-38, in a dual cross country meet Tuesday over the two mile course in Boiceville.

The OCS senior was timed in 9:37 to break his former course record. Coach Bernie Stahl's harriers swept 11 of the first 13 places to easily outdistance the visitors.

Port Jayvees Rip KHS, 33-6

Port Jervis' junior varsity football team scored in every quarter to turn back winless Kingston, 33-6, Monday at the PJ gridiron.

The only KHS touchdown came in the third period when Bill Brady passed 40 yards to Jessie Adams.

Kingston will entertain the Roosevelt High Jayvees Saturday morning at Dietz Stadium.

Mrs. Smead Has Lead in Seniors

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Mrs. L. W. Smead of Orchid Lake, Mich., shot a 77 Tuesday to lead first round qualifying for the Women's North and South Seniors golf championship.

Mrs. John Haskell of Titusville, Pa., the 1964 champion, was second with a 78. The defending champion, Mrs. John Pennington of Buffalo, N. Y., virtually shot herself out of medal contention with 83, but still had a chance at the championship flight as scores soared.

Mrs. George Brady of Green, Conn., shot a 79 Tuesday, as did the tournament's first winner, Mrs. Harrison Flippin Stahl of Douglassville, Pa.

The second round of qualifying will be played Wednesday. Other first round qualifying scores:

Miss Betty Abernethy, Pitts-burgh, Pa., 79; Mrs. James Sherman, Clinton, N.Y., and Mrs. Frederic Paffard, Sewick-ley, Pa., 80; Mrs. Douglas Coupe, Loudonville, N.Y., 81; Mrs. George Frank, Albany, N.Y., Mrs. Edward Cooley, Win-netka, Ill., and Mrs. William Hamilton, Rydal, Pa., 82.

Circleville Gunner Trapshoot Winner

Wally Turner of Circleville scored 95x100 to capture high overall honors in the registered trapshoot at the Winchester Public Shooting Center at New Paltz.

Dan Hurley of Kingston shared a second place tie with Leslie Fowler of Putnam Valley with 94x100. John Miggin, Brewster, posted 91 and Jerry Nika, Peekskill, had 86.

Leslie Fowler, 87x100, won yardage group honors, with Hurley second at 86x100.

Gendron Clinches Quebec Victory

Guy Gendron knows when to throw his tantrums after scoring the winning goal, not before.

Gendron got heated out of the AHL-WHL inter-league game between Quebec and Vancouver Tuesday night, but only after scoring the goal that put the Aces ahead 3-2 in the second period.

A third-period score clinched the victory 4-2 for the American Hockey League Aces. The defeat dropped Vancouver into last place in the Western League. The two loops play an interlocking schedule this season.

Dietzel Has Been Taking It on the Chin But Has South Carolina on the Upswing

By FRANK ECK AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

Ever since he turned in his merit badge at West Point, Paul Dietzel has been taking it on the chin. Now the smiling Mansfield, Ohio native is ready to dish it out.

His South Carolina Gamecocks, victors in only one of 10 games last year in his debut at Columbia, S.C., are about to make things interesting for their Atlantic Coast Conference rivals.

The Gamecocks gave a sample of things to come in their opener when they shellacked Iowa State, 34-3, to snap a six game losing streak. Four different players got touchdowns with fullback Warren Muir, a Fitchburg, Mass., sophomore Dietzel brought along from West Point, scoring twice.

The next week Muir gained 164 yards and scored a TD in a 16-10 victory over North Carolina.

PAUL DIETZEL

In the 21-17 upset of Duke, it was Muir who scored the winning TD in the last 40 seconds.

It was too much to expect SC to halt unbeaten Georgia, yet with Notre Dame (an independent) and Michigan. If we go there they will give us a guarantee of something like $150,000, but if I ask them to play in Columbia they will want to know what we can offer."

Stadium Seats 43,212 Carolina Stadium at the Fair Grounds seats 43,212.

"We hope to expand the stadium for 1968," adds Dietzel. "I think it should be expanded to 60,000, with the possibility of enlarging it further. We need a larger stadium for our 1968 Clemson game in Columbia. We are exploring lots of possibilities."

When Paul Dietzel was at West Point he craved to have the Cadets play an annual game in New York. It didn't happen that way. Now he has high hopes of getting South Carolina in the national spotlight. He probably will, too!

The tip here is that Dietzel will have a feared team the next two years because just about half of his squad consists of sophomores. And one of them is fullback Warren Muir.

ROD 'N GUN REPORT

by Old Rip

SEASON NOW OPEN

With the opening of the big game hunting season in New York's northern zone today, optimistic game authorities are predicting another record kill of deer and bear.

The heaviest concentration of hunters is expected to converge on Hamilton, Warren and Franklin counties where a bulk of the 19,256 deer were harvested last year.

Of special interest to us will be the hotly-debated Moose River Plains area and we are looking forward on the final kill figures for that section. The White Tail Deer Association will set up its own check station at the Lime Kiln Lake area and along with the checking station of the Conservation Department, the legal kill figures should prove most informative. Entrance to this area will be at Cedar River Flow, 12 miles west of Indian Lake, at Headquarters Flow, and at the Lime Kiln, near Inlet.

READY FOR A TRIP to the Indian Lake region are Emerson Mayes, Robert Schaffert, Ernie Ryan and son Stephen. They will be guided by two of the Adirondacks' top guides — Ben Arndt and Abner Hall. The quartet will spend the evenings in Mayes' new trailer, with Ryan preparing the mashed potatoes.

Also hauled to the northern area was the camp trailer of Winky Myers of St. Remy. It was taken there Saturday and will be parked near Brandt Lake, a few miles from Chestertown.

SHORT SHOTS: With the closing of the state pheasant season Sunday, many local nimrods are finding plenty of action at clubs possessing preserve licenses. Among these clubs are Gardiner Gun Club, New Paltz Rod and Gun Club, West Esopus Landowners Association and the Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club. Nearby private preserves include Myers Pheasant Preserve at St. Remy, Pete's Game Farm at Pine Bush and Campbell's Preserve in Milan, near Red Hook.

Successful hunters at Myers Preserve recently were Leo Hayman, popular proprietor of Leherbs; Al Townsend, Don Bilyeu, Joe Hansen, and Roger Elting and Robert Holsapple of Bearsville. All have fine hunting dogs but still have the problem of flushing birds, due mainly to the heavy cover and warm weather.

Dr. Herb Zacher is having problems with his fine dog. Seems he flushes birds for everybody except the doctor.

John Stowell's claim of a 10-pheasant kill (during the state season) in the Allgerville area has his neighbor Jim Beleaf, wondering about the authenticity of the report. Jim hunted the areas and couldn't raise a feather. . . . From the early hunting scene in the West Hurley area come reports of a new combination of man and dog. Gordon Drew, the J. C. Penney manager, and his son, Gordy, have been seen apparently trying to teach a new beagle pup the tricks of rabbit hunting. However, we wonder just who is the teacher and who is the dog. . . . Trapshooters in the area were saddened by the death of Larry Koller, a distinguished outdoor writer, who was twice nominated by his colleagues as International Outdoorsman of the Year. Although supervising editor of a national hunting magazine, Guns and Hunting, he still found time to serve as president of the Winchester Public Shooting Center of New Paltz. . . . In the November issue of the magazine is a fine article by Russ Carpenter of Plattekill on building a Wildcat Ruger 6mm/284. Carpenter is Gunsmithing editor of the mag. It makes good reading, is fully illustrated and is really a work of fine gunsmithing for which Carpenter is well known.

ON THE DUCK SCENE: Despite last Thursday's high winds and rough river conditions, reports from Spada's Sport Shop indicate some fine bag limits by Hank Cragan Jr., Joe Diamond, John DeCicco and Big and Little Mike Spada. A fine pintail brought down by Little Mike Spada was on its way to the taxidermist. . . . William Cole of Kingston dropped a fine Canadian goose for Sunday dinner recently. . . . Frank Young of Ruby is getting in his licks at the mighty flyers. . . . Several blinds were "shipwrecked" in Thursday's big blow.

OLD RIP SEZ: Damaging posted signs is one of the surest ways of keeping them up. If the landowner has his lands posted he in all probability has good reasons. Your conduct as a sportsman and gentleman will go far in getting them taken down.

Pick Kingston High In X-Country Meet

Newburgh is the defending champion but Kingston High's talented cross country team is favored to capture the annual DUSO League meet Friday at Bear Mountain. The event will get underway at 3 p. m.

Coach John Gilligan's harriers have won 18 straight dual meets over a three-year span. They went into last year's DUSO championships favored but were upset by the Goldbacks. Kingston, however, got revenge in the Section 9 tournament.

Prior to the loss to NFA, Kingston had captured five consecutive league titles. The local harriers have also won six straight Section 9 championships.

The 2.5 course at Bear Mountain is very demanding and endurance is a prime requisite for a runner.

Despite the glittering record compiled by the KHS squad, this year's meet figures to be close. Each of the five competing schools is blessed with two or three top runners and the squad with the most depth will come out a winner.

Kingston's Gary Boice, unbeaten in dual meets this season, heads the Maroon runners. Other top point getters for Kingston are Bill Brinnier, Jim Gilpatrick, Gary Flowers and Wayne Sicker.

Monticello's Dan Donovan, John Kennedy, Ralph Halper and Tom White of Middletown; Gary Hawkins, Craig Hutton and Joe Antundri of Newburgh and Steve Keyes of Port Jervis are capable of turning in good performances.

Kingston's domination of cross country in Section 9 started when G. Warren Kias was coaching the sport. Gilligan took over the assignment five years ago and his harriers have won 36 of 37 dual meets, losing only to Port Jervis.

Bear Mountain will also be the site of the annual Section 9 meet, scheduled Friday, Nov. 3.

Rochester Veteran AHL Scoring Leader

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Veteran Bob Barlow of the Rochester Americans had four goals and four assists in last week's American Hockey League games, enabling him to take over the circuit's scoring lead.

Barlow has 12 points on five goals and seven assists, according to the latest statistics released today. Milan Macchetta, also of Rochester, and Doug Robinson and Howard Menard of Springfield are tied for second place with 11 points. Macchetta is the league leader in goals with seven.

Hershey's Barry Ashbee has accumulated the most penalty minutes, 38.

Nichlaus Heads Field in Sahara

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus, a two-time winner and the defending champion, led golf's top-ranking professionals into the first round of the $100,000 Sahara Invitational Tournament today, a 72-hole event that will mean $20,000 to the winner next Saturday.

Arnold Palmer, who has won almost everything in the world except the rich Sahara, could pass the magic $200,000 money winning mark in a year with a victory here. To date, the millionaire pro has collected $182,393 in official earnings.

Nicklaus is not far behind. He's won $168,998.

Others in the $100,000 bracket who are here for more loot are Julius Boros, Bill Casper, Dan Sikes, Doug Sanders and Frank Beard.

Play is over the Paradise Valley Country Club, 7,069 yards of greenery, splashed in this desert country. It has a par of 36-35-71, where a year ago Nicklaus put together rounds of 71-77-68-66-282. He had also won the event in 1963.

Most of the pros revisited the course in the pro-amateur Monday and Tuesday. But Nicklaus and Palmer skipped the prelude, taking brief vacations following the United States' triumph in the Ryder Cup matches at Houston, Tex., over Great Britain last week.

In pro-am competition Don Massengale scored a hole-in-one — an No. 8 iron shot on the 140-yard 12th hole at the Las Vegas Municipal Course which shared the pro-am action with the Paradise Club.

Four teams tied for the pro-am honors after 36 holes Tuesday. The teams were led by Ted Makalena, Ray Floyd, Paul Allen and Lee Trevino.

The individual low scorers, collecting $695 each, were Gardner Dickinson and George Archer. Both had 36-hole scores of 135.

Pick Robinson Best on Defense

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — If Dave Robinson doesn't make all-league linebacker this season, there will be eyebrows raised around the National Football League.

Robinson, a 6-foot-3, 245-pound hunk of man who plays left linebacker for the Green Bay Packers, is the Defensive Player of the Week in the NFL according to The Associated Press.

The man who pressured Don Meredith into an interception in the closing seconds of last season's Green Bay-Dallas title game, put on a show for the New York Giants last week at Yankee Stadium.

Within a space of about two minutes in the third period, Robinson intercepted two of Fran Tarkenton's passes. The first came on a ball that bounced out of the hands of Joe Morrison on New York's 26. A clipping penalty forced the Packers so deep they had to give up the ball. The second came on the Giants' 18, leading directly to a field goal by Don Chandler.

Leaping into the air to grab Tarkenton's toss with one hand, Robinson made his second interception one of the most spectacular defensive plays of the season.

"That was as fine a defensive play as you'll ever see," commented Coach Allie Sherman of the Giants, who still was in the ball game, losing only 17-14 at the time. The final score was 48-21.

Hawks Triumph, 6-1, Over Adelphi Booters

Angelo Targia scored two goals and the sizzling Hawks of New Paltz State stormed to their third successive soccer victory, 6-1, Tuesday over Adelphi at Garden City.

Coach Bob Durkin's booters spotted the home side a quickie at 1:11 of the opening session and then took complete charge. John Genova was the scorer for Adelphi.

Pete Kane, the ex-Orange Community College star, evened the count at 5:15, with an assist from Targia. Then, at 14:50 of the opening period, Targia scored after taking a pass from Clem Mbadimu.

After a scoreless second quarter, the visitors swarmed it up with three goals in the third session. Scorers were Dan Greaves, Targia and Mbadimu. Targia was credited with an assist.

Kane closed the scoring for New Paltz when he connected at the 14:15 mark of the fourth session.

The Hawks entertain tough Bridgeport in a Homecoming Day game Saturday, 2:30 p. m. After a slow start New Paltz is now 4-3 for the season. Bridgeport is coming with one of its better clubs.

Vol Back Named As Week's Best

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) —

Tennessee's strategy against Alabama was to stop the Crimson Tide running attack and force quarterback Kenny Stabler to throw.

The strategy worked, giving the Volunteers a 24-13 victory, boosting them from seventh to fourth in The Associated Press football poll and bringing Back of the Week honors to defensive back Albert Dorsey.

Saturday was Dorsey's 22nd birthday and he celebrated by intercepting three Stabler passes, the last of which he ran back 31 yards for a touchdown. Two other Stabler tosses were picked off by Vol defenders.

Both Tennessee Coach Doug Dickey and Alabama Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant called Dorsey's thefts key plays in Tennessee's triumph.

"Coach Dickey teaches us that you have to stop your opponent before you can beat him," Dorsey said. "It was part of my job to stop Alabama and I was certainly happy I could help do it."

"The touchdown I scored against Alabama was my first and it certainly was the biggest thrill of my life," Dorsey said.

Dorsey said he was thankful for platoon football.

"I'm too small (5-foot-11 and 178 pounds) to play offensive football," he explained. "I don't suppose I'd get to play if we didn't have a defensive team."

Tulsa Has Lead In Total Offense

NEW YORK (AP) — Tulsa's unbeaten and untied football team continues to lead the nation's major college's in total offense, passing and scoring while Oklahoma sets the pace in rushing.

The Golden Hurricane has averaged 484.8 yards in total offense for four games, 350.8 yards in passing, a 46.0 points per game, according to official statistics released today by the NCAA's National Collegiate Sports Services.

In rushing, Oklahoma moved past UCLA's leaders with a 284.0 yards average for four games. Yale was second with 262.3 while UCLA slipped to third with 258.0.

The individual leaders, announced Tuesday, are Mike Phipps, Purdue, total offense, 1,243 yards; O. J. Simpson, Southern California, rushing, 987 yards; and Jimmy Poole, Davidson, passing, 102 completions. He has passed 173 times for .590 and 1,063 yards.

Erie DA Hits Section Of New Penal Statute

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — A great influx of prostitutes coming from Detroit, Ohio and Canada into the Buffalo area has resulted from the new law, Judge Joseph A. Sedita maintained.

The 15-day maximum sentence for convicted prostitutes allowed by the present law, should be amended by the Legislature to include a jail sentence of six months, he said.

Dillon called for revision of the section that prevents a policeman, in some instances, from using a weapon in making an arrest. To minimize its adverse effects on the policeman performing his duties, amendment of the section was essential, he said.

The hearing, involving sections that restrict the use of deadly force by persons defending themselves or their property and by policemen in subduing suspects, voiced the opinions of more than 25 persons.

Richard Bolton, State Police counsel, supported the revision, saying that state police in the last three years have arrested more than 15,000 felons and that troopers have shot only five individuals in making those arrests. The new law would have permitted each of those shootings, he said.

Although he did not discuss the law directly, Mayor Frank A. Sedita suggested the Civil Service system be revised to permit faster appointment of qualified policemen. He asked that the State Legislature increase the maximum age for beginning policemen to 31 from 29 and that state aid for financial aid be provided for community public safety, like state aid to education.

The entire section of the law needed revision, Dist. Atty. John C. Little Jr. of Monroe County claimed, while reasserting the mayor's points.

Prof. Travis Lewin of the Syracuse University Law School supported the law, calling it a common sense measure in accord with modern morality. He said it was a modern social necessity, asserting that the police can use deadly physical force to protect their own lives and the lives of others.

Counterfire Pushed On Viet Protesters

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration spokesmen continue a drumbeat of counterfire to protests over U.S. policy in Vietnam but two of them have rejected new invitations to discuss the issue publicly in Congress.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara both formally turned down invitations tendered by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Neither turnout was unexpected. Both Rusk and McNamara often have indicated their preference for executive sessions, closed to public and news media—sessions that give administration leaders the right to censor military testimony before it's made public.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Foreign Relations Committee said earlier he doubted the invitations would be accepted because public questioning "would be very embarrassing" to top administration figures.

Rusk said in his reply to the

Steel Haulers Strike Threat Looms in Rift

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The threat of a second steel haulers strike loomed today with drivers accusing some trucking firms of refusing to rehire them.

William Kusley, leader of the bitter strike that tied up highway steel shipments for nine weeks, says he and about 50 other drivers are out of a job.

He said a dozen trucking firms in four states—Indiana, Michigan, Ohio and Pennsylvania—have violated the strike-ending agreement promising no reprisals or loss of seniority.

"If we can't get everybody back to work, we'll just have to pull all the trucks off the road. I don't know what else we can do," Kusley said Tuesday.

Most of the 10,000 to 20,000 haulers returned to work Tuesday as steel mills began pushing out orders backed up since the strike began in Gary, Ind. and spread through eight states.

Millionaire Has Wonderful Time In New Show Business Profession

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — What's a nice millionaire like G. D. Spradlin doing in the acting business? He's having the time of his life, that's what, and he doesn't care who knows it.

"There is something about acting that is a joyful experience," he says in warm, Oklahoma-accented tones. "I hope to stay in the profession for the rest of my days."

Unusual Decision

This is an unusual decision for Spradlin, who has known seval other careers. At least one of tryouts, at which any person them—as an oil man—proved seeking to become an actor can wildly successful.

The saga of Gervase Duan Spradlin — he uses the initials for his billing—began Aug. 31, 1925, in Daylight Town, Okla., where his parents were dirt farmers. After a boyhood of following a mule and a plow, he came to the conclusion that the farm life wasn't for him.

Spradlin sold life insurance to work his way through the University of Oklahoma Law School, later went to South America as legal officer for Phillips Petroleum.

"I stayed there three years, long enough to make a nest egg—I wasn't paying income tax out of the country," he said. "Then I went back to Oklahoma and put the nest egg into the oil business."

He got lucky—and rich enough to retire in 1960 at the age of 35. But the rangy Oklahoman grew restless and started up an electronics business. After two years of intense work, he had developed the enterprise to the point where he could retire again.

Studied at Miami

"This time I took my wife and two daughters to Florida," he related. "I studied at the University of Miami, taking a master's in history. But much of the time we just cruised the Bahamas, where the life is easy and the water is clear as gin."

"Unfortunately the life was too easy, and the shade of John Calvin came to me with the lesson that idleness is sin. I finally had to agree with Oliver Wendell Holmes Jr., who said: 'Just as all life is action and passion, a man must engage himself in the passions and actions of his time or risk being judged not to have lived.'"

Back Spradlin went to Oklahoma City. He had been county manager for John F. Kennedy's 1960 campaign, and in 1965 he decided to enter the race for mayor. He ran a poor second in a field of four.

Then a happy accident occurred: "The Oklahoma City Mummies is the second oldest repertory company in America and one of the few that is self-supporting—a tribute more to the loyalty of the citizens than to the quality of the productions. The company helps maintain this loyalty by Mummies

LOCK HAVEN, Pa. (AP) — Accused mass murderer Leo Held died today at Lock Haven Hospital of bullet wounds suffered in a blazing gun battle with police Monday.

A hospital administrator said Held's death about 6:30 a.m. resulted from a blood clot to his heart.

Held, a 40-year-old former school board member, was charged with murdering six persons and wounding six others during a shooting spree.

His death rules out the chance officers will ever learn what triggered the rampage. They had not questioned him because of the critical nature of his wounds and because of fear of violating his constitutional rights.

Funeral services were set for today for one of the victims, Elmer Weaver, 37, who worked with Held at a paper company in this central Pennsylvania town, as did four of the others killed.

The sixth victim was Floyd Quiggle, 27, Held's neighbor, who was slain after the shootings at the Hammermill Paper Co., while he and his wife were in bed. Mrs. Quiggle, critically wounded, is in Williamsport.

Note Larceny At Byrne's

City police reported a number of petit larcenies of parts of cars parked in Byrne Chevrolet's lot on Broadway, recently.

Hardest hit was a 1967 Camaro owned by Mark Perry of Box 187, Hurley. Thieves stole a four-barrel carburetor, control linkage, a battery and a reverbulator unit.

A radio and speaker were stolen from a 1965 Impala owned by Joseph Misasi of 78 Spring Street while the rear window of a 1962 convertible, owned by Bruce Donnelly of Stone Ridge, was ripped out.

Today In Washington

Cite Intimidation

WASHINGTON (AP) — A State Department official says 14 white children from three Communist embassies have been beaten and intimidated by other students at the predominantly Negro public school they attend.

Harold A. Pace of the department's protocol division said Tuesday the children of Polish, Czechoslovakian and Bulgarian embassy officials have been subjected to brutal treatment at Lincoln Junior High School. One boy was hospitalized as a result he said.

"This is very bad for our image overseas," said Pace, adding the State Department would like to see the embassy children transferred to another school. But a recent court ruling may make this impossible, officials said.

"By international agreements we must protect the diplomats and their families," said Pace. "I don't see how we can justify subjecting them to continuous harassment."

Liquor Sales Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tax collections indicate Americans are accelerating their intake of alcoholic beverages.

The Internal Revenue Service reported that alcohol tax collections for the year which ended June 30 reached a record $4.08 billion, up 6.8 per cent from the previous fiscal year.

Tobacco tax collections increased just three-tenths of one per cent to $2.08 billion, shy of the 1965 record of $2.15 billion in fiscal 1964-65.

Set Own Deadlines

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government officials say 37 school districts in 17 Southern and border states have voluntarily set their own deadlines for meeting federal desegregation requirements.

All have agreed to eliminate dual Negro-white school systems within the next three years, federal officials said Tuesday.

They said another 44 of the total 4,600 Southern school districts have submitted plans aimed at meeting federal standards over a slightly longer period.

O'Toole Given Starring Role In 'Mr. Chips'

LONDON (AP) — Peter O'Toole, the British actor who brought Lawrence of Arabia to the screen, was named today for the starring role in a musical remake of "Goodbye Mr. Chips."

Pop singer Petula Clark has been picked to play Chips' wife—a part that made Greer Garson famous in the 1939 Hollywood movie.

The new musical will be shot in England. The governors of Harrow, one of England's most illustrious schools, have given permission for exteriors to be filmed there.

In the original movie Robert Donat played Mr. Chips, the kindly schoolmaster who submerged his life in the traditions of the old school.

Rocky's Tax Incentive:

Eyes Jobs, Business for Slums

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller says he will recommend to the 1968 Legislature passage of a state tax incentive program to lure business and jobs to city slums.

Addressing a conference of state business and labor leaders Tuesday, the governor said the program would aim at making "business investment in disadvantaged neighborhoods more attractive and feasible."

"This program," he continued, "will probably offer business and property tax credits to firms locating or expanding operations in these areas."

The governor said details of the plan would be spelled out when the program is ready for presentation to the Legislature. It was one of a number of proposals recommended by the parley.

Rockefeller opened the Governor's Workshop in increasing Job Opportunities for the Disadvantaged in mid-morning and returned again in the afternoon.

Mail Returns For Tax Refund To Mass. Office

ALBANY—Will you have a refund due on your 1967 Federal income tax return? If you do and you live in Northeastern New York State, you can mail your return on or after Jan. 1, 1968 to: North Atlantic Service Center, 310 Lowell Street, Andover, Mass. 01812.

A preaddressed envelope for this purpose will be included in the tax forms package mailed each taxpayer at the end of the year.

Returns, with refund due, that are mailed direct to the Service Center, will be speedily processed and will expedite the refund due.

Taxpayers who owe tax, should mail their returns with remittances on or after Jan. 1, 1968 to: District Director, Internal Revenue Service, 161 Washington Avenue, Albany, N. Y. 12210.

Men Fined, Confined

Two men were fined $20 and confined for 15 days after pleading guilty to a charge of public intoxication this morning in City Court. The men were arrested yesterday afternoon after complaints of their throwing beer cans out in the street in front of 96 Clinton Avenue were investigated by city police. Confined were Thomas Sanchez, 32, of 55 North Front Street and Santiago DeJesus, 41, of Partition Street, Saugerties. The case against Jose DeJesus-Ortiz, 25, of 96 Clinton Avenue was adjourned until Oct. 31 for trial. He is also charged with public intoxication.

Is the interim the 200 persons attending held panel discussions to report on ideas for job placement, job training and creation of new jobs for the underprivileged.

Four of the eight panels called for a tax incentive. "The state should offer incentives to firms going into the slums, in the form of temporary or graduated tax relief," said a

Peter Otley, a union official and spokesman for one panel. The need for better coordination of job-training information was cited by six of the panels.

"There's just not enough knowledge of what's going on," said Donald Rogers, spokesman for another of the panels.

Favor Manpower Agency
"The strange part of it is that a lot is going on," added Rogers, ers, an officer of the International Union of Operating Engineers. "We recommend an overall manpower agency in the state."

Rockefeller told the group: "In the final analysis, only the private sector of the economy can provide meaningful, productive employment on a scale vast enough to match the dimensions of our employment

Mrs. Perkins Due in Court On Thursday
A South Manor Avenue woman was arrested in Kingston Hospital yesterday afternoon, taken before Judge Hubert A. Richter and charged with homicide in the death of her husband Monday night.

Mrs. Romia Perkins, 42, will face a preliminary hearing on the charge tomorrow morning in city court. The incident which led to the homicide charge occurred at the Perkins home on 89 South Manor Avenue. Dead was Clarence Perkins, 40, from a stab wound in the left chest. Mrs. Perkins was reportedly stabbed in the incident and was treated at Kingston Hospital.

Mrs. Perkins is represented by G. Thomas Rea Jr., an attorney from Saugerties.

LEGAL NOTICES

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON AMENDING THE AUTOMOBILE JUNK YARD ORDINANCE OF THE TOWN OF ULSTER
Notice is hereby given that the Town Board of the Town of Ulster, will meet at the Lake Katrine Grange Hall, Lake Katrine, N. Y. on Thursday, November 2nd, 1967, at 7:00 o'clock P. M., Eastern Standard Time, to consider amending the Automobile Junk Yard Ordinance which was adopted by the Town Board of Ulster on September 1, 1964, and to hold a public hearing thereon. At such hearing any person may be heard in favor or against any or all of the proposed amendments. In general terms the amendments would: substitute the Town Board where the ordinance now indicates the Planning Board; would eliminate the Section of the ordinance which deals with buying or selling to minors; would eliminate the word "any" from Section 15, subdivision (a) which reads: "Such records shall at all times be available for inspection by 'any' peace officer."

STATE OF NEW YORK
DEPARTMENT OF STATE
Albany, September 30, 1967
Pursuant to the provisions of section seven-two of the Election Law, the following Proposition Number One, and proposed amendments to the State Constitution, submitted to the voters of the State for approval or disapproval, at the general election on November 5, 1968, are hereby published for the information of the voters.

Abstract of Proposition Number One
Chapter 715 of the Laws of 1967, to be known as the Transportation Capital Facilities Bond Act, authorizes the creation of a state debt in an amount not to exceed in the aggregate two billion five hundred million dollars to provide monies to be used, in such manner and upon such terms and conditions as the Legislature may prescribe, for the acquisition, construction, reconstruction and improvement of transportation capital facilities and equipment and for the acquisition of real property and interests in real property required therefor. Separate allocations of the monies to be received from the sale of bonds are made for: (a) State highways, parkways and arterial highways (one billion two hundred fifty million dollars); (b) rapid transit, railroad, omnibus or marine transportation capital facilities and equipment (one billion dollars); (c) airport or aviation capital facilities and equipment (two hundred fifty million dollars). The statute provides for the submission to the voters at the 1967 general election of the following proposition or question: "shall chapter 715 of the laws of nineteen hundred sixty-seven, known as the transportation capital facilities bond act, authorizing the creation of a state debt in the amount of two billion five hundred million dollars to provide monies for the acquisition, construction, reconstruction and improvement of certain highway, mass transportation, airport and aviation facilities and equipment, be approved?"

Form of Submission of Proposition Number One
Transportation Bond Issue
Shall chapter 715 of the laws of nineteen hundred sixty-seven, known as the transportation capital facilities bond act, authorizing the creation of a state debt in the amount of two billion five hundred million dollars to provide monies for the acquisition, construction, reconstruction and improvement of certain highway, mass transportation, airport and aviation facilities and equipment, be approved?"

Abstract of Proposed Amendment Number One
The purpose and effect of this proposed amendment is to permit the Legislature to make or authorize making the State liable for the payment of the principal and interest on bonds of a public corporation (the New York Job Development Authority) created pursuant to and for the purposes specified in Article VII, Section 8 of the Constitution, in a principal amount not to exceed two hundred million dollars rather than fifty million dollars as now provided. Article VII, Section 8 provides for the organization of such public corporation for the purpose of making loans to non-profit corporations in aid of industrial development to improve employment opportunities in any area of the State.

Form of Submission of Proposed Amendment Number One
Job Development Authority
Shall the proposed amendment to Article ten, Section seven (renumbered eight) of the Constitution, increasing from fifty million dollars to two hundred million dollars the maximum principal amount of bonds, for which the State may be made liable, issued by a public corporation created for the purpose of making loans to non-profit corporations in aid of industrial development to improve employment opportunities in any area of the State, be approved?"

Abstract of Proposed Amendment Number Two
The purpose and effect of this proposed amendment is to permit the State to construct and maintain not more than thirty miles of ski trails, thirty to eighty feet wide, together with appurtenances thereto, on forest preserve land on the north and east slopes of Hoffman, Blue Ridge and Peaked Hill Mountains in Essex County, be approved?"

Form of Submission of Proposed Amendment Number Two
Blue Ridge Ski Center
Shall the proposed amendment to Article fourteen, Section one, of the Constitution, permitting the State to construct and maintain not more than thirty miles of ski slopes, thirty to eighty feet wide, together with appurtenances thereto, on forest preserve land on the north and east slopes of Hoffman, Blue Ridge and Peaked Hill Mountains in Essex County, be approved?"

BEER, WINE, CIDER AND LIQUOR LICENSES
NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that License Beer, Wine, Cider and Liquor No. 38RL1250 has been issued to the undersigned to sell beer, wine, cider and liquor at retail in a restaurant under the Alcoholic Beverage Control Law at Joe's Restaurant, 248 Partition Street, Saugerties, Ulster County, N. Dear Abby

Psychologist Best Answer

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Last week a neighbor came to our door with a disturbing story. It seems our son, age 10, had undressed her son, age 6, and whatever else took place, she was supposed to have seen.

We have never had any trouble like this before. Our son's exact words were, "I don't know what I did wrong."

This neighbor didn't know that there was a third boy there, who was older. When I questioned him, he assured me that nothing serious took place.

We appreciated this neighbor telling us, so that if we do have a problem we can correct it in time, but what we didn't appreciate was her telling the whole neighborhood.

The next day, none of our son's friends would play with him.

Three days later, the POLICE called to question us in reference to this incident. (Such tales can really get out of proportion, can't they?)

What should we do if they continue to press the issue?

DEAR DAD: If by "pressing the issue" you mean they continue to persecute your child by refusing to allow their children to play with him, moving from the neighborhood would not be too drastic, it's at all possible. Tales of this nature live a lot longer than they should.

If you are convinced that what took place was nothing "serious," and only a normal incident of exploring, due to natural boyish curiosity, forget it. But better schedule a chat between your boy and a competent child psychologist to be sure the child hasn't an unhealthy (or abnormal) preoccupation with sex.

DEAR ABBY: I am an 18-year-old boy with a problem. First let me explain that I AM clean, I LOOK clean and have never been in any kind of trouble, but I guess you would not say that I was "in" with the popular crowd. I have liked this 16-year-old girl for a long time, and finally got up the nerve to ask her for a movie date. She accepted and I thought we had a good time, but the next time I asked her for a date she said she was busy.

I asked her again, and then she told me that her father didn't want her to go out with me. I asked her why, and she said her father doesn't give reasons, he just gives orders. This bothered me a lot because I only saw her on the night I took her out. I finally got up the nerve to call her father and ask him why he didn't like me.

He said he liked me fine, and when I told him what his daughter had told me, he said he never said anything of the kind.

Could the father be lying? or could the girl have lied to me?

I need your advice. LIED TO DEAR LIEB: Obviously, SOMEBODY lied. Either way, my advice to you is to forget the girl.

DEAR ABBY: A relative of mine invited me to a buffet-style supper for out-of-town company. While I was eating, without any warning whatsoever, the hostess stuck her fork into my macaroni salad. Abby, all I said was, "Please, if you want some, get some of your own."

She looked at me as tho I was in the wrong and in a very snotty tone she said, "Well, pardon ME!" Then she turned her back on me.

Then I said to her, "O, that's all right, as long as you already started it, you may as well finish it because I'm not going to eat it now." She didn't say another word to me all evening. Naturally, this spoiled the whole party for me.

Abby, what I want to know is, was she out of order for eating from off my plate? Or was I wrong in telling her I didn't like it? You know germs are passed from one to another thru the mouth and I try to be as careful as possible. CAREFUL!

DEAR CAREFUL: DON'T know how old you are, but you sound like a couple of kids. It is not the best manners to "taste" the food on another's plate, neither is it anything about which to become exercised. A closed mouth is a good precaution against "germs." And it also has other advantages.

There was a day when no one differentiated between the one-over-one and two-over-one. The was some slight differentiation in that you would respond one-over-one with a bad hand and a four card suit, while the two-over-one required either a fair hand, a good suit, or both.

Gradually, people started raising the point count requirements for two-over-one, and today this response promises a minimum of a good 10 points and usually shows at least 11.

Some people even go so far as to promise a second bid. We don't do that, but we try to find a second bid and will do so if partner rebids in a new suit.

This makes it possible to use fragment bids after a two-over-one response. North could have forced with three clubs. Hence, his four club jump was a fragment bid and showed diamond support and a singleton club.

South had a minimum 10 points for his two diamond call, but the fragment bid was just what he wanted to hear. Obviously all his cards were going to work for him at a diamond contract, and he bid four no-trump to check for aces.

He ran no risk with that bid. He was going to five diamonds anyway and would pass complacently if North showed just one ace.

As is usually the case with lay-down slam contracts, there are any number of ways for North and South to get to six diamonds. It is mighty easy when you see all 52 cards. It wasn't easy at the tables in the duplicate game where it occurred. Only two pairs out of nine got there.

'Kismet' Eye-Filling Show

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — With music like "Stranger in Paradise," an Arabian Night romance for a plot and the rich oriental colors of a lavish production, ABC's "Kismet" Tuesday night could hardly miss. It was an ear-satisfying and eye-filling 90 minutes—particularly for television viewers who saw it in all its lovely hues.

made three years ago at the peak of their popularity. It was pell-mell comedy, full of sight gags, one-line jokes, sudden changes of pace but often incomprehensible bits of dialogue in muffled Liverpool accents.

Movies Take Over NBC
NBC filled its entire evening from 7:30 to 11 with movies—a situation which pessimists insist will be commonplace in television before too long. It followed "A Hard Day's Night" with an old Jerry Lewis comedy, "Cinderfella," with Anna Maria Albergheiti as his leading woman. Thus Miss Albergheiti competed for audiences simultaneously on two rival networks.

Tonight ABC's entire evening schedule will be taken over by special broadcasts. First there will be a showing of the 10-year-old film version of "The King and I" with Deborah Kerr, Yul Brynner and Rodgers and Hammerstein score. Then comes a program built around Sophia Loren and shot mostly at her home near Rome.

Quick Pick Ups
The plot and its ramifications did have a tendency to bog down occasionally, but there was soon a musical number and things picked up again.

Anna Maria Albergheiti, in the role of the young girl, acquitted herself well. She is very pretty and has a sweet true soprano voice. George Chakiris, as the handsome caliph, was a delight in the big dance production number.

In the Broadway play, the memorable role was that of the crafty beggar, Jose Ferrer in the television version seemed mature and downright portly when he should have been dashing. In fact he resembled King George V dressed for a masquerade ball more than an arrogant poet of ancient Baghdad living by his wits. His singing voice, while adequate, was not particularly impressive.

Barbara Eden, who must be pretty familiar with this Arabian Nights business after two years of playing TV genie, contributed the more sly comedy moments as the faithless wife of the vizier and Hans Conried as her foolish husband played his part in almost slapstick fashion.

The real star of "Kismet" in any production is Alexander Borodin, who composed the lovely music which was given words and adapted to stage use.

Earlier in the evening NBC broadcast "A Hard Day's Night," the critically acclaimed film starring the Beatles and made three years ago at the peak of their popularity. It was pell-mell comedy, full of sight gags, one-line jokes, sudden changes of pace but often incomprehensible bits of dialogue in muffled Liverpool accents.

The real star of "Kismet" in any production is Alexander Borodin, who composed the lovely music which was given words and adapted to stage use.

Earlier in the evening NBC broadcast "A Hard Day's Night," the critically acclaimed film starring the Beatles and made three years ago at the peak of their popularity. It was pell-mell comedy, full of sight gags, one-line jokes, sudden changes of pace but often incomprehensible bits of dialogue in muffled Liverpool accents.

Movies Take Over NBC
NBC filled its entire evening from 7:30 to 11 with movies—a situation which pessimists insist will be commonplace in television before too long. It followed "A Hard Day's Night" with an old Jerry Lewis comedy, "Cinderfella," with Anna Maria Albergheiti as his leading woman. Thus Miss Albergheiti competed for audiences simultaneously on two rival networks.

Tonight ABC's entire evening schedule will be taken over by special broadcasts. First there will be a showing of the 10-year-old film version of "The King and I" with Deborah Kerr, Yul Brynner and Rodgers and Hammerstein score. Then comes a program built around Sophia Loren and shot mostly at her home near Rome.

Quick Pick Ups
The plot and its ramifications did have a tendency to bog down occasionally, but there was soon a musical number and things picked up again.

Anna Maria Albergheiti, in the role of the young girl, acquitted herself well. She is very pretty and has a sweet true soprano voice. George Chakiris, as the handsome caliph, was a delight in the big dance production number.

In the Broadway play, the memorable role was that of the crafty beggar, Jose Ferrer in the television version seemed mature and downright portly when he should have been dashing. In fact he resembled King George V dressed for a masquerade ball more than an arrogant poet of ancient Baghdad living by his wits. His singing voice, while adequate, was not particularly impressive.

Barbara Eden, who must be pretty familiar with this Arabian Nights business after two years of playing TV genie, contributed the more sly comedy moments as the faithless wife of the vizier and Hans Conried as her foolish husband played his part in almost slapstick fashion.

Transportation Facilities Lacking in Region: Survey

Transportation in all its forms in the Mid-Hudson Region is failing to keep pace with urban growth, or else has been slow to realize its potential as a generator and shaper of new development.

This is the general conclusion in a report soon to be released by the staff of the Mid-Hudson Pattern for Progress, Inc. on the seven-county area's transportation deficiencies and how the state's upcoming $2.5 billion transportation bond issue could offer possible remedies.

For Rural Purposes

The region's highways, in general, the report says, "were built to serve a dominantly rural area, which is now rapidly becoming urban."

"Rail service, too, is lagging behind its potential for serving the area."

"Local bus service is declining, a victim of the motor car, but still badly needed in our central cities to serve the elderly, the poor, and those, who for various reasons, cannot drive."

"And the region still lacks an airport capable of handling a modern schedule of airline service to meet the needs of business and industry."

Bond Timely

This first one deals with transportation "because of the timeliness of the state's forthcoming bond issue referendum," according to C. David Locks, Pattern's president, "and is intended to be only an initial step in our agency's continuing study and efforts in this vital area of regional development."

Patterns, which is based at the State University College, New Paltz, is a citizen's regional planning, research, and development corporation, specifically concerned with helping guide the orderly future development of the region's seven counties: Dutchess, Ulster, Orange, Greene, Columbia, Putnam and Sullivan.

The bond issue, which goes before the voters Nov. 7, is a major effort to alleviate the region's transportation deficiencies, the agency contends, "to strengthen and promote a more viable and mobile system, which, in turn, would offer the region's people greater opportunities in their everyday lives, both now and in the future."

Specifically, the state's program promises that work will be accelerated on Interstate Rt. 84, a major east-west route through Orange, Dutchess and Putnam Counties; the East West Arterial in the Poughkeepsie Area, and the Hudson River Expressway in northern Westchester, Putnam and southern Dutchess counties.

In addition, the program provides for improving bus service, adding new general aviation airports and possible electrification of New York Central's Harlem and Hudson Divisions to Brewster and Poughkeepsie.

List Breakdown

Statewide, the bond issue breaks down to $1-1/4 billion to speed highway construction, $1 billion to modernize commuter railroads and expand and improve transit systems, and $250 million to facilitate air travel.

These funds will be supplemented by an additional $1.85 billion in federal monies, the report continues, and $1 billion from local and authority funds for a total transportation expenditure of $5.25 billion.

Five Mid-Hudson counties (Columbia, Ulster, Dutchess, Orange and Putnam) will be sharing a total state highway allocation of $414 million with Westchester and Rockland Counties in what is known as District 8 by the State Department of Transportation.

Sullivan County will be sharing $150 million of highway money with several counties to the north, and the Binghamton area to the west; and Greene, $282 million with six counties in the Albany-Schenectady area.

But more important, the report says, these bond issue monies are scheduled to be spent in the next five years, and for highways, this will mean about a 40 per cent speed-up in construction throughout the state, compared to the five years ending in 1966.

The emphasis, too, will be on regional highway systems, principally the heavily traveled limited access highways (expressways) and not on local streets.

Highway construction in general, however, is expected to be stimulated throughout the region because of the additional monies.

2 More Groups Oppose Charter

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Additional opposition to the proposed new state constitution was on record today in the wake of action by members of two statewide groups.

The legislative committee and the constitution committee of the County Officers Association announced Tuesday it had asked the association's members to oppose the new charter.

Meanwhile, in Utica, Delegates to the annual State Grange convention approved a resolution expressing disapproval of the proposed document, which is to be voted on in the Nov. 7 election.

The county officers' committee said the association should oppose adoption because the voters were not permitted to ballot separately on controversial issues and because some of its provisions would lead to an increase in state taxes.

The grange said it was opposed to the proposal because of educational and judicial provisions.

Social Agency Hears Review Of Related Councils Work

A panel discussion of related job that must be done, what it will require, how it will be organized. Planning in this sense is immediate and useful, he said. This planning process is the aim of the Social Agencies.

Participating in the program were council representatives Dr. Edward F. Shea, family and child welfare; Dr. Herbert Derman, health, and Dr. Dexter Arnold, leisure time and character building.

Prior to the panel, Clifford Henze, co-chairman of the Citizens' Survey Committee, outlined the survey progress and aims. "We must focus on the most of the planning needs for the service. Dr. Derman reviewed the overall health program started in the county in 1946. He said the program could be strengthened if vacant posts could be filled and additional positions made available.

A question and answer period followed. The November meeting of the council will be held Tuesday, Nov. 14, at the YWCA.

For Transit Borrowing

$1 Billion State Interest Tab

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York State probably would have to pay about $1 billion in interest charges on the $2.5 billion borrowing sought by Gov. Rockefeller for his transportation program.

Rough Estimates

This is the prospect foreseen in "rough estimates" made by the Republican governor's budget division and by State Comptroller Arthur Levitt, the only Democratic department head in state government.

Levitt's office said it was impossible to make a precise estimate of interest costs because Rockefeller has not spelled out his plans for issuing the transportation bonds. If the voters approve the borrowing.

For that reason, the comptroller has withheld his support for the bond proposal, which appears as Proposition 1 on the Nov. 7 election ballot.

ALDERMAN DISQUALIFIED — Alderman Charlotte Whitton has been disqualified from city council in Ottawa, Canada. In a judgement released Tuesday Justice Ferguson of the Supreme Court of Ontario, declared Ald. Whitton's seat vacant. Justice Ferguson ruled that she had forfeited her seat by bringing a lawsuit against the city early this summer. She challenged the validity of a new ten-year lease granted the Central Canada Exhibition Association to operate Lansdowne Park. The fiery former mayor has no right to appeal and must leave city council at once. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

The More You Make Takes More to Live

WASHINGTON (AP) — The more money you make the more it takes to live, says a government report showing a "moderate" standard of living costs a city family of four more than $9,000.

"Psychologically, the family feels as much pressure as before because it wants more," said Commissioner Arthur M. Ross of the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The report shows a "moderate" living standard cost 39 per cent more than in 1959 when the last such study was made. Fifteen per cent of the increase was in prices. The other 24 per cent was in real improvements in the form of better food, more autos and other family needs and desires.

Ross emphasized the study does not represent a typical American family, but provides a yardstick to measure the spending habits of other families.

The median income of the nation's 48 million families is about $7,500 a year.

The study was based on a theoretical 38-year-old man with a steady job earning $11,000 a year, his wife who doesn't work, of living.

Relocation Study Started Of Accident-Prone Rt. 209

BY LYNN MULVANEY

Accident-prone Route 209 is apparently about to be bypassed.

The long-awaited route relocation study of the road from the Town of Hurley to the Sullivan County line, has just been instituted. Special preference is to be given the two most critical segments of the road, Stone Ridge and Ellenville.

High Priority

The announced action on the part of the State Department of Transportation followed bumper to bumper inquiry by Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson who cited the pressing need for rerouting 209 in a letter to E. Burton Hughes, executive deputy commissioner.

Hughes replied saying the need was recognized and that the route has a high priority on the listing of projects requiring attention.

Wilson had cited the newly-opened Ulster County Community College in Stone Ridge and the new VAW aluminum plant in Ellenville as contributing to traffic trauma.

The commissioner answered saying "we anticipate that the preliminary work of updating traffic values and studying alternate choices for the route

Local transportation issues and opportunities as they pertain to the forthcoming state transportation bond issue referendum which allocates $414 million for Ulster and four other Mid-Hudson counties are discussed in a story on Page 38.

Improvement may take another six to nine months."

Assemblyman Wilson said he realized that there were many problems connected with the project, and said that he had been assured by Commissioner Hughes that "before any decisions are made by our department, and before we can schedule a public hearing, we will be more than happy to advise you and the officials of the communities affected so that a coordinated plan can be developed."

Wilson said he was gratified by the quick action taken by the department and that he was pleased with the high priority given the route.

Death Toll

Statistics on fatal accidents occurring on Route 209 during the last few years show that an average of five persons lose their lives each year traveling in the Stone Ridge-Kerhonkson-Ellenville area of the route.

So far this year three have been killed. In 1966 there were 12. In '65, four died on the narrow and winding highway.

The fatal accidents cannot be chalked up to teenagers, for again statistics show that all fatalities during the past three years, with the exception of two small children, involved persons between the ages of 24 and 78.

Police agencies are inclined to think, therefore, that the road, as much as the drivers, may be at fault. Records also show that a good many of the fatal accidents involved only one car and several were head-on collisions, and pedestrian fatalities.

Not All Fatal

Not all the accidents are fatal however. Many so-called "fender-bender" mishaps take place almost daily and the toll of personal injury occurrences mount steadily.

Just a little less than two weeks ago an elderly Lyonsville couple was hospitalized from injuries sustained when the car in which they were riding on Route 209 swerved to avoid hitting a school bus coming out of side road.

Residents of the area, especially in the vicinity of Stone Ridge have, for several years, been urging action on the part of the state to secure a by-pass. Both private protest and organized community action precipitated the movement to have a state study.

2 Dead in Ellenville Fire

BY WALTER S. CLARK JR.

Ulster County's worst fire in years early today raced through the four-story wooden frame Wayside Inn on Canal Street in Ellenville, snuffing out at least two lives and forcing upwards of 35 guests to flee to safety.

The fire, that was fought by fire units from a dozen communities including Kingston and Ulster Hose Co. 5, was one of two fatal blazes in the area. An elderly Catskill woman perished in a Tuesday night fire that gutted her apartment.

Authorities said that two bodies had been found in the smoldering debris at Ellenville.

The victims were tentatively identified as Solomon Tannenbaum, 74, who resided in the oldest Revolutionary house in the area, and Charles Levisdowsky, an employee of the bar and grill on the first floor of the building.

According to available information, Tannenbaum had checked in at the hotel several days ago as a guest. His Saugerties home is the oldest historic residence in that community, and under the house is a tunnel reportedly used by slaves.

No further details of the fatalities were available at noon.

Victim of the Catskill blaze was identified by Leeds State Police as Mrs. Catherine B. McLane, 74, who resided in an apartment house at 80 Spring Street in that Greene County community.

Several firemen were treated for smoke poisoning at the Ellenville Community Hospital. At least two persons were injured as they leaped from the burning hotel, a landmark in the Ellenville area.

Occupants of the hotel were awakened by Tony Russo, operator of a bar and grill in the Wayside building, who smelled smoke and discovered the fire, and Patrolman Leonard Quick who was on patrol when he observed the fire and summoned the village fire department.

Russo and Quick were credited with saving the lives of several of the hotel guests and employees. The two men raced through smoke-filled hallways pounding on doors of the rooms and shouting to arouse the sleeping occupants and order them to evacuate the building.

The hotel, two restaurants, law offices, a beauty salon, and a photography studio, were involved in the blaze which roared out of control for hours—a raging inferno.

Many of the hotel occupants leaped from second floor windows as the stairways were blocked by fire and smoke. Others made their way down fire escapes and several of the older people were carried down ladders by firefighters, who braved the flames and stifling smoke that erupted from the burning structure and at times licked the fire ladders.

Ellenville Fire Chief George Garrison, assisted by fire unit officials from neighboring communities, directed more than 200 firefighters as they battled the flames. Police Chief Abe Rand and his men obtained a list of names of people who were in the hotel when the fire started. A check was made at police headquarters to determine anyone who had not been accounted for as firemen searched the debris.

Russo and Patrolman Quick discovered the fire before 2:25 a. m. and sounded the alarm. Upon arrival at the scene Chief Garrison summoned assistance from outside communities through Mutual Aid. In addition to the three Ellenville companies, units were dispatched to assist from Kerhonkson, Pine Bush, Nanuet, Wawarsing, Cragmoor, Walker Valley, Woodbourne, Shawangunk Valley.

10 MIGs Red Toll In Biggest Attack

SAIGON (AP) — American jet bombers flew through challenging Communist MIGs today to pound the Phuc Yen airfield again in a quick followup to the massive strike Tuesday on North Vietnam's biggest air base.

Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs from Thailand bombed Phuc Yen's main 9,170-foot runway for a second time and also hit maintenance and support facilities north of the field which were untouched in the strikes Tuesday.

A U.S. military spokesman said the raiders tangled twice today with MIG interceptors but reported no kills for either side.

U.S. pilots reported the North Vietnamese had filled in some of the bomb craters from the first assault during the night.

The U.S. Command reported earlier that 10 MIGs were destroyed or damaged and the air base put out of action for at least five or six days in the biggest raid of the war.

U.S. headquarters disclosed that four American planes were lost over North Vietnam Tuesday instead of two as previously announced. But a spokesman said none was shot down in the Phuc Yen area.

Four fliers were missing. The day's losses raised to 711 the announced total of American combat planes downed over the north.

While the tempo of the air war increased, the Viet Cong unleashed light mortar attacks on six closely bunched towns and an airfield in Kien Hoa Province, 30 to 45 miles south-southwest of Saigon in the Mekong Delta.

A U.S. spokesman said a two-hour barrage before dawn killed 11 persons and wounded 48, most of them Vietnamese civilians, although one U.S. government civilian employee was among the wounded.

U.S. headquarters announced a new search-and-destroy sweep in the central highlands—Operation MacArthur—by perhaps 8,000 men of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division but said after 12 days of the hunt for elements of three North Vietnamese divisions, no significant contact had been made.

The U.S. Command said four of the enemy had been killed and 16 Americans wounded. More than 100 Air Force, Marine and Navy planes struck in four alternating waves in the attack on the Phuc Yen airfield 18 miles northwest of Hanoi, a target on the Pentagon's prohibited list until Tuesday.

Aerial photos showed nine MIGs wrecked on the ground, and an Air Force Phantom crew shot down one of the MIGs that managed to get up to challenge the raiders. The U.S. pilots said they also punched craters all along the 9,170-foot runway and knocked out four missile sites and three anti-aircraft sites.

U.S. officers said one Navy Phantom jet was shot down by ground fire after leaving Phuc Yen and the two crewmen were missing. Elsewhere over North Vietnam, an Air Force F105 Thunderchief, a Navy A4 Skyhawk and another Navy F4 Phantom were lost, but the pilots of the Skyhawk and the Thunderchief were rescued by helicopters.

The MIG21 kill was reported by Maj. William L. Kirk, 35, of Rayville, La., and Lt. Theodore R. Bongartz 25, of Cottonville, Md., after what Kirk described as "a good old-fashioned dogfight."

Israel, Egypt Trade Charges

UNITED NATIONS N.Y. (AP) — A new Israeli attack on Egypt's major oil refineries at Suez was reported today as the Soviet Union sought support for its demand that the U.N. Security Council condemn Israel as the aggressor in Tuesday's battle of Suez.

Newsmen visiting the Egyptian port at the southern end of the Suez Canal reported an Israeli plane penetrated Egyptian air space today and fired its machine guns at firemen fighting the fires at the refineries hit by Israeli artillery the day before.

The newsmen said Egyptian anti-aircraft guns drove off the Israeli intruder. There was no word on casualties.

The Israeli army reported trouble on another frontier. It said two Israeli soldiers were killed, another was seriously wounded and an Arab was killed in a clash between troops and Arab infiltrators seven miles north of the Damya Bridge spanning the Jordan River.

At the United Nations, there seemed little chance the Russians could round up enough votes to secure approval of their resolution condemning Israel.

Chief U.S. delegate Arthur J. Goldberg brushed aside the Soviet resolution, terming it a "midnight rerun of this stale record." He introduced a resolution calling on the council to condemn all violations of the Arab-Israeli cease-fire.

Israel and Egypt blamed each other for triggering the fierce artillery and mortar duel at the southern end of the Suez Canal. Fires still roared today in Egypt's two major oil refineries in the city of Suez which produced 80 per cent of Egypt's petroleum. The pipeline terminal at nearby Port Taufiq also was ablaze.

Gov. Hamid Mahmoud of Suez told visiting newsmen one refinery was almost completely destroyed Tuesday and the other was half flattened. He said three civilians were killed and 60 wounded by the Israeli shelling, while an Egyptian community said military casualties were three killed and 12 wounded.

Israel filed a counter complaint accusing the Egyptians of "open aggression and violations of the cease-fire resolution."

Dutchess Sheriff Cleared by State

A State investigation has exonerated the staff of Dutchess County Sheriff Lawrence M. Quinlan of negligence in the Sept. 28 jail break at the County Jail in Poughkeepsie, in which three prisoners including an accused murder of a retired New York City policeman took part.

A general finding released by the State Commission of Correction exonerated Sheriff Quinlan but found fault with some of the county's training practices, which included inspection of cells with only one officer present.

The report emphasized that a minimum of two guards should make the inspections on regular schedule to check inmates and the cell blocks.

The state findings noted that availability of civilian clothing to prisoners "invited temptation" and recommended closer control over such apparel.

Salary increases for jail employees to bring the pay to private industrial levels, was recommended as the Commission report contended that the greatest deterrent to escapes was capable and well trained personnel.

The report of the commission's investigation was made by Raymond Narohn, senior inspector for the State Commission of Correction.

The largest escape incident recorded at the Dutchess jail occurred on Sept. 28 and involved three inmates. They were Richard J. Kent, 15, of Poughkeepsie, accused of the murder of Joseph Murphy, 74, a retired New York City patrolman, who was found dead in his Clinton Corners Road home near Salt Point on June 25; Edward C. Whitney, 21, of Poughkeepsie, who was accused of grand larceny and Joseph J. Lalak, 27, of New York City, who was under indictment on charges of grand larceny and burglary.

The escapes were apprehended by State Police near the Port Authority Terminal in New York City, not far from a tavern after less than a day of freedom.

After an investigation immediately after the escape, the sheriff's committee of the Dutchess County Board of Supervisors concluded that there was no negligence on the part of the sheriff's staff.

The escape of the trio was the seventh break-out at the jail since 1962.

Bill to Ban Bank Lottery Sales Moves

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill that would prohibit federally insured or chartered banks from selling lottery tickets—labeled a “severe blow” to New York State’s lottery—has moved a step closer to final action.

The Senate Banking Committee Tuesday agreed by a 7-6 vote to send the House-approved measure to the floor of the Senate.

Meanwhile, a New York Democrat who is a House sponsor of the proposal said that the New York lottery was a failure and that Gov. Rockefeller did not have the political courage to admit it.

Rep. John M. Murphy of Staten Island made the comment Tuesday in a House speech reporting the Senate committee action.

In approving the proposal, the Senate committee accepted an amendment made by a subcommittee that would permit banks to handle record-keeping and distribution functions for a lottery.

In Albany, State Tax Commissioner Joseph Murphy, said the bill would be a “severe blow to the New York State Lottery for education, as presently constituted.”

The commissioner added, however, that the bill, if finally approved, would not become effective until April 1, 1968, thus giving Rockefeller and the Legislature time to take corrective action.

About 2,500 banks sell the $1 lottery tickets. They represent 60 per cent of the outlets, which also include hotels, motels and some government offices.

In another development, Ernest Bird, of the State Lottery Commission, told a business group in Albany that additional sales outlets were needed in “places where there is a large gathering of people.”

Bird suggested shopping centers and supermarkets might be added to the list of eligible outlets.

Transferred

NORTH TONAWANDA, N.Y. (AP) — A Roman Catholic priest, identified as one of 10 men who turned in their draft classification cards during an anti-Vietnam war demonstration last week, has been transferred from his teaching post here to a parish near Toronto, Canada.

The Rev. Gian F. Pietra, a native of Italy and mathematics teacher for the last five years at Bishop Gibbons High School, took part in the protest last Wednesday at Selective Service headquarters in Buffalo, officials said.

Nixon Backers Ask Clearance On Standby Plan

NEW YORK (AP) — The Richard M. Nixon for President organization is negotiating with aides of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller for clearance to create a standby campaign organization in New York.

Nixon himself travels today to New Hampshire at the invitation of the Laconia Chamber of Commerce. He will address a dinner meeting of the chamber.

The campaign negotiations were revealed Tuesday aboard the SS Independence as she steamed here on the final day of the 59th National Governors Conference.

Former Oklahoma Gov. Henry M. Bellmon, chairman of the national Nixon-for-President committee, already has discussed the matter with New York’s national committeeman, George Hinman.

Credibility Gap Is on Vietnam Romney Claims

BISMARCK, N.D. (AP) — Michigan Gov. George Romney says President Johnson’s administration “has cried wolf so often that it has lost credibility.”

Romney told a gathering of some 750 Republicans at a GOP fund-raising dinner Tuesday night, “There’s no doubt the biggest bulge in the whole credibility gap comes over Vietnam.”

Starting an eight-day, ten-state speaking tour, the Republican governor, an undeclared candidate for the GOP presidential nomination, talked again about “brainwashing.”

“Apparently there were a lot of brainwashed American voters in 1964,” said Romney who stated recently he was brainwashed into going along with President Johnson’s Vietnam policy.

Romney said he believed what he was told about Vietnam in 1964 and he continued to believe what he was told on his visit to Vietnam a year later.

“I am like the rest of the American public,” Romney said. “I want to believe what our government leaders tell us. But today if any major public figure quoted Johnson’s 1964 comments on Vietnam he would be regarded as the doviest of the doves.”

An early plastic, which was manufactured in England under the name of Galalith in 1914, was made of a milk derivative and formaldehyde.

Automation Survey Here

The University of Michigan's Survey Center (SRC) is continuing its pioneering nationwide studies into the effect of automation on American life. Ulster County has been selected as one of the areas to participate in the survey. Mrs. Walter S. Herring of Ulster Park is participating in the survey.

SRC field staff members will interview a second group of Americans across the country between Oct. 26 and Dec. 4. A similar survey was conducted last spring under sponsorship of the U. S. Department of Labor.

The study is an attempt to measure the impact of automation and other changes in machine technology on a cross-section of the nation's working people. Interviews will be conducted in 76 communities.

The Center, a division of the Institute for Social Research, maintains a staff of professionally trained interviewers in local areas to conduct the questioning in several national surveys each year.

Beside automation questions, people will be asked their opinions about national business conditions and their plans to purchase various goods. These questions are part of the well-known quarterly surveys of consumer attitudes conducted by the Center for the past 16 years.

Information is held in strict confidence. The reports are used by government agencies, businessmen, economists, and educators in their search for a better understanding of conditions existing in the U. S. today.

1,000 Reserve For Thursday Dinner of GOP

To date 1,000 reservations have been received by Chairman Albert Spada for the Republican dinner and rally to be held at the Nevele Country Club, Ellenville, Thursday night. The dinner will be at 7 p. m.

New York State Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Vincent L. Tofany will be guest speaker.

Spada said tickets will be on sale at the door and reservations will be accepted up to 1,500 persons, capacity of the facilities.

WEARY OF IT ALL — Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Borelli realize President Johnson has his problems at the present, but they are a little weary of helping him carry them. A Sunday newspaper ran a story on "Dial the President," for a recorded message from the chief executive, but the Borelli's telephone number corresponds with LBJ's with the exception of the area code, which was omitted in the paper. Mrs. Borelli throws up her hands with the expectation of the next call — over 300. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Republicans Prepare Moves To Win Senate Fund Cutback

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans have $5 billion and $2 billion moves ready in their effort to win Senate approval of a multibillion dollar cutback in federal spending.

The administration, beaten in a similar fight by the House, is trying to block the attachment of any across-the-board spending curbs to an otherwise routine money resolution.

Senate votes were expected today on the resolution, which extends until Nov. 15 the authority for many federal agencies to continue to spend government money.

Congress has not completed action on these agencies' regular appropriations for the budget year which began July 1. An earlier interim spending authorization expired at midnight Monday.

Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., wants to add a provision establishing a $131.5 billion federal spending ceiling for this fiscal year. That's estimated to be worth a $5 billion cut and is almost the same as one provision the House tacked onto the resolution last week.

The House also added a broader directive to the President to reduce expenditures by $6 to $8 billion in the present year.

Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., proposes a 5 per cent cut in all appropriations except those for defense and for items fixed by law such as interest on the national debt.

He estimated this would reduce appropriations by nearly $2 billion.

Williams told the Senate Tuesday the nation is in a "chaotic financial situation" and that President Johnson has contributed heavily by "false economy promises" and by "juggling the budget figures in an effort to mislead the American people as to the true extent of deficit spending."

Chairman Carl Hayden, D-Ariz., of the Appropriations Committee said the House riders seek to make economies "by blind, across-the-board reductions" and it is impossible to know their real effect.

Meanwhile, progress continued in pushing through the regular money measures. Six have been enacted and nine are pending.

Senate-House conferees completed work on a compromise $2.2 billion measure to finance the departments of State, Justice and Commerce.

The House passed and sent to the Senate a $2.1 billion military construction bill, carrying $800 million less than Johnson originally asked.

Both the House and Senate sent back to conference a $10 billion catch-all money bill for another try at agreement on two major administration programs designed to improve city slums and house low-income families.

These are rent supplements, for which the House voted nothing this year and the Senate $40 million in contract authority, and model cities, for which the House allowed $237 million and the Senate $537 million.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, OCTOBER 25, 1967

No on New Charter

The proposed New York State Constitution, which will be presented as a one-question ultimatum for a "Yes or "No" vote at the November 7 general election, should be defeated because of the imperious manner in which it is being submitted to the registered voters of the state. We repeat that to deprive the people of the opportunity to endorse the changes they approve and reject the changes they disapprove is tragic. We condemn this procedure that takes away from the people the right to take a stand on issues based on individual merit.

There are a number of desirable provisions in the proposed new charter that doesn't necessarily have to be lost if it is turned down. There is an alternative piecemeal method for amending the Constitution for separate action on various items. They can be passed by the Legislature in 1968, receive second legislative endorsement in 1969 and be submitted separately to the voters in that year's election thus giving the people opportunity to exercise their right of choice. Proposed changes approved by the people in 1969 would become effective January 1, 1970, or just one year later than the date on which they would become operative under the revised charter.

In other words, you don't have to take it or leave it. You can vote "No" on the proposal and still have the Legislature submit certain provisions for a vote. The people then will decide what it wants or doesn't want in the Constitution. There have been 93 amendments to the Constitution approved by two successively elected Legislatures and adopted by the people at general elections. Some of the objectives also could be adopted as statutes at the next session of the Legislature.

The proposed new Constitution could have been drafted to permit separate action on such controversial subjects as the repeal of the so-called Blaine amendment, which prohibits the use of state funds directly or indirectly to church-connected schools; the ending of public referendum on all state bond issues, eliminating the requirement that state debt be authorized by the people; the assumption by the state of the administration of all social welfare programs to the state of the entire cost of such activities over a 10-year period; the computation for state aid for education to be based on the number of pupils according to registration rather than attendance.

The people should be given the right to make up their minds on these and other issues. We recommend rejection of Question No. 1.

First Health Fair

The Ulster County Health Fair to be held Saturday, October 28, from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. at 235 Fair Street, Kingston, is a civic project for civic good that should attract widespread interest on the part of residents of the county.

The health fair is free to the public with no charge whatsoever for the tests, which will include blood pressure, chest X-ray, diabetes, glaucoma detection, pulmonary function, height and weight readings. The results of the tests will be sent by the Ulster County Health Department to individual physicians designated by the registrants.

The First Federal Savings and Loan Association is sponsoring this first health fair and we commend the local banking institution for this public spirit and altruistic venture.

Indicative of the importance of this service to the general welfare is the number of participating health agencies which are cooperating with the First Federal. They include the Ulster County Health Department, Mid-Hudson Heart Association, Ulster Chapter, New York Diabetes Association, TB and Health Association, Kingston Lions Club, Ambulance Association, Kingston and Benedictine Hospitals and the New York State Department of Health.

Premier Fidel Castro's tribute to his fallen comrade, Ernesto Che Guevara, may be the prelude to more desperate efforts to export Cuban Communism to Latin America, where Guevara met his death. This warning by Senator Howard H. Baker Jr., Tennessee Republican, recognizes the desperate straits Castro is in. He must do something to recover from the blow.

Personal income reached a record annual rate of $633.5 billion in September, with a gain of $2 billion, the smallest in four months. It included wages and salaries at an annual rate of $427.6 billion, up only $900 million, as compared to a $3.3 billion rise the month before. Individual income moved slowly as corporate profits did.

Many British automobile drivers went on the water wagon to avoid submitting to a breath test for drunken driving since the police were empowered to make the tests on suspicion of imbibing. That makes the test a success, by cutting the number of drunken drivers.

"Not Exactly Elementary . . .!"

David Lawrence Says
Disunity and Discord
Seen in Ranks of GOP

WASHINGTON—The Republican Party is giving the country an impression of disunity and discord—a seeming inability to make up its mind on what ought to be done in national or international policy.

The 46 governors—Republicans and Democrats—gathered together in a week's conference could not muster the necessary votes to pass a resolution expressing an opinion about the Vietnam war because of the wide divergence of viewpoints. This was one of the most discouraging episodes in national politics.

Reports vary as to what were the motivating influences in preventing any resolution from being adopted on the Vietnam question. It is apparent, however, that the Republicans could not agree among themselves, while the Democratic governors did not have enough votes to bring up a simple resolution supporting the President of the United States in the midst of a war.

The same situation, however, prevails here in Congress. Republicans are divided, and so are the Democrats. Many of the members are keeping an ear to the ground while trying to think of things to say that will please the folks back home. The prevalent theory is that at present the people like to hear their representatives denounce the war and that anybody who is demanding "peace at any price" is expressing the "popular will."

Wars have always been unpopular. But so are taxes, and so are any laws that are restrictive. There never has been a time, however, when the American people seemed so unaware of the true significance of a war insofar as their own safety and security is concerned. Much of the misunderstanding is due to the misleading speeches that have been made and superficial commentaries which ignore the role being played by the Soviet Union and Red China.

Appeasement brought on World War II, but evidently the politicians are willing to take risks by making statements which give the enemy an impression of American weakness.

Nearly all of the potential candidates for the Republican presidential nomination have discussed the Vietnam War in abstract phrases. While supporting in general the objectives of the United States in Southeast Asia, criticism has been directed either at the military strategy or the alleged failure of the State Department to press intensively for a peace conference with the enemy. All the sniping, however, doesn't go to the basic problem, which is that neither President Johnson nor Secretary Rusk nor the military chiefs have any control over the minds of the rulers in Hanoi, who have rebuffed every peace feeler.

It might well be asked how a small nation like North Vietnam can afford to keep up the fight after the damage which has been inflicted by the American bombing operations. The truth is that the United States is fighting not just North Vietnam but also the Russian and Red Chinese governments, which are rendering assistance, militarily and otherwise, to the Hanoi government.

Under these circumstances, one might have expected firm support from the Republicans for proposals to embargo shipments of arms or supplies by sea from any country in the world to North Vietnam. This might have been accompanied also by a demand that the United States re-examine its diplomatic relations with Soviet Russia and its trade with Communist nations in Eastern Europe, which are openly supporting the North Vietnam cause.

The Democrats, too, are vacillating. They have in their ranks many members of Congress who feel they must curry favor with voters back home by criticizing the policies of the Johnson administration in Vietnam.

The conduct of the Vietnam war unquestionably will be an issue in the 1968 campaign, but it looks now if it will be widely misrepresented. The people who will be voting against the administration on that particular point may not have the slightest idea of how a Republican administration would deal with the same problem. For the Republicans have not given any intimation of what they would do if they came into power.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

ISTANBUL, Turkey—The courtyard is composed of old gray stone and young green plants. The morning sun slanted across the orange tile roof of the house and peeked at the flowers. An ancient attendant with bad feet came out a back door and motioned for us to come out a back door and motioned for us to come inside. He pointed up a stairway which curved against a cracked wall.

We were led into a square office in the back. The walls were yellow except where the stern face of Kemal Ataturk stared from a frame, an old couch and a few chairs leaned against each other, and behind a littered desk sat the figure of His Holiness, Athenagoras, Ecumenical Patriarch of the Greek Orthodox Church. He is 81.

His secretary, Bishop Gabriel, stood beside the desk, a tall black hat on his head and a black cassock falling to the heels beneath a graying beard. Athenagoras read a document, nodding now and then. Then he placed it on the desk and signed it. He motioned with a hand for us to sit. I was interviewing him just before he left on a month-long trip.

On the desk was a two-volume set of memories by Harry S. Truman. Behind the desk was a framed photo of Lyndon B. Johnson. The Patriarch looked up. The eyes were two dark searchlights. The hair was long and stringy gray; so was the silken beard. The cheeks were prominent and made of yellow parchment.

The searchlights switched from face to face. "My son," he said in a voice deep as the gloom of Moses, "I am glad you are here." He looked at Kelly and, behind the beard, made a small smile. "It is good for a man as old as I to have a granddaughter too," he said.

Once, when I was a young reporter, this man was a Patriarch in New York. His church, which has flourished in the Balkans and Russia, was strong and well nourished in the United States. He was born with a superior intellect and the compassion of his Saviour. Now he was being diplomatic with the word "granddaughter" because his home is a monastery and no women are permitted, unless you count the old crones whose fingers fly sewing gold thread in new vestments.

For centuries, there has been a schism between his church and the Roman Catholic. "I came back," he said slowly, "when President Truman asked me to do it. There was trouble in Greece." After the war, the Communists tried to assume control of Greece, and President Truman knew that the presence of Athenagoras, speaking for God, would turn the people away from new and dangerous ways to where their hearts are.

"And now," he said, pointing a long finger from the black robe, "Pope Paul came to see me and he sat in your chair." He was speaking to Kelly. "I told him, I said: You are not Paul the Sixth, but Paul Deux." (Paul Two.) This was an outrageous compliment because the first Paul was the Evangelist who came from Tarsus to preach to the alien gentiles.

"There are old troubles between our churches, but they are forgotten by all except the theologians. One must always leave something for the theologians to debate." The eyes magnified with joy, as though Athenagoras was contemplating something accomplished which had yet to be undertaken.

A man came in with two dishes of whitish cream and six tiny silver spoons. "Eat something sweet," Athenagoras said, "and speak sweet." We sipped the sticky stuff. "I will visit Rome," he said, as Bishop Gabriel stared in alarm, "and we will adjust this old dispute between our churches. The Pope and I will be careful to leave something for our theologians to debate and then, in spite of them, we will lock arms and walk forward together."

It was the first time that the head of the Greek Orthodox Church had announced his determination to heal the schism. "What nobility of mind," he murmured, "for Paul to come to see me in his poor place. What majesty and humility of soul moves a man like that?"

"Ah well," he said, slapping the sides of his chair and standing, "let us go to dinner." He seemed as tall as Mount Ararat and, as I stood, he folded both arms around me and kissed me on the forehead. "My son, you come with me." He turned to Kelly. "My granddaughter," he said with mock solemnity, "here we do not invite ladies to dine, so if you will excuse this once, you will have something with Bishop Gabriel."

She left. The dining room was long and narrow, and the black-robed Bishops sat on both sides of the table, popping pieces of bread and ladies of soup into their beards. Athenagoras sat at the head of the table. Because the food seemed alien, I pushed it from one side of the table to the other.

When we parted, Athenagoras caught my hand in his. "You did not eat," he whispered. "Why?" "A little," I said. "A little." He gave Kelly a gold medal of himself and Pope Paul. I was silent all the way back to the hotel. A truly holy man silences the tongue and awakens the heart...

Drew Pearson Says
California Can't Adopt
Tough Smog, Exhaust Laws

WASHINGTON—Rep. John Dingell, the Detroit Democrat, is a great defender of the public interest when it comes to almost everything except automobiles. Regarding these he has been a vigorous, effective inside lobbyist for the motor moguls.

Right now Dingell is in the middle of some backstage jockeying over curtailing smog in Los Angeles and California generally. The issue has come up as a result of the air pollution control bill which the Senate passed last summer permitting California to set tougher standards to curb motor exhaust fumes than the federal government may set. Purpose of the Senate amendment was to allow California to be tougher than the rest of the country because of the serious situation faced by Los Angeles. There 90 per cent of air pollution comes from motor vehicles.

When the Senate bill reached the House Commerce Committee, of which Detroit's Dingell is a member, he assumed his role as auto industry lobbyist. Guided by Lloyd Cutler, efficient attorney for the auto industry, and Tom Mann, president of the Automobile Manufacturers Association, Dingell rammed through the Commerce Committee a provision that federal standards for auto exhaust fumes would prevail rather than any tougher standards by the states.

Dingell's bill would permit a state such as California to prove that it needed tougher standards, but in view of the present HEW bureaucrats, this would be difficult, perhaps impossible.

Dingell's neat campaign now faces the unanimous opposition of California Congressmen. Even conservative Sen. George Murphy, a Republican, has united with such California liberals as John Moss of Sacramento and Lionel Deerlin of San Diego to battle against Dingell. Sen. Murphy claims that Dingell is betraying the health of the public.

It's also claimed that the exhaust control device Detroit put on 1966 and 1967 models sold in California have not been working effectively, that it fails to function after a car operates around 5,000 miles.

The legislation is due to be threshed out in the House of Representatives in the next few days.

Black Rebellion Spreads

The black rebellion is now spreading across the country into the Negro neighborhoods of the smaller cities. It doesn't seem to matter that these cities have had good race relations in the past. In Tacoma, Wash., for instance, black militants are talking about violence as the only way to win equality.

At a recent closed-door meeting, Les MacIntosh and Bob Redwine, two black militants from nearby Seattle, told a group of angry young Negroes that marching might not be enough to bring changes.

"We must exhaust every means at our disposal in the community," MacIntosh said. "If that doesn't work, then we might have to knock off a couple of cops."

MacIntosh's speech points up the frustrations of Negroes in the state of Washington, despite the fact that both Senators, Warren Magnuson and Henry "Scoop" Jackson, have been in the forefront of the civil rights fight on Capitol Hill.

Just a few months ago, Gov. Dan Evans sought MacIntosh's aid when it appeared that race riots were brewing in Seattle. MacIntosh helped to cool things off.

Now, however, he says he isn't sure he did the right thing.

Redwine, a young, skinny SNCC worker who calls whites "honkeys" like Rep. Brown and poses like George Lincoln Rockwell with a cornob pipe, told Tacoma's angry young men that he and MacIntosh would not appear as leaders in the Tacoma activities.

"We're just here to advise you," he said. Then he took his hand-picked "leaders" aside for more words "so these honkeys can't hear us," referring to two sympathetic whites who had been admitted to the meeting.

Exactly ten years ago a young Italian, Mariano Rumor, undersecretary of agriculture in Rome, visited Washington. The Soviet Union had just launched its first Sputnik, the world was agog over this space achievement, and critical of the United States for its space failures.

When Undersecretary Rumor was asked what would restore American prestige in Europe, he replied: "An American moon. You must launch a small American moon soon."

Last week the same Mariano Rumor came back to Washington, this time in the very important post of secretary general of the Christian Democratic Party, which means that he holds much of Italy's political destiny.

In the years that have passed many small American moons have been launched and the United States is now abreast of the Soviet.

Secretary General Rumor was delighted with this advance, but privately worried over the low ebb of American prestige in Europe as a result of another factor—the war in Vietnam.

At a luncheon given in his honor by Vice President Humphrey, Rumor indicated that his government would support the United States, though he hoped we could find a peaceful solution in Vietnam soon.

At the luncheon Vice President Humphrey recalled that Rumor, in addition to heading the Christian Democratic Party, was president of Europe's Federation of Christian Democratic Parties and may become secretary general of the proposed Christian Democratic movement of the world. This would include the ruling parties of Chile, West Germany, and Austria.

Toasting the guest of honor, Vice President Humphrey said: "That great political man, Larry O'Brien, the Postmaster General, is here with us today. But after listening to Mariano Rumor and considering all his qualifications, Larry O'Brien seems an amateur politician."

Henry J. Taylor Says

Detroit Hopes for Good Auto Year

DETROIT—This riot-scattered, strike-wounded city still hopes for a good automobile year, and a downright excellent 1968. Much in our economy as a whole goes the way this bellwether industry goes and thus its outlook foretells a great deal.

This side of a crystal ball, probably the simplest way to see what seems to be ahead is through a look at one company. The figures I use are from inside General Motors, No. 1 in the industry and the largest manufacturing company in the world. The opinions are those of Frederic G. Donner, the Chairman of the Board, who gave me his views.

The industry will build approximately 7.7 million passenger cars in the United States this year. That is a production level exceeded only four times in its history. And this is in the face of a fast-running race in which records keep falling at a quickening pace.

General Motors, for example, built its first 25 million cars across a period of 32 years. It built its next 25 million within 14. Its third came within seven. The next 25, making a landmark total of 100 million, scored this year, came within only five years. This typifies the acceleration in the race when we read of a "good" or "bad" 1967 and forget that the measurement moves upward very fast.

The industry averaged 5.6 million units annually in the five-year period between 1957-61. In the 1962-1966 period the yearly average was eight million units. This is an increase of more than 40 per cent.

Buyer registration figures revealed by state vehicular bureaus are the ultimately significant figures that tell the industry where it stands on a year-to-year basis. That's how you can see the real picture which is often badly obscured by variations in year-end inventories. How many vehicles are actually passing into consumer consumption? The ultimate payoff is on this, and all forecasting is done on that basis.

It's not easy to calculate a "normal trend" line for as long as 10 years ahead, but the lead-time needed for tooling, plant construction, research productivity, etc., in the industry makes this necessary.

The trend line established in 1957 is working out correctly in 1967. Unit sales are running amazingly close to the calculation, and the calculation itself called for an increase of 43 per cent.

Meanwhile, the dimensions of each unit have increased enormously, the industry no longer reflects the same kind of cars.

"Current consumer demand is spearheaded by the popularity of the 'top car' in each of the liners," Mr. Donner said. "In short, more car per car. The word 'units' is losing a lot of its previous meaning."

Ten years ago 38 per cent of the company's customers ordered power-steering installations. Last year the percentage was almost 75 per cent. The word 'units' is brakes, increased from 35 per cent to nearly 50. Air conditioning was ordered on about five per cent of the company's cars 10 years ago. It was specified on over a third of them in 1966. Currently, GM is installing air conditioning on 42 per cent of its output.

When I asked GM's chairman the effect of imports he replied with an eye-opener. Although imports hit a record 658,000 last year they have been on a relative skid ever since 1959. They then took more than 10 per cent of the U.S. market. Today they claim between five and seven per cent.

In 1959 import sales were 614,000. Domestic sales were 5.4 million. The 1966 import record high at 658,000 is a gain of only 44,000 units since 1959. But U.S.-built passenger car registrations in 1966 were 8.3 million—an increase of almost three million.

This bellwether industry had a 1966 favorable export balance of about $600 million on the sunny side of our balance of payments problem and our gold crisis. In the 21 postwar years its contributing balance in our country's favor has exceeded $18.5 billion.

Mr. Donner believes 13 million vehicles a year will be sold in the United States within eight years. His inside figures produced at this company headquarters give that remarkable figure as a minimum.

33 Elmdorf Street

Oct. 24, 1967
Editor, The Freeman:

The first amendment to the Constitution of the U. S. guarantees all Americans right of free speech.

Therefore, may I present this article concerning those convicted of crime relative to adoption of our laws and the enforcement in all levels of government?

On most applications for employment there are unfair, and unethical interrogations for even the common jobs:

"Have you ever been convicted of a crime?"
If you say Yes, you are rejected, or if you say No, you are rejected following investigation for a fraudulent statement.

Society never lets the matter drop. It keeps the person convicted, or even arrested, has no right to a future good name, thereafter, in employment opportunities of his choice.

However, the employer has the right to investigate without embarrassment to an applicant.

Employment should be available to all convicted people who have paid society for their offense.

Do you earnestly believe that in our Christian society founded on the love of God, that we should condemn a person for the rest of his life, punishing him still more, by denying him a chance to make an honest living, having an honest desire to become a respectable and useful member of society?

What about the industrial or professional future of an individual who has only a correctional institution or prison as his only reference?

An amnesty bill for first offenders was defeated, 62-58, some time ago in our N. Y. State Assembly at Albany.

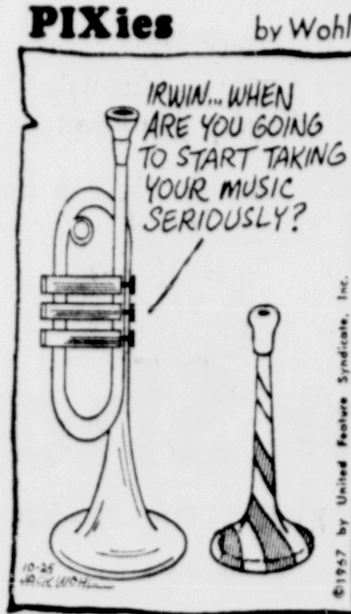

This bill provided immediate amnesty upon application to a court of law following completion of sentence.

It is a step in the right direction, but it should be governed according to the individual as to time limits after sentence.

There are people who should be convicted who probably never will be for one reason or another.

Why attempt to destroy those who are?

Sincerely,
EDWIN J. HIGBY

Big Business Taking Keener Interest in Fighting Poverty

By WILLIAM J. EATON
Chicago Daily News Service
HOT SPRINGS, VA.—Affluent big business is taking a keener interest in planning and carrying out programs to fight poverty and improve race relations in major U. S. cities.

Federal officials, encouraged by the trend, are urging leaders of giant corporations to help reform the welfare system, plan better health care and devise improved city transit networks.

This new social gospel was a major topic at the fall meeting of the powerful and influential Business Council, an American version of the House of Lords. The concern stems largely from this year's rioting in Detroit, Newark and elsewhere.

In a resort setting far from urban woes, the big names from U. S. industry and finance heard how future profits are linked to a stable society.

"City Hall can't go it alone any more," said John W. Gardner, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare. Gardner said business must join with organized labor and Negro leaders to deal with the most pressing urban dilemmas.

Mitchell Ginsberg, New York's Social Service Commissioner, asked for business backing for a system of family allowances and other radical changes in the ever-costlier welfare system.

Ginsberg also supported government subsidies to help corporations train slum dwellers once rejected as "unemployables" because of their poor education and police records.

John W. McCone, the former director of the Central Intelligence Agency who headed the inquiry into causes of the 1965 Watts riot, joined the chorus.

Training Programs
McCone told how Aerojet General and other firms had found jobs for many Negroes from the Watts area after conducting special training programs and taking risks on hiring. Some of the added costs have been paid by the companies but the Labor Department has helped with on-the-job training grants, he said.

"This has helped relieve the pressure in Los Angeles," McCone said. "Although there is continuing discontent within the Negro community."

Businessmen had high praise for the Rev. Leon Sullivan, a Negro minister from Philadelphia who has helped to establish opportunities industrial centers in several major cities.

These centers help prepare so-called "unemployables" and inspire them to remain on the job.

The discussion of slum problems at the Business Council was arranged by Albert L. Nickerson, Mobil Oil's board chairman who is serving as council chairman this year.

"Business must have an increasing appreciation that its ability to make profits over the long run depends on having a stable social system," Nickerson explained.

Gardner also asked for business help in long-range planning so the public could consider alternatives before a crisis demanded a fast decision.

"We spend a good deal of our time stumbling into the future," Gardner said, referring to the neglect of air pollution until citizen resentment forced the federal government to take action.

Alan S. Boyd, Secretary of Transportation, discussed traffic congestion and mass transit facilities and sounded the same theme.

Government Allowances
Ginsberg, who said he was encouraged by the business

reaction to his talk on welfare reforms, predicted Congress would adopt a system of government allowances to all families within three to five years.

This step, he insists, would cut down the high cost of welfare investigations and checking for eligibility to receive relief. Ginsberg also favors job-related training and more attention to family planning instructions.

He urged the business leaders to drop their traditional hostility to welfare and take a greater role in shaping the system instead of leaving the problems for social workers to handle.

"This job is not going to get done without business support—no doubt about it," Ginsberg said of his reform program.

"Right now welfare is a band-aid operation," he added. "We pick up the casualties from poor housing, poor schools and lack of jobs."

Both Sides Are Pleased

By WILLIAM MCGAFFIN
Chicago Daily News Service
WASHINGTON, Oct. 23—

Both sides appeared to be pleased after the weekend confrontation between the military and the antiwar demonstrators.

It was obvious from conversations a reporter had with various demonstrators at the Pentagon that they felt they had succeeded in what they set out to do, to dramatize their opposition to the Vietnam conflict.

Pentagon officials were relieved that they had succeeded in controlling the crowd with a minimum of force, and that the "siege of the Pentagon" had been repelled without a shot having to be fired.

The demonstrators, who numbered an estimated 55,000 when they gathered for their initial rally at the Lincoln Memorial Saturday afternoon, had dwindled down by yesterday to probably not more than 1,500.

Asks Executives Oppose Quotas Many Products

HOT SPRINGS, Va.—Sen. Charles H. Percy (R-Ill.) is the only potential GOP Presidential nominee with an open door to meetings of the corporate elite known as the Business Council.

Percy, who was elected to membership on the high-prestige group of executives when he headed Bell and Howell, dropped in on last weekend's session to deliver a pep talk against the "New Protectionism."

He asked Council Chairman Albert L. Nickerson for time to make a brief argument against the many bills in Congress that would impose quotas on imported steel, textiles, oil and other products. Percy, acknowledging that some industries have special trading problems, warned that U. S. quotas would bring foreign retaliation and American business would lose its world markets.

His speech was almost a carbon copy of an appeal Friday by Gardner Ackley, chairman of President Johnson's Council of Economic Advisers, on the protectionist moves in the Congress. Percy's talk touched off a spirited discussion and not all agreed with him.

Percy also found time for lunch with Central Intelligence Director Richard Helms, who usually attends the council gatherings, and played tennis with Federal Reserve Board Member Dewey Daane as his partner.

The hippies, with their beards, long hair, their flower and little bells dangling around their necks, were most evident in the Sunday crowd. Most of them simply listened passively in the warm afternoon sun while a few leaders made antiwar speeches to them through a portable loudspeaker, and a few others delivered lectures to the long row of military policemen who stood silently guarding the Mall entrance to the Pentagon.

The Saturday afternoon group at the Lincoln Memorial, in contrast, was well-scrubbed, well-dressed and dominated by young college men and women. Most important of all, it was a peaceful protest and conducted with dignity. If the peace protestors made any impact on public opinion over the weekend, they have their Lincoln Memorial rally to thank for it.

Like the Negroes, who conducted their "March on Washington" four years ago, they understood that peaceful protest advances a cause far more than violence.

At the Pentagon late Saturday afternoon, however, there was violence. MP's and federal marshals swung billy clubs freely and several dozen of the demonstrators ended up with injuries. Several hundred persons were arrested for various defiant tactics.

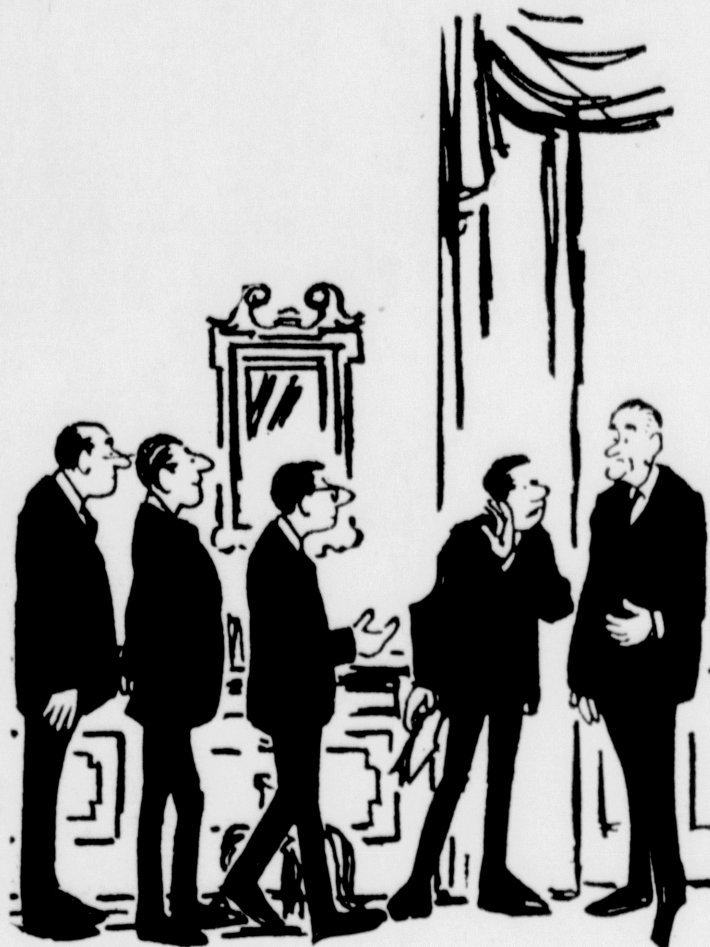

There may have been some point, from the demonstrators' viewpoint, to the civil disobedience that caused them to be arrested. The violence, however, is something they brought on themselves for a senseless act—rushing the line of military guards to try to get into the

DeFeliceis Critical Of Mayor Reid

Mayor Joseph Reid of Rosendale was chastised today by Town Supervisor Gerard DeFeliceis for not having announced the Oct. 6 verdict of the district attorney regarding Reid's complaint that town equipment had been utilized for private purpose.

Reid's charge stemmed from DeFeliceis' authorization of moving of Sportsman's Park by the Town Highway Department for the Bloomington and Rosendale Fire Companies fund raising raffle game.

The district attorney's opinion, issued in a letter Oct. 6 to both DeFeliceis and Reid, states that the town was not in violation of the law but that it is prohibited in the future under Article 8 Section 1 of the Constitution from continuing the practice of aiding community efforts through certain services, according to DeFeliceis.

Mayor Reid was not available for comment this morning.

Stating that although the mayor "might" be technically correct to the finest point of the law, DeFeliceis expressed the opinion that Reid was "morally wrong." He said he released the information himself "rather than let it become a political issue a day or two before election."

DeFeliceis explained that he is now "prohibited from continuing to assist the Little League, fire companies, cemeteries, and perhaps saddest of all, can no longer continue to use town trucks to deliver hospital beds, wheel chairs, etc., to the sick in our town, from the loan closet."

"I wish to assure every resident of our town that I will do all in my power to continue these services in the township. I intend to seek, if necessary, a ruling from the state attorney general's office," he said.

"Every township in the county supplies similar services to our residents but the difference is that no ruling is forced because no people would think of complaining about this regardless of political affiliations."

De Feliceis said he did not publicize the district attorney's ruling before because Mayor Reid also received a copy of the letter and he thought Reid, as the complainant, would bring the results to the people.

$50,000 in Safe Tied to Large Gambling Ring

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—Federal tax agents say a safe they seized at the home of Philip Silbert, one of four men charged with operating what has been called a $10 million gambling ring, contained $50,000 in cash.

Silbert is the brother-in-law of Sheldon S. Cohen, U. S. commissioner of internal revenue. Federal agents Monday described Silbert in affidavits as "one of the most important numbers bankers in the Baltimore area."

In addition to the $50,000, agents who seized the safe Tuesday said it contained two $100 Canadian bills, English currency and a gold certificate.

Also charged in the case are Jesse Bondroff, William Schreck and Maurice Silbert, Philip's brother. All are free on $2,500 bond.

ing communities responded to calls and raced to Ellenville.

At least two persons were injured when they jumped from second floor windows of the burning hotel. Hospitalized included Diane Chung, an employee of the Inn, and Michael Pashmann, who suffered smoke poisoning and bruises sustained in his jump to safety. They were taken to Ellenville Community Hospital.

Fire officials said the Ellenville blaze started in the basement of the building located in the heart of the community. Flames spread rapidly and within minutes the fire swept out of control.

Police moved through the village during the height of the blaze, which at times threatened to develop into a conflagration, and warned residents of houses on three blocks next to the hotel to evacuate their homes and get outside the fire line, because it was feared that sparks and flaming embers might set the houses on fire. One block next to the Wayside is vacant.

The fire, out of control for hours, was pronounced under control after daybreak, although still burning. A number of elderly men and women, permanent residents of the 50-year-old hotel, were provided care and shelter in houses outside the fire area.

Fire officials credited the work of firemen from Kingston and Ulster Hose and other communities, who battled the flames from atop the 65-foot aerial ladders, a factor in preventing the fire from spreading through the entire village area.

Other tenants in the Wayside hotel building included the law firms of Lonstein and Stapleton and Kooperman and Kooperman. Assistant District Attorney Albert Lonstein had offices in the first floor area. Carl's Beauty Salon, Tony's Restaurant, the Key Restaurant, and the accounting firm of Rieger and Greenberg were other first floor tenants.

The origin of the fire was under investigation. No monetary loss estimate was available.

The Wayside has been a popular resort hotel in the Ellenville area for many years.

The fatal Catskill fire was discovered at 8:38 p. m. Tuesday by Mary Gregory, a neighbor, who observed flames in the front room of the second floor apartment occupied by Mrs. McLane. The neighbor ran next door and notified Gary Kelly, a Catskill fireman who sounded the alarm.

State Trooper L. J. Addis of Leeds said Kelly ran to the apartment across the street and called off-duty Trooper Emanuel Sanchez, owner of the house and occupant of the first floor. Sanchez guided his five children to safety and then, with Kelly, groped his way upstairs.

The two men forced open a door leading to the McLane apartment, but the intense heat and dense smoke forced them back. Later, according to troopers, Kelly and another fireman, Stanley Adsit, donned Scott air masks and made their way to the McLane apartment, where they found the elderly woman in bed.

She was rushed to Greene County Memorial Hospital where she was pronounced dead on arrival. The origin of the fire was not immediately learned.

Investigating the blaze and the death of the woman were Greene County Coroner Leland Cunningham, Senior BCI Investigator James Buckley, Zone Sergeant Hayward Rasmussen, uniformed troopers and Catskill village police.

Mrs. McLane was born in Watervliet April 30, 1893. She was retired from the New York Telephone Company with whom she was employed for 19 years. She retired nine years ago and resided in Catskill since 1954. She was the widow of George E. McLane and Thomas Clamptt. Surviving are a son, John E. Clamptt of Catskill and a stepdaughter, Mrs. Albert Klein of Walla Walla, Washington. Funeral services will be held Friday morning at 9 a. m. from the Traver and McCurry Funeral Home, Catskill and at 9:30 a. m. a requiem high Mass will be celebrated in St. Patrick's Church. Friends may call at the funeral home Thursday from 2 to 4 and after 7. Burial will be in Wiltwyck Cemetery, Kingston.

Flah's to Open Kingston Plaza Shop Next Year

Kingston Plaza, Inc., announced today that Flah's of Albany, a fashion ladies wear store, has signed a lease for 12,000 square feet of space in the Kingston Plaza Shopping Center. Flah's store will be built in the middle of the area between Sears, Roebuck & Co. and Grand Union Co. and will be flanked on both sides by eight other stores.

Total space will be 26,000 feet. The other stores include a jewelry store, card shop, another ladies wear, bakery, beauty parlor, and a restaurant.

Flah's presently has its main store on Pearl Street in Albany with branch stores in Hudson Plaza in Poughkeepsie; Stuyvesant Plaza in Albany, and the Sears' Macy's Colonial Center.

The Kingston store will be patterned after the Colonie one with wall to wall carpeting, and recessed light fixtures among other improvements. Flah's plans call for an Aug. 1, 1968 or earlier opening, but the other stores will probably open in the late spring.

Construction is expected to start shortly pending completion of fixture plans. An important aspect of the new stores will be a canopied sidewalk which will connect Sears with the rest of the center and provide sheltered walking from Sears to Britts regardless of the weather.

Find No Bomb At Onteora

Approximately 1,100 students at Onteora High School enjoyed an unscheduled entertainment more than two hours today on the school athletic field.

Watson Goodrich of the school system, said an anonymous telephone call was received at about 8 a. m. warning that a "bomb had been planted" in the school and it would explode at 11 a. m.

State Police and the sheriff's office were immediately notified and about a dozen of officers sped to the school. Meanwhile, school officials evacuated the building while a search was made. No bomb was found.

Goodrich said the 1,100 pupils were immediately escorted to buses and driven to the athletic field. While the search was on musical instruments were loaded on a truck and carted to the field where the school band entertained the students with an unscheduled program.

According to Goodrich the all clear was sounded shortly after 11 a. m. Students were returned to the school and classes were resumed.

Senior BCI Investigator Edward Shannon and other BCI officers and deputy sheriffs continued the investigation.

Napanoch Man's Death Probed

Ellenville State Police on Tuesday investigated the death of Kenneth Slater, 56, of National Street, Napanoch, whose body was found in the carbon-monoxide filled cab of his truck off Old Farm Road near Napanoch.

Sergeant Henry S. Rhodes said Slater's wife had notified troopers early yesterday afternoon that her husband had been missing for about a week. At 4 p. m. State Police were notified that Slater's truck had been found.

Authorities reported a piece of plastic hose was found connected to the exhaust pipe of the truck, and extended inside the cab. The gasoline tank was empty and the switch was on.

Ulster County Coroner Arthur C. Chipp of Kerhonkson was notified. Troopers said an official verdict was pending.

Dead Taxpayer?

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—Letters to the tax collector produce smiles as well as problems.

George Lehr, Jackson County collector, recently received a letter which said:

"As I have notified your office before, I have been deceased since November 1965. Please remove my name from the tax rolls."

Secretary McNamara: Center of the Quiet Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — A quiet debate goes on in the nation's capital these days: Is Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's stature within the administration slipping?

Opinions range from assertions that McNamara is stronger than ever in one of the world's most powerful jobs, to claims that he is losing influence.

A body of opinion — largely outside the Pentagon — points to widened bombing of North Vietnam as evidence McNamara is yielding ground to more hawkish elements advising President Johnson.

Pentagon insiders consider this thesis wrong, but quite readily state that McNamara would like to leave the secretaryship and move on to a new field, perhaps heading up a university or foundation.

"He would beat the hell out of here if he could," one source reports. "He needs this job like a hole in the head."

It is rather firmly believed within the Pentagon that McNamara is staying on primarily out of loyalty to President Johnson.

Johnson, it is said, insists he wants McNamara — "the perfect secretary," he sometimes calls him — to stay on as chief manager of the war effort.

McNamara, in turn, feels a sense of responsibility for seeing the war through to some conclusion.

Most officials feel that, unless the conflict should end tomorrow, McNamara will remain fast at his station at least through the 1968 presidential election.

After that, regardless of the outcome, he may well step down.

By then McNamara would have served nearly eight years in one of the most stormy assignments government offers.

Throughout much of that tenure, McNamara is reported to have told a private dinner "Speak well of the dead. So far recently he plans to take his as his position as secretary of defense goes, Bob McNamara is finished ... whipped out of get out of here" — here meaning authority, out of dignity, out of the Pentagon. He didn't say when that might be.

Ditler on Harmful Effects

Marijuana Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top federal officials are widely divided in their views on marijuana. But they're concerned and trying to learn more about it.

The division was underscored following the statement last week by Food and Drug Commissioner Dr. James L. Goddard that he believes marijuana is less dangerous than alcohol.

Goddard recommended relaxing severe laws against marijuana to eliminate penalties against possession. He said penalties should be retained for distribution or sale.

Not Enough Data

Taking a sharply different position, U.S. Narcotics Commissioner Henry L. Glavin testified before Congress earlier this year that marijuana "is not, as some people say, less (dangerous) than alcohol or less than smoking tobacco. Some way we have got to get this across to the public."

And Dr. Philip R. Lee, assistant secretary for scientific affairs for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, told The Associated Press, "We just don't have enough information to know the dangers of marijuana."

But federal officials agree the growing use of marijuana is of serious concern.

To fill the gap in scientific data on the drug, the government has put high priority on new research by the National Institute of Mental Health.

The Institute's new Center for Studies of Narcotic and Drug Abuse hopes to have solid evidence in about two years.

What are the dangers of marijuana?

Federal officials agreed in a series of interviews that it's easier to say what the dangers are not.

The President's Crime Commission said earlier this year marijuana isn't habit forming physically, although users may become psychologically dependent on it; the user doesn't feel the need with time to increase the dosage as do opiate users; there is no conclusive evidence marijuana users graduate to more powerful drugs or that it causes crime; there are no obvious lasting physical effects and have been no known deaths.

State Awards Bond Issue of $87 Million

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The state has awarded an $87-million bond issue to the Chase Manhattan Bank at an interest rate of 3.9858, per cent, which is described as "gratifying" by State Comptroller Arthur Levitt.

The award was announced Tuesday and Levitt said the interest rate was "gratifying in view of the pressure that exists on the current money market."

A total of $75 million of the issue is earmarked for highway construction and $12 million is destined for grade-crossing elimination projects.

Guaranteed Income In Ford Pact Noted

By JOHN GUNNIF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The guaranteed annual income plan now being considered by Ford Motor Co. workers is far different from the much-publicized guaranteed income that is often suggested as an antidote to poverty.

The Ford plan would provide laid-off workers a bit less than 95 per cent of their take-home pay for a limited period, with the funds coming from company contributions and from the worker's state unemployment compensation.

Federally Funded

The guaranteed annual wage that has often been proposed as part of the war on poverty would provide federal government funds to a family whether the breadwinner has ever held a job or has a skill.

There is very little precedent for guaranteeing money specifically to nonworkers. These plans aren't designed so much for security as to avoid abject poverty and its consequences.

However, the plans have more in common than their names. Both have as their basic motivation the desire to free human beings from the ups and downs of the economic cycle, to enhance dignity, to promote purchasing power.

Both also depend on much

IBM Dividend

ARMONK—The IBM Board of Directors Tuesday declared a regular quarterly cash dividend of 1.10 dollars per share on the capital stock, payable Dec. 9, 1967, to holders of record Nov. 9, 1967.

more planning than was attempted, or even possible, just a couple of decades ago. During these decades the concept of the controllable economic cycle has gained wide acceptance.

This concept, sometimes called the New Economics, asserts that a low level of unemployment, a high level of productivity and relative price stability are attainable through delicate fiscal and monetary policy.

Less Discernible

Whether this is true is still debatable, but the wide swings from boom to bust are now far less discernible than they were earlier in this century. With such relative stability, industry also has less fear of the future. Its business projections are rather accurate. Since the future is not the gamble it once was, it can commit itself to a plan such as a guaranteed wage.

Nevertheless, a guaranteed income may produce adverse repercussions for the less affluent corporations, specifically for the financially troubled American Motors, which may find a guarantee difficult to uphold.

The guaranteed income plans related to poverty demand considerable government initiative, even interference into the old "hands off" concept that tied man's lot to production. No production, no wages.

However, the rapid advance of technology has made obsolete a lot of the minimal skills and has left some individuals without the chance of earning a living wage. As more human skills become obsolete these numbers may swell.

The growing relief rolls, in part, are the result of technological advance, although certainly other factors are involved. Partly as a result, some of the guaranteed income plans are proposed as replacements for welfare.

To Aid Homeless Animals

Appointment of Mrs. Benjamin A. Morgan, P. O. Box 402, Port Ewen, as local representative to spur its campaign to reduce the number of homeless dogs and cats in this area was announced today by Friends of Animals, Inc., New York City.

Friends of Animals is a non-profit voluntary organization whose objective is to reduce the number of unwanted animals by having pet owners spay their female dogs and cats.

"Of the 33 million puppies and kittens born yearly in the United States, permanent homes exist for only eight million," says Miss Alice Herrington, president of the organization. "The national total of abandoned cats and dogs which die in suffering every year is close to 25 million."

Friends of Animals offers financial help to owners who cannot afford to have their dogs and cats spayed. Application should be directed to Mrs. Morgan.

Build Chain Fence On Korean DMZ Line

ALONG THE WESTERN FRONT, Korea (AP) — U.S. forces guarding an 18 1/2-mile section of Korea's demilitarized zone are building a chain link fence across the front to cut down on North Korean sneak attacks that have killed at least 20 Americans and wounded 60 others in the last 12 months.

South Korean Army authorities said construction of a similar barrier is expected to be completed before next spring in the part of the 151-mile border the Koreans guard.

The barrier going up in the U.S. patrol area is topped with barbed wire and appears similar in some respects to the one Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara ordered built just below the demilitarized zone in South Vietnam to slow North Vietnamese infiltration.

Both fences are basically an early warning system. The Korean fence, although reinforced by watch towers with electronic equipment, does not have the electronic and antipersonnel devices planned for the Vietnamese barrier.

"The fence itself is not the barrier," said Lt. Col. George A. Meighan, a battalion commander of the 2nd "Indian Head" Division at the Korean front. The big factor in determining its success, he said, would be the soldiers watching the fence.

Sections completed since construction began in June stand 10 feet high and are topped with rolls of barbed wire. They run relatively straight through mountainous terrain 50 to 200 yards below the southern edge of the 2 1/2-mile-wide buffer zone.

It's jumbo in size and jumbo in nutrition. Nowonder it's called Wonder Jumbo Sandwich Bread.

Photo Renews Father's Hope That Son Alive

COKATO, Minn. (AP) — A photograph from North Vietnam has renewed a father's hope that his son is alive in a prisoner of war camp although the Pentagon has listed him as dead for several months.

Hanoi's Vietnam News Agency released a picture Monday, showing the man with a group of Asians. In Tokyo, VNA identified him only as "U.S. Capt. Shumann" and said he was commander of a unit captured by Communist forces.

The Pentagon said it had no such name on its missing list. After a copy of the Communist photograph was supplied to defense officials, officers said the American apparently was Capt. John R. Schumann.

He was originally listed as missing, but the Defense Department said last March he died in a Communist prison camp in South Vietnam.

The soldier's father, John P. Schumann, was shown a copy of the Communist photograph at his home Tuesday and said, "It looks a lot like him."

The elder Schumann whose wife died of a stroke a few weeks ago, found his hopes bolstered that his son was still alive.

Canisteo Fire

CANISTEO, N.Y. (AP) — Fire caused extensive damage early today to two business places in this community five miles south of Hornell.

Several other establishments were damaged by smoke and water. Firemen said the fire started at the rear of an appliance store. The flames spread to an adjoining wallpaper and paint store.

The cause of the fire was not determined. The loss was not estimated, although firemen said the damage was extensive.

Almost one-fourth of the land area of the United States is owned by the government.

Military Money Bill Approved By House 362-26

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill to appropriate $2.1 billion for military construction has been approved by the House and sent to the Senate.

The House passed the measure, 362-26, Tuesday, after routine debate and without making any changes in the details approved by the House Appropriation Committee.

Construction funds for 12 military installations in New York State are included in the measure. They are:

Army—Pictorial Center, New York City, $637,000; Ft. Hamilton, Staten Island, $127,000; Military Academy, West Point $18,200,000; New York defense area $327,000.

Air Force — Griffiss AFB, Rome, $750,000; Montauk Station, $75,000; Niagara Falls Municipal Airport $377,000; Plattsburgh AFB, $2,068,000; Saratoga Springs Station, $45,000; Stewart AFB, Newburgh $166,000; Suffolk County AFB Westhampton Beach, $475,000.

Navy—Autodin facility, Syracuse, $90,000.

First Political Activity For Young Ladies of City

Commencing this week and continuing until Election Day, the doorbells in each Ward of the city are going to be rung by a group of attractive young ladies. These will be the Bechtold Girls making their calls in support of the Bechtold-Smith Campaign. C. John Bechtold and Louis J. Smith are the Republican candidates for mayor and alderman-at-large.

Each of these young ladies will wear a large attractive badge which reads in bold print "I'm a Bechtold Girl." They will call at every home and distribute material which will be composed of messages from Bechtold and Smith explaining their campaign platforms; information concerning the County Legislators to be elected this year for the first time; a sample ballot to assist in voting on Election Day, along with various additional informational material.

The Bechtold Girls, who are recruited from every ward of the city are engaging in their very first political activity. They will be under the direct supervision of Mrs. William Krum, Mrs. Bernhard Kramer, Mrs. Thomas Ingarra and Mrs. Stephen Burns.

In addition to their ward activities during the remainder of the campaign, the Bechtold Girls will staff Republican Campaign Headquarters at 296 Wall Street on Election Day. Here they will perform such necessary and important services as telephone girls; baby sitters for voters while at the polls; distribute literature and Ballot assistance to anyone stopping in. Election night they will serve as tellers of election returns; serve refreshments, and generally assist in the campaign headquarters.

N.Y. Times, Guild Reach Pact With Union

NEW YORK (APK) — Negotiators for The New York Times and the Newspaper Guild of New York have reached tentative agreement on a new three-year contract that raises wages and fringe benefits about 21 percent over the contract term.

Announcement of the agreement — subject to a ratification vote by 2,500 Guild members — was made Monday by Theodore W. Kheel, who has served as mediator in a number of newspaper contract negotiations here this year.

The Guild, a unit of the AFL-CIO American Newspaper Guild, represents mostly editorial, business office and maintenance employees.

Kheel said that Times and Guild negotiators agreed that details of the contract would not be made public before the membership ratification meeting. No date for the meeting has been set.

Present Guild top minimum at the Times range up to $200 a week for reporters, among others. The top minimum for editors, columnists and some other categories is $215. Many employees in Guild jurisdiction are paid more than the top minimums.

Kheel said Monday, "I think this is the beginning of a new era in the newspaper industry in New York City. I feel confident it will grow — certainly in circulation and possibly in the number of newspapers."

Scout News

Nineteen members of Girl Scout Codette Troop 66, their leaders and committee, sponsored by the Women's Guild for Christian Service of the Plattekill Reformed Church recently visited New York City. Their activities included a morning tour of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the musical show Hello Dolly and ended with a subway ride and dinner at a Chinatown Restaurant. This social event, planned by the scouts as a kick-off for the new scouting year September thru June was also instrumental in covering many requirements for current badges, including player producer, painting and international friendship. Adults accompanying the scouts were leaders Mrs. G. E. Holloran and Mrs. R. Feddes, committee members. Mrs. E. Hatt and Mrs. E. Wasek, the latter also providing transportation. L. Tabler and C. Megro also provided transportation and acted as guides throughout the trip.

Stalk-Eyed Fish

Larva of the stomiatoid fish has eyes sticking out on long stalks, which twist into loops as the fish grows. These eye stalks eventually become knotted into small capsules in front of the eyes.

Schechtman—Religious services are held at Congregation Avhath Israel every Friday at 8 p. m., Saturday at 9:30 a. m. and at sundown, Sunday at 10 a. m. and 7 p. m., and every weekday at 7 a. m. and 7 p. m. Services are held for all children at the Junior Congregation every Saturday at 11 a. m.

Tonight, Oct. 25, the last days of the Feast of Tabernacles begin, with the holiday known as Shmini Atzeres. Services will be held at 6:30 p. m., and Thursday at 9:30 a. m. Yizkor (Memorial) services will begin at 11 a. m. Thursday night, Oct. 26, the holiday known as Simchas Torah will commence with a Simchas Torah party for the children and services at 7 p. m. Friday services will be held at 9:30 a. m., at which time the observance of the conclusion of the Torah, or the Pentateuch, will be held with the reading of the last portion of the Torah, and then the return to the first portion, the Book of Genesis. All worshippers are at this time given the honor to join in the prayers at the reading.

This Friday night, at the Late Service, at 8 p. m., a Family Service will be held, as it is the last Friday of the month, and all children celebrating their birthdays and all members celebrating their wedding anniversaries in October will be honored by having their names called, and being blessed by the rabbi, and with a reception at the Oleg Shabbat. Those observing their birthdays are: Ian Horowitz, David Samuels, Steven Rafalowsky, Roni Cohen, Jeffery Schiff, Robert Saura, David Goldman, Brian Harding, Ellen Scher, Wendy Kesten, Ann Scher, Leslie

Health for All

Last spring, for the 30th consecutive year, many eager young school journalists were gladened and encouraged by the bestowal of national recognition on their work.

The recognition came in the form of proficiency awards made by a nonprofit enterprise called the School Press Project, which seeks to promote higher standards of school journalism in certain areas of public health. The project jointly conducted by the Columbia School Press Association and the National Tuberculosis Association with the approval of the National Association of Secondary School Principals, awards certificates of merit to outstanding examples of journalistic activity on the subjects of tuberculosis, other respiratory diseases, and health careers in general.

This incentive to produce work superior in quality and useful as public service calls forth each year a remarkable response from hundreds of dedicated young school press editors, reporters, feature writers, and artists. Aided and encouraged by health experts in the assigned fields of interest, the youngsters often come up with ingenious ideas for stories and features. Their technique in putting them into practice ranges from slightly picturesque to highly professional in calibre.

Health is everybody's business, and so is education. A school newspaper or magazine is designed to benefit both the youthful staff that produces it and the student body that reads it. It can do that job better by taking one of its most important news subjects — health — out of the narrow sphere of the school building and relating it to the life of the whole community. That's what the School Press project helps schools accomplish. It's open to elementary, junior and senior high schools. The local TB association has all the details.

Three Injured

Three persons were injured at 10:15 a. m. today when the car in which they were riding was in collision with the rear of a county highway department truck on Sawkill Road. The injured were taken to Kingston Hospital by Doctors Ambulance, and the sheriff's department investigated. An ambulance attendant said the injured were Mrs. Dorothy Stokes, 35, of 23 Furnace Street, who sustained injuries of the chest, legs and head; Mrs. Marion Glass, of 12 Center Street, who was treated for injuries of the head and legs; and Patrick Glass 4½, who received head injuries. No further details were available.

Gets Two Deer

LUSK, Wyo. (AP) — Rancher Paul Percival recently bagged two deer—without firing a shot. Percival said he got his first deer with his pickup truck—at a cost of $700 damages to the vehicle. He phoned his wife to get the deer in their car. En route back to the ranch, Percival's car struck and killed another deer but the car escaped damage.

Kronick, Fred Strugatz and Stanley Davidson. Wedding anniversaries will be observed by Mr. and Mrs. Max Eckdich, Mr. and Mrs. Hyman Rosenberg, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Samuels, Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Fischweicher, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Nussbaum, Mr. and Mrs. George Muller, Mr. and Mrs. Abe Camhi, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kirschner, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Scher, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Rosenbaum and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Kronick.

The Friday evening services will be conducted by Rabbi Schechtman, who will deliver his sermon, entitled, What is Man, as the creation of man is read in this week's portion of Genesis. The liturgy will be chanted by Cantor L. Larry Jacobs. The yahrtzeiten of the week will be memorialized and the names read.

During the religious services this Saturday morning the Bar Mitzvah of Steven, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Rafalowsky, will be celebrated. The first part of the service will be conducted by Herman G. Rafalowsky, grandfather of the Bar Mitzvah, and the second part, by the Bar Mitzvah boy himself. The Bar Mitzvah will also read from the Torah and the prophets, and will receive his religious lesson from Rabbi Schechtman at the ceremony. A luncheon, honoring the Bar Mitzvah, will be held after the services in the auditorium.

The Talmud of Kingston will resume its regular schedule of Hebrew and Religious classes on Sunday for primary grades, and on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday for the grades 1 through 4.

The Adult Education Courses at Avhath Israel will begin the first week in November. On Sunday, Nov. 5, at 8 p. m., the Book Review Club will have its organization meeting in the library of the Synagogue Building. On Tuesday, Nov. 7, classes will be held at 8 p. m. in Hebrew Reading and Conversation, and at 9 p. m. in Jewish Ethics. These classes will be tutored by Rabbi Schechtman. On Thursdays, at 3:45, the U. S. Y. class in Hebrew Reading will continue under the tutelage of Mrs. Schechtman.

Agudas Achim

METZGER AS LECTURER — William Metzger, currently appearing as Ernest in The Importance of Being Earnest at the new Hudson Valley Repertory Theatre, was guest speaker in senior English classes at Onteora High School last week. An actor who has performed widely in Shakespeare, he discussed the master dramatist and delved into problems of rehearsal, performance, and voice control. Metzger also read from Hamlet and told of experience during a two-year tour of the U. S. with a repertory group. In the "embarrassing moments" department, he told of the time — during a performance of Macbeth — when a heavy sword flew from his hands during a fight scene, striking a woman in the third row of the audience. Metzger proved popular with the OCS students, many of whom stayed after class to query him further.

Woodstock News

Jaycees Hold Candidates Night

The Woodstock Jaycees, in cooperation with the League of Women Voters, held its second annual candidates night last week at the Woodstock Elementary School.

Jaycee president, Paul Delisio introduced the moderator, Dr. Harold Snyder, superintendent of the Onteora School District.

The candidates on hand to air their views were, for the newly created post of county legislator were: John Bonilla (D) and William West Jr. (R); for town supervisor, Milton Houst (R) and William Sheehan (D).

Constitutional Convention delegate H. Clark Bell, guest speaker for the evening, gave an excellent talk on the proposed New York State Constitution, particularly urging a "No" vote on the new document.

The candidates, while offering a generally mild debate, did touch on some issues that stimulated further questions from the audience. Bonilla, for example, urged definite action on a plan to bring more industry into Ulster County. West agreed that more industry is needed and countered by explaining that machinery for this purpose has already been set in motion by the current county board of supervisors.

Sheehan, fielding a question as to the "efficiency" of the Town Highway Department, said that much money could be saved by buying needed road materials and supplies from the New York State Central purchasing pool. Houst, in response to the same question, said he thought the highway department was already functioning efficiently and that the taxpayers "got their dollars worth."

Church Notes

"Everlasting Punishment" will be the subject of the sermon Sunday at 11 in the Christian Science Church, Woodstock.

The Well Child

In earlier centuries in Europe most babies were thought to be tongue-tied at birth and many midwives routinely severed the "bridle" or chord under the tongue with their fingernails. Things took a turn for the better in 1776 when the court physician in Sweden announced that in all his years of practice he had never seen an infant that was truly tongue-tied. He had, however, seen several who had choked to death when, after the chord had been snipped, the unfortunate infant had swallowed his tongue.

True tongue-tie occurs in only about one in 3,000 infants. Many parents still ask their doctor to snip the chord of their infants and blame their child's slowness to learn to talk on tongue-tie. In many cases, as the child uses his tongue for speaking, the supposed tongue-tie corrects itself automatically.

To test whether your baby is tongue-tied, all you need to do is to take a dry cotton tipped applicator and touch the junction of the skin and red mucous of his lower lip and the two corners of his mouth. He will try to lick it away and, if he succeeds in touching the cotton with his tongue, he is not tongue-tied.

An older child who is tongue-tied will have difficulty making the sounds "d," "n" and "t," the only sounds that require him to touch the roof of his mouth with his tongue. He may also have trouble learning to play a wind instrument. If true tongue-tie exists, it should be corrected but this does not insure proper pronunciation. A

Basic Weaving For Learners

Iona Plath (Alan), noted textile designer and authority on weaving crafts, will conduct a class in basic weaving this season. Sessions will be held Monday afternoon in the weaving room of her home, 55 Glasco Turnpike. Opening date was Oct. 23.

Although Mrs. Alan has other classes for advanced weavers, no knowledge of weaving is required for the beginners' classes. Students will work on small looms, learning to weave such items as place mats, purses, belts, table runners, wall hangings, tote bags and pillows.

Mrs. Alan's latest book, "Hand Weaving," is well known to home weavers everywhere. She writes under her maiden name of Iona Plath. Those interested in registering or further information should call Mrs. Alan at her home number in Woodstock.

Making Your Own

Christmas is just around the corner and, more and more creative people are finding it fun to give handmade gifts to friends and relatives. Anyone can do just that by taking advantage of Joan Pond's class in enameling at Woodstock's Guild Shop. Here students learn to make attractive enamel jewelry and ash trays and most are surprised at their own imagination when given the chance to work in a new and fascinating medium, she maintains.

Classes are now being held in the Guild Shop every Monday from 1:30 to 5 p. m. Those interested should register with Mrs. Bert Wangler at the Tinker Street Shop.

Headquarters

The Democratic Party has opened its headquarters in Woodstock at 85 Mill Hill Road. The office will be open from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. each day, and the public is invited to stop in anytime during those hours for information, literature, or to make contributions. Transportation to the polls on Election Day will be arranged by the office.

Today In History

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Oct. 25, the 298th day of 1967. There are 67 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1936, the Fascist governments of Germany and Italy formed the Rome-Berlin Axis, pledging mutual assistance in case of war.

On this date:

In 1701, a city charter was granted to Philadelphia.

In 1854, Britain's charge of the Light Brigade occurred during the Crimean War.

In 1900, the Japanese bombarded Port Arthur in Manchuria.

In 1938, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek established a provisional capital at Chungking, China.

In 1941, Nazi troops captured Kharkov in the Soviet Ukraine.

In 1940 labor leader John L. Lewis made a broadcast opposing the re-election of President Franklin D. Roosevelt for a third term.

Ten years ago — President Dwight D. Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan conferred in Washington on means of strengthening the Western Alliance.

Five years ago — The U. S. Navy stopped a Soviet ship bound for Cuba but permitted it to proceed since it was not carrying missiles.

One year ago — Former Indonesian Foreign Minister Subandrio was sentenced to death for his part in a Communist attempt to seize control of Indonesia.

Over Million Chevis Are Being Recalled

DETROIT (AP) — Chevrolet parts, without cost to the owners, was reached after some studies revealed that after extended mileage the original assembly, in some cases may separate and result in a severe pull to the right when brakes are applied at low to moderate car speed, a Chevrolet spokesman said.

Owners of 1965 Chevrolets involved, whether the cars were purchased new or used, will be notified by certified letter to take their vehicle to their Chevrolet dealer for inspection and replacement of the parts.

The spokesman said the potentially defective part is at the base of the steering column.

Some Ford Workers Approve New Pact

DETROIT (AP) — Skilled tradesmen and production workers in four locals of the United Auto Workers union have approved the new contract with Ford Motor Co. by comfortable margins.

Production workers voted heavily for the pact Tuesday while skilled tradesmen approved it by a better than two-to-one margin. Some skilled tradesmen had made a last-minute bid for rejection of the contract.

State Grange To Reappraise Charter Course

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — Delegates attending the annual meeting of the State Grange began a "salvage" operation today on the proposed new state constitution.

Tuesday, the farm group approved a recommendation by its education committee that the new charter be voted down in the Nov. 7 election.

But, a spokesman for the Grange said, some proposals in proposed document would be studied today and Thursday to determine whether they could be recommended for action by the Legislature if the constitution is defeated.

About 800 delegates are attending the four-day session, which began Monday. It is the state Grange's 95th annual convention.

In other action Tuesday, Mrs. Calvin Riddlespraker of Lowville won the annual baking contest.

Earlier, Mrs. Eunice Jones of Malone and Mrs. Isabelle Harris of Glens Falls were chosen lecturers of the year and the centennial lecturers. Boosters' award went to Miss Henrietta Fuller of Lowville, and Miss Jane Cannon of Copake.

Greene Man Hurt in Crash

A 34-year-old Greene County man was injured at 12:25 a. m. today when his car went out of control on the Cairo Junction Road, Town of Catskill and hit a tree after colliding with a mail box on the opposite side of the road.

State Trooper L. J. Addis of Leeds said the driver, Francis Varga, of Catskill, was taken to the Albany Medical Center Hospital suffering internal injuries, shock and lacerations of the face.

A report of Trooper A. J. Peterson noted that the car was traveling east when the operator failed to negotiate a left curve. The vehicle veered off the pavement, knocked down a mail box and then careened across the road and hit a tree.

'Pete' Ruth Dies

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — Stanley "Pete" Ruth, whose goal as a circus clown for a half century was to make children laugh "as best I could," died Tuesday at Faxon Hospital here.

Ruth, 73, of nearby Sauquoit, performed in his battered high hat and over-sized shoes with several circuses, including Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey.

In recent years, he appeared at fairs and benefits, mostly in New York State. His last performance was Aug. 13 in Sidney.

He leaves a sister, Mrs. Lillian Grathwohl, also of Sauquoit.

Correction Group Endorses Schick

Citing the now-famous Hughes Report, which has Ulster County with the lowest felony indictment-felony conviction record in the State, the N. Y. State Correction Officers Committee on Political Education endorsed John J. Schick for Ulster County Court judge.

In a letter sent to Democratic Conservative Schick at his Kingston home, Committee Chairman Warren L. Cairo wrote, "State Correction Officers are genuinely concerned about the rate of felony convictions in Ulster County."

"As law enforcement officers, we recognize the dangerous threat to lives and property when grand jury indictments are dismissed and known criminals are released."

The Correction Officers' spokesman further declared, "In our opinion, the failure to convict in many cases is the fault of the district attorney, county judge, or a combination of both."

Cairo pointed to a 1966 case involving a correction officer who was "maliciously attacked by an inmate" at the Catskill Reformatory in Napanoch.

"The attack was without provision. The correction officer was so brutally beaten, he had to be hospitalized. Most of his teeth were knocked out, and his face will be disfigured for life. There is absolutely no doubt he could have lost his life."

"The correction officer preferred charges, the inmate was charged with second degree assault which was reduced to third degree assault and the sentence therefore minimized." The Correction Officers Political Education chairman stated that "the inherent dangers that result from such leniency we have to live with every day. We know the danger and can adjust to it, but the public must be protected."

"From the record of convictions in Ulster County, it appears we are not being afforded this protection as guaranteed by law," the letter declared.

In the organization's endorsement of Schick, Cairo said, "We know your position. We know that you will mete out justice firmly and fairly."

"As state chairman of the Committee on Political Education for New York State Correction Officers, we overwhelmingly endorse your candidacy for the office of county judge."

CLINTONDALE NEWS

CLINTONDALE — Clintondale, Modena and Plattekill Methodist Churches held a joint service Sunday morning at the Modena church.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Smith celebrated their 56th wedding anniversary. They were honored at an open house Sunday at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Smith. Mrs. Grace Bernard of Modena and Albert Terwilliger of Connecticut, who attended the couple were present. Other guests were from Clintondale, Highland, Monticello, Newburgh, Poughkeepsie and New Paltz. Refreshments featuring a large wedding cake were served. Mr. Smith is a retired employee of the highway department. The Smiths have two sons, Donald and Vernon.

Treasury Will Melt Silver Coins to Meet Shortage

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Treasury Department expects to begin melting silver coins after Christmas to help accumulate enough silver for domestic use into the 1970s.

Robert A. Wallace, assistant secretary of the treasury, said the department expects to have between 350 million to 425 million ounces of silver in bars and coins by next June 24—enough to supply industry for three to four years.

June 24 is the deadline for Americans to turn in their silver certificates—one type of paper money issued between 1929 and the early 1960s—for silver.

The price of silver rose to a record $1.89 an ounce Monday in New York, 10 days after the government announced it is saving its purest silver for the strategic stockpile.

But Wallace said there's plenty of silver to go around.

Earlier this year, the government quietly began withdrawing from circulation some of the old dimes and quarters containing 90 per cent silver. It now makes copper-nickel coins.

The withdrawal was described as a precaution to provide a backlog of coins for the Christmas rush and to make sure the Treasury had enough silver to redeem certificates and feed the strategic stockpile.

What began as an informal practice, Wallace said, became a fixed rule in late July and now all the old dimes and quarters are being withdrawn from circulation when they return in the normal course of business to the 36 federal reserve banks and branches.

He said the coins retrieved through last Friday contain 150 million ounces of silver. Another 100 million to 175 million ounces is expected to be pulled from circulation through June 24.

In all probability, he said, the department will begin melting

the old coins into bars after December.

The Treasury is not bound by the ban on melting of coins imposed May 18 when it also barred export of silver coins and limited sales of silver bars to domestic users.

The department has no plans to lift the melting ban or to recall all silver coins.

It's estimated that the 8½ million dimes and quarters considered in circulation contain about 700 million ounces of silver.

ACS Believes Picture Worth Million—Words

One picture worth a thou-sand words? The American Cancer Society believes that one picture—a motion picture—may be worth a million words.

Don't forget the name. Jumbo as in great, big.

The American Cancer Society has been using words for years—printed and spoken—to educate the public about cancer; that it is curable, but that cure almost invariably depends on early detection, diagnosis and treatment. Those are only a few words, but they're just about the whole story, except that in the case of lung and skin cancers, prevention is possible too.

However, words alone have not had the desired effect in persuading Americans—particularly the lower educated and lesser privileged to do what is in their power to protect themselves. For this reason, the Society, nationally and through its Divisions, has begun a massive acceleration of its film-making program to implement its printed materials and person-to-person approach.

Mrs. Madeline Wendrow, executive director of Ulster County Unit, ACS, announces that the film, The Other City, will be shown during the 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Health Fair event on Oct. 28. Members of the board of directors of the local Cancer Society will be on hand to distribute literature and answer questions concerning the Society's programs of research, education and service.

Asks Evaluations

HINGHAM, Mass. (AP) — A Jesuit psychologist has urged that health of priests could be im-proved by group therapy, ready access to psychiatric advice, honesty in assessing their motives, and more candor in dia-logues between seminarians and their teachers.

The biggest problem in running a seminary is the "number of people who come in for false reasons," the Rev. John McCall of Boston College told a meeting for bishops and superiors at Glastonbury Monastery.

Pneumatic dispatch tubes were first used for transporting written messages in London in 1853.

Plans for the Future

Hucktrol Projects Under Study

By WALTER S. CLARK Jr.

Steady growth in business and a decided increase in per-sonnel since it acquired the lo-cal facility at 85 Grand Street, on Oct. 25, 1965, has been ex-perienced by Hucktrol, Inc., under the guidance of the parent firm, Huck Manufacturing Co., of Detroit, Mich.

Company officials are work-ing diligently on plans for the future, recognizing the fact there is much to be done. They are working to implement a plant training program with the Board of Cooperative Educa-tional Services (BOCES) to provide skilled workers to fill the needs of the area.

No Layoffs

Other projects are under study by Hucktrol officials that will be of value and interest to Kingston and other commu-nities in Ulster County.

Sale of the Kingston facility which comprises more than 100,000 square feet of manu-facturing space under one roof on a 5-acre site, was finalized and approved on Oct. 25, 1965.

Charles W. Hansen, vice pres-ident and general manager of Hucktrol noted on the second anniversary of the company's operation in this city, that dur-ing the two years in Kingston no one has been laid off for lack of work. He said there has been a steady increase in per-sonnel at the plant, which pre-sently is operating on two shifts.

Two years ago when Huck-trol took over the Grand Street facility, only two employees were on the active payroll. Today, Hansen said, the company em-ploys 228 and is gradually ap-proaching the original goal of 250 estimated in 1965. Hansen explained that of the 228 em-ployees, only a dozen were non-residents of Ulster County. The others were residents of this area.

Payroll Tops Million

The present payroll is "well over $1-million," according to Hansen.

Soon after taking over the Grand Street property, Hucktrol had the sprawling one-story building completely painted and improved and new machinery and other equipment was in-stalled to augment that used by the former owners.

Hucktrol, which produces 96 varieties of installation tools for the Huck fastener system, is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Huck Manufacturing Co., which operates in the United States, Canada and overseas. The 27-year-old company is a prime supplier of fastening devices to aircraft, aerospace, railroads, U. S. Navy and private ship-builders, bus and trailers, mili-tary electronics, farm equip-ment and building construction.

Hucktrol continues in the busi-ness of supplying the products and services of the former Kingston firm and in addition it has become the prime source for installation tools and accessories to the parent company.

For more than 20 years, Huck Manufacturing Co. has been part of the world of metal fas-teners. The company was found-ed by Louis Huck, a remarkable inventive man, whose personal contribution to the "state of fastener art" and to many in-dustries which today still rely on the fasteners he invented, Huck can provide operator are matters of great personal pride to the company.

Huck representatives are lo-cated throughout the world to help customers analyze and evaluate fastening needs. The representative, a trained spe-cialist, will arrange actual demonstrations of the Huck sys-tem at plant or field locations. Huck can provide operator and maintenance.

training at either a potential customer's plant or at formal training courses regularly scheduled at the main plant in Detroit.

This training service is unique in the industry and the course itself covers all phases of fas-tener technology and use along with installation tool operation and maintenance.

Returns to Base

NORMAN C. BOHAN

Captain Norman C. Bohan, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bohan of River Road, Ulster Park, has returned to base after six months duty in the Mediterranean.

Captain Bohan, who resides in Newport, R. I., with his wife, the former M. Frances Stout of Kingston, and their six children, captained the USS Nantahala, a refueling ship.

A member of Service Squadron Two, the Nantahala's primary task is fueling the Navy's vessels at sea. In the 172 days that she was a sea, the 234 men and 14 officers have fueled 260 ships, pumped over 25 million gallons of petrol and transferred over 17 tons of drummed lubricants.

Capt. Bohan is a graduate of Kingston High School and the United States Naval Academy. He is a charter member of the American Legion Post Number 1298, Port Jervis.

DeWitt Studies

Data Systems Technician Third Class Charles D. DeWitt, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles V. DeWitt of Tillson is attending the 33-week Data Systems course at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

During the course he will learn how to maintain electronic data equipment, test and repair computers, video processors and tape units.

Sgt. Decorated

Staff Sergeant Robert F. Sylvester, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Sylvester of RD 1, Bingham Road, Marlboro, has received the U. S. Air Force Commendation Medal at Ent AFB, Colo.

Sergeant Sylvester was decorated for meritorious service as a personnel technician at Bolling AFB, Washington, D. C. He was cited for his outstanding professional skill, knowledge and leadership.

He is now at Ent with the Air Defense Command which provides aerospace defense against hostile aircraft and missiles.

The sergeant is a graduate of Newburgh (N.Y.) Free Academy.

AF Lieutenant

RUSSELL J. SHAPIRO

son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shapiro of 222 Main Street, Saugerties, has been commissioned a second lieutenant in the U. S. Air Force upon graduation from Officer Training School (OTS) at Lackland AFB, Tex.

Lieutenant Shapiro, selected for OTS through competitive examination, is being assigned to Lowry AFB, Colo., for training as a supply operations officer. The lieutenant, a graduate of Saugerties High School, received his B.S. degree in 1967 from Rochester Institute of Technology.

Army Commission

PETER F. LORDI JR.

Three Marines

Marine Privates Stephen F. Betley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Betley of Murphy Street, Stewart J. Doherty, son of Mrs. Mary J. Doherty of Route 3, and John A. Viano, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fortunato J. Viano of Route 5, all of Kingston were graduated from eight weeks of recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot here.

They will now undergo from two to four weeks of individual combat training and then, after leave at home, will report to their first Marine Corps assignment.

The intensified Marine recruit training emphasizes rigid physical conditioning and survival techniques, both at sea and ashore, to develop self-confidence and endurance. Marksmanship with the M-14 rifle and 45-caliber pistol are equally stressed, and close order drill instills the tradition of Marine Corps teamwork.

Completes Basic

MICHAEL A. PRISCO

Michael A. Prisco, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael A. Prisco of 268 Washington Avenue, Kingston, has completed basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex. He is now assigned as an administrative specialist with a unit of the Tactical Air Command at MacDill AFB, Fla. Airman Prisco is a graduate of McArthur High School, Hollywood, Fla.

Ends Duty Tour

electricians mate second class, was released from active duty after serving four years in the United States Coast Guard.

While in the Coast Guard he served in the Pacific and on Coast Guard cutters operating out of New York City. Torkelsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Torkelsen of Ridge Road, Shokan, will attend RCA Institute in New York City.

Craig on Carrier

Communications Yeoman Seaman Wayne A. Craig, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Craig of Rte. 4, Kingston, is serving aboard the anti-submarine warfare support aircraft carrier USS Intrepid off the coast of North Vietnam.

O'Byrne Graduates

Marine Private Richard J. O'Byrne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. O'Byrne of River Rd., New Paltz, was graduated from eight weeks of recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Paris Island, S.C.

He will now undergo from two to four weeks of individual combat training and then, after leave at home, will report to his first Marine Corps assignment.

Marksmanship with the M-14 rifle and 45-caliber pistol are equally stressed, and close order drill instills the traditions of Marine Corps teamwork.

At Fort Sill

Two Ulster County Army Privates, William E. Mayhew Jr., 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Mayhew Sr. of 51 Lawrenceville Street, Kingston and Frederick R. Yerkins, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Yerkins of Route 209, Wawarsing, completed an eight-week field artillery basic course Oct. 12 at Fort Sill, Okla.

During the course they were trained in the operation and maintenance of the 105mm and the 155mm towed howitzers. He also received specialized training in firing such weapons as the M-40 machine gun, the M-79 grenade launcher and the 3.5-inch rocket launcher.

Receives Citation

S5 FRANK J. ZYGMUNT JR.

An Esopus serviceman, Specialist 5 Frank J. Zygmunt Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Zygmunt of Esopus was cited recently for meritorious service as chief of the guidance and control section, Ordnance Platoon, Headquarters and Headquarters Battery, 3rd Battalion, 81st Artillery. He is stationed at Fort Sill, Okla.

Burdine Awarded

Henry W. Burdine, 24, son of Mrs. Dolores Burdine, Route 2, Highland, was promoted to Army private grade E-2 upon completion of basic combat training at Ft. Knox, Ky., Oct. 6.

The promotion was awarded two months earlier than is customary under an Army policy providing incentive for outstanding trainees.

In Vietnam

Airman First Class Bruce E. Terwilliger, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Terwilliger of 426 Washington Ave., Kingston, is on duty at Cam Ranh Bay AB, Vietnam.

Airman Terwilliger, an aircraft mechanic, is a member of the Pacific Air Forces.

Before his arrival in Southeast Asia, he was assigned at Webb AFB, Tex.

The airman is a 1964 graduate of Kingston High School.

Girl Scouts Fete Volunteers Nov. 4

The annual recognition dinner of the Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts will be held at the Governor Clinton Hotel Saturday, Nov. 4.

Invitations have been sent to the 600 adult volunteers who help to provide a program of fun, learning, adventure and service to over 3100 registered Girl Scouts in Ulster County.

This is a once a year event when adults gather together for the purpose of recognizing the accomplishments of the more outstanding volunteers and to spend an enjoyable evening with others who share a common interest in volunteer scout work.

Included in the evening's schedule is a buffet in the Crystal Room of the hotel, preceded by a social hour. In addition to many special awards and other surprise awards, there will be an entertainment in the form of songs and audience participation games. Richard Mathews will be master of ceremonies.

Reservations may be sent to the Girl Scout office by Oct. 27, care of Mrs. John Murdoch, general chairman of the dinner. The Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts is one of the 13 member agencies of the Ulster County Community Chest.

To Open Drug Cure, Prevention Centers

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller says the Narcotic Control Addition Commission will open seven additional education centers to inform the public about its program to prevent and cure drug addiction.

Four of the new centers will be located upstate—in Rochester, Syracuse, Binghamton and Albany. The others will be in Yonkers, Suffolk County and the lower west side of Manhattan.

The state already has eight of the centers in operation. Seven are in New York City and the eighth in Buffalo.

Rockefeller, in announcing the plan Tuesday, said the centers would be opened in about three months at a cost of $35,000 each. The cost includes renovation of space, rents and staff salaries.

The new offices, Rockefeller said, were designed to fill the educational gap in the "soft-drug area" between New York City and Buffalo. The term, a spokesman said, is used to indicate predominant use of such drugs as amphetamines, barbiturates and marijuana, rather than such drugs as heroin and opium.

Each center will be staffed by four persons, including two ex-addicts. They give information regarding prevention of addiction and procedures for placing addicts in treatment centers operated by the commission.

Survey Has 1967 Taxes Up $377,884

ALBANY — Real property estimated revenues from the taxes levied by New York's 57 Upstate counties reached a new high in 1967—$72.7 million or 18 per cent more than in 1966.

The 1967 total levied by the board of supervisors for counties outside New York City was $468.6 million, compared with $395.9 million in 1966.

The Citizens Public Expenditure Survey, a private tax research organization, said real property taxes paid for 42.6 per cent of the $1.1 billion spending authorized for operations of county governments in 1967.

The real property tax levies or "net budgets" are arrived at in each county by deducting

Ulster County's gross budget was $12,341,047, an increase of $1,846,938 from last year.

Tentative budgets for 1968 under preparation, must be filed with boards of supervisors by November 15. Boards may change tentative budgets, but before final adoption, copies of the proposed budgets as changed must be made available at the offices of the clerks of the boards of supervisors and public hearings must be held.

Boards of Supervisors may revise budgets following public hearings and prior to final adoption which cannot be later than December 20.

By dividing the tax levy by the most recently estimated population of the counties, we can obtain the per capita tax levy for each county.

The highest per capita real property tax levy is Hamilton County with $127.43 followed by Nassau at $101, Sullivan at $72.61, Suffolk at $58.66 and Warren at $54.23 per capita.

At the low end of the ranking is Broome County with a per capita tax levy of $15.48 followed by Tompkins at $18.72, Tioga at $20.58 and Saratoga at $22.16.

A county by county comparison of real property tax levy is subject to certain qualifications:

There is great variation among counties in the number, extent and quality of services provided by county governments.

Some counties levy non-property taxes which reduce the demand on the property tax. In these cases, the total tax burden is not reflected in a comparison of real property taxes.

One of Aussies Richest Men Dies

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — A. W. Palfreyman, one of Australia's richest men, died Tuesday night at the age of 92.

A successful summer in the gift shop, sales cart and snack bar of the Kingston Hospital has enabled the sponsoring organization, Kingston Hospital Auxiliary, to purchase needed equipment. This announcement was made by Auxiliary President Mrs. Richard Kalish at an opening fall-winter meeting of the group Oct. 17 in the nurses residence. The volunteer group is adding bed tables, wheel chairs, air mattresses and other equipment to the supply now at the hospital.

Seven new members were welcomed into the Auxiliary. They are: Mrs. Alice Farmer, Mrs. James Tyrell, Mrs. George Erbstein, Mrs. Peter O'Hara, Mrs. George Melahm, Mrs. Saul Schecter and Mrs. Thomas Lea.

Zone Meeting Set
Mrs. Kalish and Mrs. Karl Pitcock are accepting reservations for the upcoming meeting of the Southeastern Region of Hospital Auxiliaries which will be held Nov. 9 at the Homowack Lodge in Wurtsboro. The Ellenville Hospital Auxiliary will be the host group.

The annual card party slated for April will be headed up by Mrs. James Elder, Mrs. Harold Finkle and Mrs. Raymond Armater were named chairman of the hospital's annual dance.

Open House will be observed at Kingston Hospital on October 26, according to Mrs. Carl Dedy, chairman of Nurse Recruitment. Auxiliary members will be hostesses.

Mrs. George C. Rifenburg, historian for the group, exhibited the completed Book of Memories which covers activities of the volunteer organization.

Schnitzer Speaks

Robert Schnitzer, who has been hospital administrator for the past 13 years, has accepted a position with the State Board of Health in Albany. He was guest speaker at the October 17 meeting. In his address he emphasized the various changes which have taken place in hospital administration during the past year and a half covering such topics as voluntary governmental control through Medicare and Medicaid. He also outlined tentative expansion plans to include X-ray facilities, food service assembly line equipment, computer service in the business office and expanded parking area.

The following committee chairmanships were assigned by the Auxiliary president:

Mrs. Robert O. Wemple, membership; Mrs. Henry Singer, publicity; Mrs. Charles Schulenberg, hospitality; Mrs. Hurley Simpson, desk; Miss Marguerite E. Meyers, candy strippers; Mrs. James E. Norton, baby photo; Mrs. Harold Finkle, budget chairman; Mrs. Frederic Holcomb Sr., gift shop; Mrs. Neil Ryder and Mrs. Neil Whitehurst, sales cart; Mrs. Herbert Powell, good cheer; Mrs. George C. Rifenburg, historian; Mrs. William K. Gregory, student nurse activities and recreation; Mrs. Carl Dedy, student nurse recruitment; Mrs. Albert H. Tannin, newsletter; Mrs. Warren Simmons, by-laws; and Mrs. Robert Markes, uniforms. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Harry Seitz, Mrs. George Rifenburg and Mrs. Harold Finkle.

Retired Teachers' Conference At Grossingers; State Level

Approximately 300 delegates will be attending the New York State Retired Teachers Association convention October 31, Nov. 1 and 2 at Grossingers, it was announced today.

Pending legislation concerning cost-of-living adjustments and health insurance will be among important topics to be discussed.

In addition to a list of distinguished guests officers of the National Retired Teachers Association will be in attendance.

Some of the delegates from this area will include Miss Mary Pollemus, Ulster County director; Mrs. Bertha Allan, Mrs. Harry Christiana, Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Vaughn. Registrations should be made directly with Grossingers.

County Meeting

The first fall meeting of the Ulster County Retired Teachers

Association was held at Lake Mohonk on October 19 and the membership voted to oppose the proposed New York State Constitution.

The next meeting of the Ulster County group will be a luncheon in the social hall of the Clinton Avenue Church in Kingston. Guest speakers will discuss such topics as social security, insurance, retirement benefits and cost of living legislation.

Bill Skilling Gives Dramatic Readings

The Welcome Wagon of Kingston met for its regular monthly meeting Tuesday, Oct. 17, at 8 p. m. at the YWCA.

The program for the evening was a selection of dramatic readings presented by William Skilling, program director for Radio Station WGHQ. "Americana" was the title Mr. Skilling chose to give to his group of readings. Included were a selection from Thomas Wolfe, "Prayers of Today," made by prominent Americans; "Ode to an Unborn Child," said to be written by an American soldier about to go into battle; and a humorous selection from William Saroyan.

After the readings, Mr. Skilling invited those present to ask questions or make comments on either radio programming or other things of interest to them in the Kingston area.

During the business meeting, several service projects in which the club is involved were discussed. Volunteers from the club will help with registration at the Health Fair to be sponsored by First Federal Savings and Loan Association on Saturday at 235 Fair Street. Other club members have volunteered to tell children's stories throughout the year for the Story Hour at the Kingston Public Library. Plans are currently being made for a theater party for Friday, Nov. 17. Members and their husbands will attend the Coach House Players production of "Goodbye Charlie." Anyone interested may contact Mrs. Robert Schneider.

Hostesses for the social hour which followed the meeting were Mrs. Eugene Yarotsky, Mrs. William Evans, Mrs. Stanley Woodbury, and Mrs. John Watts.

The next meeting of the club will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 21, at 8 p. m. at the YWCA. The program at that time will be presented by Roy Donaldson, a former Peace Corps member who served in Ethiopia.

Persons interested in further information about the Welcome Wagon Club may contact either Mrs. Charles Selzo, area hostess, or Mrs. Joseph Colon, assistant hostess.

Green Pepper Sauce

For something unusually good over vegetables serve green pepper sauce. Brown three strips of bacon in a skillet. Remove and crumble the bacon pieces. Pour off fat and measure back into the skillet three tablespoons bacon fat. In bacon drippings, saute until tender, one chopped green pepper and one chopped pimiento. Add the crumbled bacon and pour the pepper sauce over the prepared vegetables to serve.

County Participates in National CYO Week

National CYO Week will be October 29 to November 5. Ulster County participation in the event will include an elementary age Holy Hour at St. Mary's Church, Kingston, Sunday at 3 p. m. in tribute to "Christ the King," Boy Scouts, Cubs, Brownies and all uniformed groups are requested to wear uniforms, to meet at the school at 2:45 p. m. and proceed to the center aisle of the Church. Services will be under the direction of the Rev. John Farley, St. Mary's CYO moderator.

Theme Is Chosen

"Youth . . . Apostles to Youth" is the theme of 1967 CYO Week, taken from the decrees of Second Vatican

Council, "Young persons themselves, then should become the first and immediate apostles to other youths, exercising an apostolate of their own among themselves."

National CYO Week was first observed in Ulster County in October 1951 and has been marked annually by special youth Holy Hours.

Teenage Holy Hour has been scheduled for Sunday at St. Joseph's Church at 7 p. m. The service will be under the direction of the Rev. James Keating, CYO moderator for St. Joseph's Parish. During the service new officers of the Ulster County CYO Teen Age Federation will be officially installed in their office. A short meeting of the County Council will be held afterward in St. Joseph's School.

School boy cross country races will be held at Hasbrouck Park Saturday, Oct. 28, as the opening event. The race is for boys of elementary age and is run as a memorial tribute to the late Richard Hinkley, an outstanding Catholic layman of Ulster County, who devoted much of his time to youth work. The winning team will receive the County Trophy and individual winners will be awarded CYO medals. Complete details may be obtained from the school principal, CYO moderator or members of the Parish Youth Committee.

Oratorical Contest

Another activity during CYO week invites boys and girls of the seventh and eighth grades to submit short stories in competition. Awards will be made to the winners.

St. Peter's hall, Kingston, will be the site of this year's annual CYO oratorical contest for elementary students. The topic is, "What Challenge Does the Church of Today Present to Our Catholic Youth?" Each parish may enter only two contestants in this contest. First place winner will represent Ulster County in the finals in New York City on Sunday, Dec. 3. The county contest is slated for Saturday, Nov. 11 at 2 p. m. Public is invited.

Saturday, Nov. 18, after the 8 a. m. Mass at St. Joseph's Church, a "free throw" contest will be held. All participants are invited to attend Mass for the intention of quick and lasting peace in the world and protection of the servicemen in Vietnam. After Mass a breakfast will be served in St. Joseph's cafeteria. Boys will proceed to the George Washington School and girls will remain at St. Joseph's gym for the four shooting contests. Contestants must wear sneakers.

Awards Program

Don Kiernan, newly appointed Ulster County athletic chairman, has announced that a meeting will be held Sunday, Nov. 5 at 7:30 p. m. at St. Mary's School for all adults involved in CYO basketball programs.

Awards ceremony will be held at St. Patrick's Cathedral Sunday, Nov. 5, at 2 p. m. Those desiring transportation are asked to contact the Rev. James LeBar at St. Joseph's for bus accommodations.

Annual Catholic Youth Communion crusade will take place Sunday. Every Catholic youth is urged to participate by receiving Communion in a group or with his family on that special day.

Cheer leading contests are scheduled for February 4 and March 3 at Fordham University gym. Local parishes interested in competing should notify the Ulster County Office before December 1.

Activities slated for Ulster County include an art show, craft show, hobby show, quiz contest, teen age oratorical contest, poetry writing contest, essay contest, talent show, one-act play contest, doll show.

ster County GOP Committee. Looking on are (L-R) Mrs. John A. Rogalin, GOP committee vice chairman, New York State; Miss Cordelia Feltman, Bloomington; Mrs. Herbert J. Spender, Spencerport, and Mrs. Keith McHugh, New York State Republican National Committeewoman.

The annual convention for teenagers has been scheduled for Friday, Nov. 24 and Saturday, Nov. 25, at New York Hilton Hotel. Registration, workshops, conferences, banquet, cotillion, county caucuses will take place Friday starting at 11 a. m. On Saturday beginning at 8:30 a. m. there will be breakfast, archdiocesan election, con-celebrated Mass, installation of officers. All arrangements should be made through the parish clubs and Ulster County CYO Office by November 15. Two Ulster County council officers seeking election to Archdiocesan Office are Mike Habernig, president and Kathy Bunary, vice president.

Federated to date are St. Catherine's, St. Joseph's, St. Peter's, all of Kingston; St. Peter's, Rosendale; St. Mary of the Snows, Saugerties; St. Augustine, Highland. St. Mary's, Kingston, will be federated.

Appeared Recently On Television Show

Geraldine Jamiolkowski Hill appeared on the television program "Think Twice" on Oct. 19 as part of the Massachusetts Bay United Fund solicitors participation training program on WHDH, Channel 5, featuring local Bay Area volunteers.

She is the daughter of Sophie Jamiolkowski of 22 Glen Circle Drive, New Paltz.

Courtship Among Birds

Most songbirds do their mating with both feet on the ground or on a handy perch; the male prairie chicken dances and struts before the female; grouse hiss and make a loud drumming noise with their wings; mergansers chase their mates underwater; bobolinks and meadowlarks sing and display the wing.

A 1948 graduate of New Paltz High School, Mrs. Hill received her bachelor of science degree from Simmons College, Boston, Mass. in 1952, and also did post-graduate work in business administration with the Harvard - Radcliffe Program. Prior to becoming a mother she worked in the fields of public relations and sales promotion.

Mrs. Hill is active in community affairs in the city of Newton, Mass., a suburb of Boston. She has worked in a variety of jobs for the United Fund and this year is public relations chairman for Newton and for the 18 towns of the West Division.

She is married to Walter D. Hill. The Hills live in Waban, Mass., and have three children ages 3, 7, and 9.

Mind Loads Up Best in spurts

By the Reading Laboratory
(Excerpted from the World Publishing Company book, "Study Faster and Retain More," Illustrations by Roy Doty.)

Nobody is really sure just how learning works. We do know enough about learning to figure out some productive study methods, and perhaps more important, we know something about forgetting, too.

We know, for instance, that your learning is restricted by your span of concentration, and we know that the average span of concentration for a student is about 50 minutes. That's why your classes are usually 50 minutes long.

We know that you can learn meaningful material more easily than you can memorize nonsense syllables—and that you can retain the meaningful material longer.

We know that most forgetting occurs immediately after learning because the continued flow of new material makes it difficult for a new concept to "take."

On the other hand, if you can still remember something the day after you learned it, you can be sure you won't forget it easily.

This just scratches the surface of learning theory, but it's enough to help you plan your study time more intelligently. For instance, if your span of concentration is only 50 minutes, isn't it silly to study one subject for three or four hours straight through?

Since the influx of new material speeds up forgetting, doesn't it follow that if you study for several hours without reinforcement, you'll forget most of what you learned in the first hour?

And if meaningful material is the easiest to learn, isn't it pointless to memorize without trying to understand what you're memorizing?

Here's the way you ought to study to make the process of learning work for you:

● Study in spurts. Study for about a half hour, then take a five-minute break.

● Really turn your mind on full power for each "study spurt." Get the most out of each spurt. Be active, involved and thinking.

● Switch subjects. Spend two half-hour periods on one subject then switch to another. It'll keep your mind fresh.

● Spend the first five minutes of each half-hour period reviewing the previous half-hour. This kind of regular reinforcement will eliminate a lot of forgetting.

● If you have to memorize something, understand it first.

● Take notes as you study—just key words to help you remember. Your memory is tricky; don't trust it.

● At the end of each week, make a quick review of the week's study.

Make your mind work for you; don't work against it.

Meet After 55 Years

Lucio Cercone of Alife, Italy, Province of Sostera, was reunited recently with his seven brothers and one sister, after not having seen them for over 55 years.

Mr. Cercone arrived here recently for a three month stay visiting friends and relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Cercone of 63 Atkins Avenue, Bristol, Conn., entertained at a family reunion, at which he was guest of honor, Sunday, at the American Legion Hall. Members of the family who attended were Paul Cercone, David Cercone, Amedeo Cercone, Rose Fiorillo, Lucio Cercone, Arthur Cercone, Edward Cercone, Alexander Cercone and Orlando Cercone. The reunion was attended by 75 guests from Kingston and Schenectady as well as surrounding towns.

The Mt. Rushmore Memorial in South Dakota is larger than the Sphinx of Egypt. The sculptured heads of the memorial are so large that Lincoln's nose is longer than the entire face of the Sphinx.

'Quiet Time Apart' Service Scheduled

The Women's Society of Christian Service of St. James Methodist Church will climax the week of Prayer and Self-Denial with a Quiet Time Apart Service at their regular monthly meeting Wednesday at 1 p.m.

"Feed My Sheep" is the theme for 1967. Mrs. Viola Tarsia will be assisted by Mrs. Molly Mahar, Mrs. Maria Finkla and Mrs. Viola Finger.

Each year women all over the world observe "The Week of Self-Denial and Prayer" by private daily devotions and by an offering of self-denial.

Monies collected from this self-denial offering are used in various ways. This year the projects are for social welfare work in the U.S., such as building programs for homes for disturbed children; residences for young business women in cities, for example, Esther Hall in Indianapolis, Ind. The special offering for overseas work is designated for leadership training for women around the world.

A representative of the Women's Society stated: "It is often said that charity must begin at home. Creative good will, understanding, and mutual accord must increase among us, the people, if nations are to survive the turmoil of this world and find harmony. It is hoped that the love and the concern expressed through prayer and truly sacrificially generous offerings for Christian work with women, children and youth here and overseas through these call to Prayer and Self-Denial meetings in the U.S., will contribute meaningfully to God's creative power for brotherhood and peace around the world."

All women are invited to attend.

Tiny Tips

Clothespin Bag

Hang a clothespin bag on the side of baby's playpen to hold his toys when he is not using them. This keeps the playpen neat, and prevents baby from being confused by too many toys.

For Hemming

Cream of Tartar

Vinegar for Suede

Remove those shiny spots that appear on suede shoes by sponging them with vinegar. Allow the shoes to dry thoroughly, then brush them briskly with a suede brush to raise the nap.

Use Lemon Juice

By adding lemon juice to your meringue recipe you can give it more flavor and a nicer cutting quality. Mix the Lemon juice with the egg whites just before beating.

Save Empty Spools

Save empty thread spools of graduated size, and paint them in bright colors. When dry string them on a tape measure; they make stunning tie-backs for the sewing room curtains.

Christmas Ornaments

Save all your empty thread spools. The first rainy day that comes along, let the children paint them gold, silver, red, and green, to hang as ornaments on the Christmas tree.

Deep Freeze Bags

You will have much better luck sending candy and cookies through the mail if you seal them in deep freeze bags before packing. This way, they remain fresh until they arrive at their destination.

To 'Skin' Nuts

To remove the brown skin from shelled nuts, place nuts in a pan and cover them with cold water. Bring the water to a fast boil. Remove from the fire as soon as the water has boiled up good. Drain, then rinse with cold water. The skins will slip off easily and quickly.

Russians No Like Our Golf

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Soviet athletes swept event after event in Mexico's Pre-Olympic Games but they won't be any competition next month during the World Cup golf tournament.

"We'd like them to start and get in some of these international tournaments," said Fred Corcoran of New York, tournament director for the International Golf Association (IGA). "But we took a survey and found out they don't even have a golf course."

Corcoran said a course was built in the Soviet Union during the presidency of Dwight Eisenhower in anticipation of a visit by the U.S. president to the Soviet Union.

"We're told that it never was used and has grown up in weeds," said the man who will supervise the World Cup tournament Nov. 9-12 at the Club de Golf Mexico.

The absence of the Soviet Union, however, distracts not a bit from the tournament which is larger this year than ever before.

The World Cup, formerly called the Canada Cup, pits the two best professional golfers a country has against the best from other nations in a 72-hole battle of international pride and prestige.

Forty teams are entered this year for play on the longest course ever used for the tournament, a 7,216-yard, par 72 layout just 30 minutes from downtown Mexico City.

Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus, generally agreed to be the two best professionals in the world, will represent the United States. Palmer has been on five winning teams but never has won individual honors. The U.S. is the defending champion.

Other top golfers entered are Gary Player of South Africa, Bob Charles of New Zealand and Roberto deVicenzo of Argentina.

Practice rounds on the completely renovated course are scheduled for Nov. 6-7 with a program set for Nov. 8.

Fallsmen Win In Cross Country

The Falls finished with 28 points against 45 for coach Bud Smith's Saugerties and 48 for the Beacons.

Individual winner over the 2.5 mile course was Rick Thornton of the hosts. He was timed in 13:29. Teammate Joe Daley was second and Jim Gilbane, the SHS ace, finished third.

Chargers Have Edge In AFL Total Offense

NEW YORK (AP)—San Diego leads the American Football League in total offense and passing offense, according to statistics released by the league today.

The Chargers have amassed 394.3 yards per game with 270.3 of them coming on passes. Kansas City leads the league in rushing offense with 146.5 yards per game.

Oakland leads in all three defense departments, having allowed 73.0 yards per game rushing, 99.0 yards passing for a total of 172.0 yards.

Trojans, Tar Heels Key Picks Saturday

NEW YORK (AP) — Like the cost of living, a football forecaster's average sometimes goes out of sight. But there's a difference because the forecaster's figures always get smaller and smaller. Last week's average was .704.

The year's average is .713. Here are this week's picks:

Southern California over Oregon: By sundown Saturday, Orange Juice Simpson will taste like bitter lemon to the Webfoots of Oregon.

Colorado over Oklahoma State: The Cowpokes are strong on defense but they never have encountered anyone who can puncture a line with the speed and efficiency of Wilmer Cooks.

Tennessee over Louisiana State: If the Volunteers could beat Alabama last week with a third string quarterback, what will they do to LSU now that everyone is healthy?

North Carolina State over Duke: Dennis Byrd, a 250-pound tackle is in charge of the Wolf-pack's defense. The friendliness of the home field also will help NC State remain unbeaten.

Notre Dame over Michigan State: A year ago this was the all-everything game but this time around there is a lot less glamor although the bumps and bruises will be as numerous as ever. You can watch from your own arm-chair.

Georgia over Kentucky: This season, Kentucky has lost five straight while yielding 140 points. Georgia has won four of five while punching over 151 points.

Purdue over Iowa: Mike Phipps, Purdue's sophomore quarterback, is the nation's all-offense leader.

Wyoming over Arizona State: The game is being played in the Sun Devils' stadium but that won't help them any.

Houston over Mississippi: The margin of victory could be as thin as a point after touchdown.

Indiana over Arizona: The Hoosiers travel a great distance for their sixth triumph of the season but the journey home will be a happy one.

Syracuse over Penn State: Neither team has a pass attack and you can't run against the Syracuse line.

Hubbell Cracks Mark, OCS Harriers Score

Craig Hubbell established another record and Onteora Central beat New Paltz, 23-38, in a dual cross country meet Tuesday over the two mile course in Boiceville.

The OCS senior was timed in 9:37 to break his former course record. Coach Bernie Stahl's harriers swept 11 of the first 13 places to easily outdistance the visitors.

Results:	Time

In a jayvee meet, Red Hook won a 15-47 decision as Peter Collins of the winners was timed in 13:33.

Port Jayvees Rip KHS, 33-6

Port Jervis' junior varsity football team scored in every quarter to turn back winless Kingston, 33-6, Monday at the PJ gridiron.

The only KHS touchdown came in the third period when Bill Brady passed 40 yards to Jessie Adams.

Mrs. Smead Has Lead in Seniors

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Mrs. L. W. Smead of Orchard Lake, Mich., shot a 77 Tuesday to lead first round qualifying for the Women's North and South Seniors golf championship.

Mrs. John Haskell of Titusville, Pa., the 1964 champion, was second with a 78. The defending champion, Mrs. John Pennington of Buffalo, N. Y., virtually shot herself out of medal contention with 83, but still had a chance at the championship flight as scores soared. Mrs. George Brady of Green- wich, Conn., shot a 79 Tuesday, as did the tournament's first winner, Mrs. Harrison Flippin Stahl (O). The second round of qualifying will be played Wednesday. Other first round qualifying scores: Miss Betty Abernethy, Pittsburgh, Pa., 79; Mrs. James Sherman, Clinton, N.Y., and Mrs. Frederic Paffard, Sewickley, Pa., 80; Mrs. Douglas Coupe, Loudonville, N.Y., 81; Mrs. George Frank, Albany, N.Y., Mrs. Edward Cooley, Winnetka, Ill., and Mrs. William Hamilton, Rydal, Pa., 82.

Circleville Gunner Trapshoot Winner

Gendron Clinches Quebec Victory

Guy Gendron knows when to throw his tantrums after scoring the winning goal, not before.

Gendron got heated out of the AHL-WHL inter-league game between Quebec and Vancouver Tuesday night, but only after scoring the goal that put the Aces ahead 3-2 in the second period. A third-period score clinched the victory 4-2 for the American Hockey League Aces. The defeat dropped Vancouver into last place in the Western League. The two loops play an interlocking schedule this season.

Guerin Finds Can Opener

Hawks Topple Knicks For Seventh Straight

By ED SCHUYLER JR., Associated Press Sports Writer

There's nothing that goes quite so well with a cold beer as a hot streak. But sometimes both are difficult to come by.

It took St. Louis Coach Richie Guerin several minutes to get the beer because he couldn't find an opener in the Hawks' crowded dressing room at New York's Madison Square Garden.

It took his Hawks considerably longer to keep their streak hot, but they did—winning their seventh National Basketball Association game in as many starts by outlasting the New York Knickerbockers 135-130 in overtime Tuesday night.

In other NBA action, Philadelphia drubbed Detroit 124-102 in a game preceding 'the Hawks-Knicks contest, San Francisco topped Cincinnati 116-106 and Baltimore whipped Seattle 136-125.

Kentucky edged Anaheim 128-127 and Minnesota trounced Pittsburgh 104-86 in the American Basketball Association.

Tied at 119-119

The Hawks thought they had won it 121-119 on Gene Tormohlen's final shot, but the officials ruled that he didn't get the shot off before the 24-second time limit had expired.

Howie Komives put the Knicks ahead 121-119 in overtime, but then the Hawks reeled off 10 straight points and held off New York for the victory.

Hal Greer scored 38 points and Billy Cunningham 25 in leading the Philadelphia rout. Wilt Chamberlain scored only 11 for the 76ers, being content to lead both teams with 27 rebounds and his club with five assists. John Tresvant led Detroit with 19 points.

Baltimore built up a 22-point lead, but Seattle then rallied to cut it to two, 103-101, before the Bullets again pulled away. Le Roy Ellis scored 26, rookie Earl Monroe 25 and Kevin Loughery 18. Connie Hawkins topped Pittsburgh with 19.

Passes Y. A. Tittle

Wins, Not Records Payoff for Unitas

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Unitas of the Baltimore Colts has taken over as top passer in the National Football League's weekly statistics but he would trade it all for victories instead of ties in the last two games.

Unitas has been breaking records each week. The latest was the mark for career completions, previously held by Y. A. Tittle. The 20 completions in Sunday's 20-20 tie with Minnesota gave him 2,131 for his lifetime total, compared to Tittle's 2,117.

The involved standings give Unitas the lead on a combination of a 60.1 completion percentage, 10 touchdowns, 2.9 in interception percentage and 8.14 yards average gain.

Norm Smead of Philadelphia, last week's leader, dropped to third and Sonny Jurgensen of Washington moved into the No. 2 spot.

Leroy Kelly of Cleveland, heading for his second straight 1,000-plus yard season, has 516 yards for six games, counting the 111 on 18 carries Sunday against Chicago. Johnny Roland of St. Louis is second with 459 yards, picking up 71 yards on 17 attempts against Philadelphia.

Jim Bakken, St. Louis' place kicker, continues to pull away in five.

the scoring department with 70 points on 17 field goals and 19 extra points. His closest competitor is Homer Jones, New York's split end who has scored nine touchdowns or 54 points.

Jones is ninth among the pass receivers, but his 28.4-yard average and eight touchdowns are tops. Charley Taylor of Washington has caught the most passes, 35.

Pat Studstill of Detroit still leads the punters with a 45.4 yard average.

Donny Anderson of Green Bay has the best punt return average, 13.7, and John Love of Washington has the best kickoff return average, 39.0 yards.

Marv Woodson of Pittsburgh still has the most interceptions.

Dietzel Has Been Taking It on the Chin But Has South Carolina on the Upswing

By FRANK ECK, AP News-features Sports Editor

Ever since he turned in his merit badge at West Point, Paul Dietzel has been taking it on the chin. Now the smiling Mansfield, Ohio native is ready to dish it out.

His South Carolina Gamecocks, victors in only one of 10 games last year in his debut at Columbia, S.C., are about to make things interesting for their Atlantic Coast Conference rivals.

The Gamecocks gave a sample of things to come in their opener when they shellacked Iowa State, 34-3, to snap a six-game losing streak. Four different players got touchdowns with fullback Warren Muir, a Fitchburg, Mass., sophomore Dietzel brought along from West Point, scoring twice.

The next week Muir gained 164 yards and scored a TD in a 16-14 victory over North Carolina.

PAUL DIETZEL

In the 21-17 upset of Duke, it was Muir who scored the winning TD in the last 40 seconds. It was too much to expect SC to halt unbeaten Georgia, yet Dietzel's charges were not disgraced in the 21-0 setback.

Last Two Weeks

When SC winds up the season the last two weeks in November against tougher Alabama and Clemson, it would be no surprise if Dietzel gives the school its first winning football campaign since 1959. The upset of Duke sits well with the coach who worked under Red Blaik and Sid Gillman. Duke, you see, upset Army the following week.

Dietzel has some grandiose plans and is being given a free rein. He's also the athletic director. Next year his Garnet and Black take on Georgia, Texas, Duke and Ole Miss in succession. His scheduling is complete through 1976.

"We have got to play teams that people want to see," says Dietzel. "However, I hope to avoid teams whose athletes do not have to go to school. I'd rather play colorful teams with big names, and with academic standards."

"I contacted all the Big Ten schools, but they will play only at their places. I am still talking with Notre Dame (an independent) and Michigan. If we go there they will give us a guarantee of something like $150,000, but if I ask them to play in Columbia they will want to know what we can offer."

Stadium Seats 43,212

Carolina Stadium at the Fair Grounds seats 43,212.

"We hope to expand the stadium for 1968," adds Dietzel. "I think it should be expanded to 60,000, with the possibility of enlarging it further. We need a larger stadium for our 1968 Clemson game in Columbia. We are exploring lots of possibilities."

When Paul Dietzel was at West Point he craved to have the Cadets play an annual game in New York. It didn't happen that way. Now he has high hopes of getting South Carolina in the national spotlight. He probably will, too!

Loprianos Pace Rondout Win

The Lopriano brothers — Pat and Jim — ran 1-2 as Rondout Valley Central scored a 23-33 victory over Wallkill Central in cross country Tuesday at Rondout.

Pat clocked his best career time (13:51) in beating brother Jim by a stride. Pete Nekos completed a 1-2-3 sweep for the Ganders. Larry Powell was Wallkiss' first runner across the line.

Rondout, 4-1, in the UCAL, is at Highland Friday.

ROD 'N GUN REPORT

by Old Rip

SEASON NOW OPEN

North Zone OPENS TODAY

With the opening of the big game hunting season in New York's northern zone today, optimistic game authorities are predicting another record kill of deer and bear.

The heaviest concentration of hunters is expected to converge on Hamilton, Warren and Franklin counties where a bulk of the 19,256 deer were harvested last year.

Of special interest to us will be the hotly-debated Moose River Plains area and we are looking forward on the final kill figures for that section. The White Tail Deer Association will set up its own check station at the Lime Kiln Lake area and along with the checking station of the Conservation Department, the legal kill figures should prove most informative. Entrance to this area will be at Cedar River Flow, 12 miles west of Indian Lake, at Headquarters Flow, and at the Lime Kiln, near Inlet.

READY FOR A TRIP to the Indian Lake region are Emerson Mayes, Robert Schaffolt, Ernie Ryan and son, Stephen. They will be guided by two of the Adirondacks' top guides — Bun Arndt and Abner Hall. The quartet will spend the evenings in Mayes' new trailer, with Ryan preparing the mashed potatoes.

Also hauled to the northern area was the camp trailer of Winky Myers of St. Remy. It was taken there Saturday and will be parked near Brandt Lake, a few miles from Chestertown.

SHORT SHOTS: With the closing of the state pheasant season Sunday, many local nimrods are finding plenty of action at clubs possessing preserve licenses. Among these clubs are Gardiner Gun Club, New Paltz Rod and Gun Club, West Esopus Landowners Association and the Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club. Nearly private preserves include Myers Pheasant Preserve at St. Remy, Pete's Game Farm at Pine Bush and Campbell's Preserve in Milan, near Red Hook.

Successful hunters at Myers Preserve recently were Leo Hayman, popular proprietor of Leherbs; Al Townsend, Don Bilyeu, Joe Hansen, and Roger Elting and Robert Holsapple of Bearsville. All have fine hunting dogs but still have the problem of flushing birds, due mainly to the heavy cover and warm weather.

Dr. Herb Zacheo is having problems with his fine dog. Seems he flushes birds for everybody except the doctor. . . . John Stowell's claim of a 10-pheasant kill (during the state season) in the Allgerville area has his neighbor Jim Belefus, wondering about the authenticity of the report. Jim hunted the areas and couldn't raise a feather. . . . From the early hunting scene in the West Hurley area come reports of a new combination of man and dog. Gordon Drew, the J. C. Penney manager, and his son, Gordy, have been seen apparently trying to teach a new beagle pup the tricks of rabbit hunting. However, we wonder just who is the teacher and who is the dog. . . . Trapshooters in the area were saddened by the death of Larry Koller, a distinguished outdoor writer, who was twice nominated by his colleagues as International Outdoorsman of the Year. Although supervising editor of a national hunting magazine, Guns and Hunting, he still found time to serve as president of the Winchester Public Shooting Center of New Paltz. . . . In the November issue of the magazine is a fine article by Russ Carpenter of Plattekill on building a Wildcat Ruger 6mm/284. Carpenter is gunsmithing editor of the mag. It makes good reading, is fully illustrated and is really a work of fine gunsmithing for which Carpenter is well known.

ON THE DUCK SCENE: Despite last Thursday's high winds and rough river conditions, reports from Spada's Sport Shop indicate some fine bag limits by Hank Cragan Jr., Joe Diamond, John DeCicco and Big and Little Mike Spada. A fine pintail brought down by Little Mike Spada is on its way to the taxidermist. . . . William Cole of Kingston dropped a fine Canadian goose for Sunday dinner recently. . . . Frank Young of Ruby is getting in his licks at the mighty flyers. . . . Several blinds were "shipwrecked" in Thursday's big blow.

OLD RIP SEZ: Damaging posted signs is one of the surest ways of keeping them up. If the landowner has his lands posted he in all probability has good reasons. Your conduct as a sportsman and gentleman will go far in getting them taken down.

Pick Kingston High In X-Country Meet

Newburgh is the defending champion but Kingston High's talented cross country team is favored to capture the annual DUSO League meet Friday at Bear Mountain. The event will get underway at 3 p. m.

Coach John Gilligan's harriers have won 18 straight dual meets over a three-year span. They went into last year's DUSO championships favored but were upset by the Goldbacks. Kingston, however, got revenge in the Section 9 tournament.

Prior to the loss to NFA, Kingston had captured five consecutive league titles. The local harriers have also won six straight Section 9 championships.

The 2.5 course at Bear Mountain is very demanding and endurance is a prime requisite for a runner.

Despite the glittering record compiled by the KHS squad, this year's meet figures to be close. Each of the five competing schools is blessed with two or three top runners and good depth.

Kingston's Gary Boice, unbeaten in dual meets this season, heads the Maroon runners. Other top point getters for Kingston are Bill Brinnier, Jim Gilpatrick, Gary Flowers and Wayne Sieckler.

Monticello's Dan Donovan, John Kennedy, Ralph Halper and Tom White of Middletown; Gary Hawkins, Craig Hutton and Joe Antundri of Newburgh and Steve Keyes of Port Jervis are capable of turning in good performances.

Kingston's domination of cross country in Section 9 started when G. Warren Kias was coaching the sport. Gilligan took over the assignment five years ago and his harriers have won 36 of 37 dual meets, losing only to Port Jervis.

Bear Mountain will also be the site of the annual Section 9 meet, scheduled Friday, Nov. 3.

Rochester Veteran AHL Scoring Leader

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Veteran Bob Barlow of the Rochester Americans had four goals and four assists in last week's American Hockey League game, enabling him to take over the circuit's scoring lead.

Barlow has 12 points on five goals and seven assists, according to the latest statistics released today. Milan Marcetta, also of Rochester, and Doug Robinson and Howard Menard of Springfield are tied for second place with 11 points. Marcetta is the league leader in goals with seven.

Hershey's Barry Ashbee has accumulated the most penalty minutes, 16.

Nichlaus Heads Field in Sahara

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Jack Nichlaus, a two-time winner and the defending champion, led golf's top-ranking professionals into the first round of the $100,000 Sahara Invitational Tournament today, a 72-hole event that will mean $20,000 to the winner next Saturday.

Arnold Palmer, who has won almost everything in the world except the rich Sahara, could pass the magic $200,000 money winning mark in a year with a victory here. To date, the millionaire pro has collected $182,393 in official earnings.

Nichlaus is not far behind. He's won $168,998.

Others in the $100,000 bracket who are here for more loot are Julius Boros, Bill Casper, Dan Sikes, Doug Sanders and Frank Beard.

Play is over the Paradise Valley Country Club, 7,069 yards of greenery, splashed in this desert country. It has a par of 36-35-71, where a year ago Nichlaus put together rounds of 71-77-68-66—282. He had also won the event in 1963.

Most of the pros revisited the course in the pro-amateur Monday and Tuesday. But Nichlaus and Palmer skipped the preliminary taking brief vacations following the United States' triumph in the Ryder Cup matches at Houston, Tex., over Great Britain last week.

In pro-am competition Don Massengale scored a hole-in-one—an 8, 8 iron shot on the 140-yard 12th hole at the Las Vegas Municipal Course which shared the pro-am action with the Paradise Club.

Four teams tied for the pro-am honors after 36 holes Tuesday. The teams were led by Ted Makalena, Ray Floyd, Paul Allen and Lee Trevino.

The individual low scorers, collecting $65 each, were Gardner Dickinson and George Archer. Both had 36-hole scores of 155.

Pick Robinson Best on Defense

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — If Dave Robinson doesn't make all-league linebacker this season, there will be eyebrows raised around the National Football League.

Robinson, a 6-foot-3, 245-pound hunk of man who plays left linebacker for the Green Bay Packers, is the Defensive Player of the Week in the NFL according to The Associated Press.

The man who pressured Don Meredith into an interception in the closing seconds of last season's Green Bay-Dallas title game, put on a show for the New York Giants last week at Yankee Stadium.

Within a space of about two minutes in the third period, Robinson intercepted two of Fran Tarkenton's passes. The first came on a ball that bounced out of the hands of Joe Morrison on New York's 26. A clipping penalty forced the Packers to deep they had to give up the ball. The second came on the Giants' 18, leading directly to a field goal by Don Chandler.

Leaping into the air to grab Tarkenton's toss with one hand, Robinson made his second interception one of the most spectacular defensive plays of the season.

"That was as fine a defensive play as you'll ever see," commented Coach Allie Sherman of the Giants, who still was in the ball game, losing only 17-14 at the time. The final score was 48-21.

Erie DA Hits Section Of New Penal Statute

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — A great influx of prostitutes coming from Detroit, Ohio and Canada into the Buffalo area has resulted from the new law, Judge Joseph A. Sedita maintained.

The 15-day maximum sentence for convicted prostitutes allowed by the present law, which should be amended by the Legislature to include a jail sentence of six months, he said.

Dillon called for revision of the section that prevents a policeman in some instances from using a weapon in making an arrest. To minimize its adverse effects on the policeman performing his duties, amendment of the section was essential, he said.

The hearing, involving sections that restrict the use of deadly force by persons defending themselves or their property and by policemen in subduing suspects, voiced the opinions of more than 25 persons.

Richard Bolton, State Police counsel, supported the revision, saying that state police in making more than 15,000 arrests and that troopers have shot only five individuals in making those arrests. The new law would have permitted each of those shootings, he said.

Although he did not discuss the law directly, Mayor Frank A. Sedita suggested the Civil Service system be revised to permit faster appointment of qualified policemen. He asked that the State Legislature increase the maximum age for beginning policemen to 31 from 29 and that state aid for financial aid be provided for community public safety, like state aid to education.

The entire section of the law needed revision, Dist. Atty. John C. Little Jr. of Monroe County claimed, while reasserting the mayor's points.

Prof. Travis Levin of the Syracuse University Law School supported the law, calling it a common sense measure in accord with modern morality. He said it was a modern social necessity, asserting that the police can use deadly physical force to protect their own lives and the lives of others.

Counterfire Pushed On Viet Protesters

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration spokesmen continue a drumbeat of counterfire to protests over U.S. policy in Vietnam but two of them have rejected new invitations to discuss the issue publicly in Congress.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara both formally turned down invitations tendered by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Neither turnaround was unexpected. Both Rusk and McNamara often have indicated their preference for executive sessions, closed to public and news media—sessions that give administration leaders the right to censor military testimony before it's made public.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Foreign Relations Committee said earlier he doubted the invitations would be accepted because public questioning "would be very embarrassing" to top administration figures.

Rusk said in his reply to the committee.

Millionaire Has Wonderful Time In New Show Business Profession

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — What's a nice millionaire like G. D. Spradlin doing in the acting business? He's having the time of his life, that's what, and he doesn't care who knows it.

"There is something about acting that is a joyful experience," he says in warm, Oklahoma-accented tones. "I hope to stay in the profession for the rest of my days."

Unusual Decision

This is an unusual decision for Spradlin, who has known several other careers. At least one of them—as an oil man—proved wildly successful.

The saga of Gervase Duan Spradlin, who uses the initials for his billing—began Aug. 31, 1925, in Daylight Township, Okla., where his parents were dirt farmers. After a boyhood of following a mule and a plow, he came to the conclusion that the farm life wasn't for him.

Spradlin sold life insurance to work his way through the University of Oklahoma Law School, later went to South America as legal officer for Phillips Petroleum.

"I stayed there three years, long enough to make a nest egg—I wasn't paying income tax out of the country," he said. "Then I went back to Oklahoma and put the nest egg into the oil business."

He got lucky—and rich enough to retire in 1960 at the age of 35. But the rangy Oklahoman grew restless and started up an electronics business. After two years of intense work, he had developed the enterprise to the point where he could retire again.

Studied at Miami
"This time I took my wife and two daughters to Florida," he related. "I studied at the University of Miami, taking a master's in history. But much of the time we just cruised the Bahamas, where the life is easy and the water is clear as gin."

"Unfortunately the life was too easy, and the shade of John Calvin came to me with the lesson that idleness is sin. I finally had to agree with Oliver Wendell Holmes Jr. who said: 'Just as all life is action and passion, a man must engage himself in the passions and actions of his time or risk being judged not to have lived.'"

Back Spradlin went to Oklahoma City. He had been county manager for John F. Kennedy's 1960 campaign, and in 1965 he decided to enter the race for mayor. He ran a poor second in a field of four.

Then a happy accident occurred: "The Oklahoma City Mummies is the second oldest repertory company in America and one of the few that is self-supporting—a tribute more to the quality of the citizens than to the quality of the productions. The company helps maintain this loyalty by Mummies."

LOCK HAVEN, Pa. (AP) — Accused mass murderer Leo Held died today at Lock Haven Hospital of bullet wounds suffered in a blazing gun battle with police Monday.

A hospital administrator said Held's death about 6:30 a.m. resulted from a blood clot to his heart.

Held, a 40-year-old former school board member, was charged with murdering six persons and wounding six others during a shooting spree.

His death rules out the chance officers will ever learn what triggered the rampage. They had not questioned him because of the critical nature of his wounds and because of fear of violating his constitutional rights.

Funeral services were set for today for one of the victims, Elmer Weaver, 37, who worked with Held at a paper company in this central Pennsylvania town, as did four of the others killed.

The sixth victim was Floyd Quiggle, 27, Held's neighbor, who was slain after the shootings at the Hammermill Paper Co. while he and his wife were in bed. Mrs. Quiggle, critically wounded, is in Williamsport.

Note Larceny At Byrne's

City police reported a number of petty larcenies of parts of cars parked in Byrne Chevrolet's lot on Broadway, recently.

Hardest hit was a 1967 Camaro owned by Mark Perry of Box 187, Hurley. Thieves stole a four-barrel carburetor, control linkage, a battery and a reverbulator unit.

Observed 22nd Founding of United Nations

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The 22nd anniversary of the founding of the United Nations in San Francisco was observed Tuesday with a plea for creation of a stronger international peace force.

"The U.N. is still far too weak," said Eugene Staley, a Stanford University economics professor who was a member of the committee on rights and duties of the General Assembly when 50 nations wrote the U.N. charter in 1945.

Speaking before a small gathering at the San Francisco Opera House, where the organizing sessions were held, Staley urged giving U.N. the right to tax space communications, space travel and underocean commerce.

The economist advocated compulsory membership of all nations, including Communist China "without betraying the free people who fled to Taiwan."

Staley added such a move would be "a neat trick if you can do it."

Today In Washington

Cite Intimidation
WASHINGTON (AP) — A State Department official says 14 white children from three Communist embassies have been beaten and intimidated by other students at the predominantly Negro public school they attend.

Harold A. Pace of the department's protocol division said Tuesday the children of Polish, Czechoslovakian and Bulgarian embassy officials have been subjected to brutal treatment at Lincoln Junior High School. One boy was hospitalized as a result, he said.

"This is very bad for our image overseas," said Pace, adding the State Department would like to see the embassy children transferred to another school. But a recent court ruling may make this impossible, officials said.

"By international agreements we must protect the diplomats and their families," said Pace. "I don't see how we can justify subjecting them to continuous harassment."

Liquor Sales Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tax collections indicate Americans are accelerating their intake of alcoholic beverages.

The Internal Revenue Service reported that alcohol tax collections for the year which ended June 30 reached a record $4.08 billion, up 6.8 per cent from the previous fiscal year.

Tobacco tax collections increased just three-tenths of one per cent to $2.08 billion, shy of the 1965 record of $2.15 billion in fiscal 1964-65.

Set Own Deadlines

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government officials say 37 school districts in 17 Southern and border states have voluntarily set their own deadlines for meeting federal desegregation requirements.

All have agreed to eliminate dual Negro-white school systems within the next three years, federal officials said Tuesday.

They said another 44 of the total 4,600 Southern school districts have submitted plans aimed at meeting federal standards over a slightly longer period.

Rocky's Tax Incentive:

Eyes Jobs, Business for Slums

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller says he will recommend to the 1968 Legislature passage of a state tax incentive program to lure business and jobs to city slums.

Addressing a conference of state business and labor leaders Tuesday, the governor said the program would aim at making "business investment in disadvantaged neighborhoods more attractive and feasible."

"This program," he continued, "will probably offer business and property tax credits to firms locating or expanding operations in these areas."

The governor said details of the plan would be spelled out when the program is ready for presentation to the Legislature. It was one of a number of proposals recommended by the parley.

Mail Returns For Tax Refund To Mass. Office

ALBANY—Will you have a refund due on your 1967 Federal income tax return? If you do and you live in Northeastern New York State, you can mail your return on or after Jan. 1, 1968 to: North Atlantic Service Center, 310 Lowell Street, Andover, Mass. 01812.

A pre-addressed envelope for this purpose will be included in the tax forms package mailed each taxpayer at the end of the year.

Returns, with refund due, that are mailed direct to the Service Center, will be speedily processed and will expedite the refund due.

Men Fined, Confined

Two men were fined $20 and confined for 15 days after pleading guilty to a charge of public intoxication this morning in City Court. The men were arrested yesterday afternoon after complaints of their throwing beer cans out in the street in front of 96 Clinton Avenue were investigated by city police. Confined were Thomas Sanchez, 32, of 55 North Front Street and Santiago DeJesus, 41, of Partition Street, Saugerties. The case against Jose DeJesus-Ortiz, 25, of 96 Clinton Avenue was adjourned until Oct. 31 for trial. He is also charged with public intoxication.

Arrested on Warrant

Frank Howard Rockwell, 42, of 26 North Wilbur Avenue, was arrested Tuesday on a warrant issued by Justice of the Peace Robert Sledge, town Ulster charging issuance of a fraudulent check. The complainant was John Rielly, Lake Katrine. The warrant was executed by County Investigator Harold T. Bowers and Trooper Richard Ryan. Taken before Justice Arthur A. Reilly of Town Ulster, Rockwell was held in $500 bail for a hearing.

Phone Incorrect

In the Friday issue of The Freeman, in the advertisement of Reggie's Inn, Route 22, New Paltz, the telephone number was listed incorrectly. The number should have read 255-1830 (Two - five - five - one - eight - three-zero).

LEGAL NOTICES

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON AMENDING THE AUTOMOBILE JUNK YARD ORDINANCE OF THE TOWN OF ULSTER
Notice is hereby given that the Town Board of the Town of Ulster, will meet at the Lake Katrine Grange Hall, Lake Katrine, N. Y. on Thursday, November 2nd, 1967, at 7:00 o'clock P. M. Eastern Standard Time, to consider amending the Automobile Junk Yard Ordinance which was adopted by the Town Board of Ulster on September 1, 1966, and to hold a Public Hearing thereon. At such hearing any person may be heard in favor of or against any of the amendments proposed. In general terms the amendments would: substitute the Town Board where the ordinance now indicates the Planning Board; would eliminate the Section of the ordinance which deals with buying or selling minors, which is section 15, subdivision 1; and would eliminate the word "any" from Section 15, subdivision (a) which reads: "records shall at all times be available for inspection by 'any' peace officer."

STATE OF NEW YORK

Albany, September 30, 1967
Pursuant to the provisions of section seventy-two of the Election Law, the following Proposition Number One, and proposed amendments to the Constitution, Numbers One and Two, will be submitted to the voters of the State at the General Election on November seventh, nineteen hundred sixty-seven.
JOHN F. LORENZO
Secretary of State

Abstract of Proposition Number One

Chapter 715 of the Laws of 1967, to be known as the Transportation Capital Facilities Bond Act, authorizes the creation of a state debt in an amount not to exceed in the aggregate two billion five hundred million dollars to provide monies to be used, in such manner and upon such terms and conditions as the Legislature may prescribe, for the acquisition, construction, reconstruction and improvement of transportation capital facilities and equipment and for the acquisition of real property and interests in real property required therefor. Separate allocations of the monies to be received from the sale of bonds are made for: (a) State highways, parkways and arterial highways (one billion two hundred fifty million dollars); (b) rapid transit, railroad, omnibus or marine transportation capital facilities and equipment (one billion dollars); and (c) airport or aviation capital facilities and equipment (two hundred fifty million dollars). The statute provides for the submission to the voters at the 1967 general election of the following proposition or question: "shall chapter 715 of the laws of nineteen hundred sixty-seven, known as the transportation capital facilities bond act, authorizing the creation of a state debt in the amount of two billion five hundred million dollars to provide monies for the acquisition, construction, reconstruction and improvement of certain highway, mass transportation, airport and aviation facilities and equipment, be approved?"

Form of Submission of Proposition Number One

Transportation Bond Issue

Shall chapter 715 of the laws of nineteen hundred sixty-seven, known as the transportation capital facilities bond act, authorizing the creation of a state debt in the amount of two billion five hundred million dollars to provide monies for the acquisition, construction, reconstruction and improvement of certain highway, mass transportation, airport and aviation facilities and equipment, be approved?

Abstract of Proposed Amendment Number One

The purpose and effect of this proposed amendment is to permit the Legislature to make or authorize making the State liable for the payment of the principal and interest on bonds of a public corporation (the New York Job Development Authority) created pursuant to Article VII, Section 8 of the Constitution, in a principal amount to exceed two hundred million dollars rather than fifty million dollars as now provided. Article 7, Section 8 provides for the organization of such public corporation for the purpose of making loans to non-profit corporations in aid of industrial development to improve employment opportunities in any area of the State.

Job Development Authority

Shall the proposed amendment to Article ten, Section seven (renumbered eight) of the Constitution, increasing from fifty million dollars to two hundred million dollars the maximum principal amount of bonds, which the State may be made liable, issued by a public corporation created for the purpose of making loans to non-profit corporations in aid of industrial development to improve employment opportunities in any area of the State, be approved?

Abstract of Proposed Amendment Number Two

The purpose and effect of this proposed amendment is to permit the State to construct and maintain not more than thirty miles of ski trails, thirty to eighty feet wide, together with appurtenances thereon, on forest preserve land on the north and east slopes of Hoffman, Blue Ridge and Peaked Hill Mountains in Essex County.

Form of Submission of Proposed Amendment Number Two

Blue Ridge Ski Center

Shall the proposed amendment to Article fourteen, Section one, of the Constitution, permitting the State to construct and maintain not more than thirty miles of ski slopes, thirty to eighty feet wide, together with appurtenances thereon, on forest preserve land on the north and east slopes of Hoffman, Blue Ridge and Peaked Hill Mountains in Essex County, be approved?

Psychologist Best Answer

By Abigail Van Buren
DEAR ABBY: Last week a neighbor came to our door with a disturbing story. It seems our son, age 10, had undressed her son, age 6, and whatever else took place, she was supposed to have seen.

We have never had any trouble like this before. Our son's exact words were, "I don't know what I did wrong."

This neighbor didn't know that there was a third boy there, who was older. When I questioned him, he assured me that nothing serious took place.

We appreciated this neighbor telling us, so that if we do have a problem we can correct it in time, but what we didn't appreciate was her telling the whole neighborhood.

The next day, none of our son's friends would play with him.

Three days later, the POLICE called to question us in reference to this incident. (Such tales can really get out of proportion, can't they?)

What should we do if they continue to press the issue?

WORRIED DAD
DEAR DAD: If by "pressing the issue," you mean they continue to persecute your child by refusing to allow their children to play with him, moving from the neighborhood would not be too drastic, it's at all possible. Tales of this nature live a lot longer than they should.

If you are convinced that what took place was nothing "serious," and only a normal incident of exploring, due to natural boyish curiosity, forget it. But better schedule a chat between your boy and a competent child psychologist to be sure the child hasn't an unhealthy (or abnormal) preoccupation with sex.

DEAR ABBY: I am an 18-year-old boy with a problem. First let me explain that I AM clean, I LOOK clean and have never been in any kind of trouble, but I guess you would not say that I was "in" with the popular crowd. I have liked this 16-year-old girl for a long time, and finally got up the nerve to ask her for a movie date. She accepted and I thought we had a good time, but the next time I asked her for a date she said she was busy.

I asked her again, and then she told me that her father didn't want her to go out with me. I asked her why, and she said her father doesn't give reasons, he just gives orders. This bothered me a lot because I only saw her father once to shake hands with on the night I took her out. I finally got up the nerve to call her father and ask him why he didn't like me.

He said he liked me fine, and when I told him what his daughter had told me, he said he never said anything of the kind. Could the father be lying? or could the girl have lied to me?

I need your advice. LIED TO DEAR LIED: Obviously, SOMEBODY lied. Either way, my advice to you is to forget the girl.

DEAR ABBY: A relative of mine invited me to a buffet-style supper for out-of-town company. While I was eating, without any warning whatsoever, the hostess stuck her fork into my macaroni salad. Abby, all I said was, "Please, if you want some, get some of your own."

She looked at me as tho I was in the wrong and in a very snotty tone she said, "Well, pardon ME!" Then she turned her back on me.

Then I said to her, "O, that's all right, as long as you already started it, you may as well finish it because I'm not going to eat it now." She didn't say another word to me all evening. Naturally, this spoiled the whole party for me.

Abby, what I want to know is, was she out of order for eating from off my plate? Or was I wrong in telling her I didn't like it? You know germs are passed from one to another thru the mouth and I try to be as careful as possible. CAREFUL! DON'T sound like a couple of kids. It is not the best manners to "taste" the food on another's plate, neither is it anything about which to become exercised. A closed mouth is a good precaution against "germs." And it also has other advantages.

There was a day when no one differentiated between the one-over-one response and that of two in a lower valued suit. The was some slight differentiation in that you would respond one-over-one with a bad hand and a four card suit, while the two-over-one required either a fair hand, a good suit, or both.

Gradually, people started raising the point count requirements for two-over-one, and today this response promises a minimum of a good 10 points and usually shows at least 11.

Some people even go so far as to promise a second bid. We don't do that, but we try to find a second bid and will do so if partner rebids in a new suit.

This makes it possible to use fragment bids after a two-over-one response. North could have forced with three clubs. Hence, his four club bid was a fragment bid and showed diamond support and a singleton club.

South had a minimum 10 points for his two diamond call, but the fragment bid was just what he wanted to hear. Obviously all his cards were going to work for him at a diamond contract, and he bid four no trump to check for aces.

He ran no risk with that bid. He was going to five diamonds anyway and would pass complacently if North showed just one ace.

As is usually the case with lay-down slam contracts, there are any number of ways for North and South to get to six diamonds. It is mighty easy when you see all 52 cards. It wasn't easy at the tables in the duplicate game where it occurred. Only two pairs out of nine got there.

'Kismet' Eye-Filling Show

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — With music like "Stranger in Paradise," an Arabian Night romance for a plot and the rich oriental colors of a lavish production, ABC's "Kismet" Tuesday night could hardly miss. It was an ear-satisfying and eye-filling 90 minutes—particularly for television viewers who saw it in all its lovely hues.

OFFICE CAT

By Junius
Trade Mark Reg.

In Washington they tell the story of a clergyman who had been badly beaten in the links by a parishioner thirty years his senior and had returned to the clubhouse rather disgruntled.

Rev. Gray — Cheer up, Remember, you win at the finish. You'll probably be burying me some day.

Rev. Green — Even then, it will be your hole.

The Scotsman bought a nickel's worth of peppermint drops and took his bride for a honeymoon ride on a city bus. When they got off the bus he said, "Honey, suppose we save the rest of the candy for the children."

Judge Craft — How could you swindle people who trusted you?

Replied the con man: George (the con man) — Your honor, it's almost impossible to swindle people who don't trust you.

The way to keep a man at a distance girls is to marry him.

There are over 300 "John Smiths" in the New York telephone directory and not a single "Pocahontas."

Evelyn — I have a rare old victrola. It was once in the possession of George Washington.

Ellen — But there was no such thing as victrolas in Washington's time.

Evelyn — That's what makes it so rare.

Barbara Eden, who must be pretty familiar with this Arabian Nights business after two years of playing TV genie, contributed the more silly comedy moments as the faithless wife of the vizier and Hans Conried as her foolish husband played his part in almost slapstick fashion.

The real star of "Kismet" in any production is Alexander Borodin, who composed the lovely music which was given words and adapted to stage use.

Earlier in the evening NBC broadcast "A Hard Day's Night," the critically acclaimed film starring the Beatles and made three years ago at the peak of their popularity. It was pell-mell comedy, full of sight gags, one-line jokes, sudden changes of pace but often in comprehensible bits of dialogue in muffled Liverpool accents.

Movies Take Over NBC
NBC filled its entire evening from 7:30 to 11 with movies—a situation which pessimists insist will be commonplace in television before too long. It followed "A Hard Day's Night" with an old Jerry Lewis comedy, "Cinderella," with Anna Maria Alberghetti as his leading woman. Thus Miss Albergheiti competed for audiences simultaneously on two rival networks.

Tonight ABC's entire evening schedule will be taken over by special broadcasts. First there will be a showing of the 10-year-old film version of "The King and I" with Deborah Kerr, Yul Brynner and Rodgers and Hammerstein score. Then comes a program built around Sophia Loren and shot mostly at her home near Rome.

Transportation Facilities Lacking in Region: Survey

Transportation in all its forms in the Mid-Hudson Region is failing to keep pace with urban growth, or else has been slow to realize its potential as a generator and shaper of new development.

This is the general conclusion in a report soon to be released by the staff of the Mid-Hudson Pattern for Progress, Inc. on the seven-county area's transportation deficiencies and how the state's upcoming $2.5 billion transportation bond issue could offer possible remedies.

For Rural Purposes

The region's highways, in general, the report says, "were built to serve a dominantly rural area, which is now rapidly becoming urban."

"Rail service, too, is lagging behind its potential for serving the area."

"Local bus service is declining, a victim of the motor car, but still badly needed in our central cities to serve the elderly, the poor, and those, who for various reasons, cannot drive."

"And the region still lacks an airport capable of handling a modern schedule of airline service to meet the needs of business and industry."

The report, scheduled to be mailed Oct. 27 to Pattern members and some 1,500 business, professional, civic and government leaders in the region, is the first in a series of reconnaissance reports by the Pattern staff on regional issues and opportunities.

Bond Timely

This first one deals with

transportation "because of the timeliness of the state's forthcoming bond issue referendum," according to C. David Locks, Pattern's president, "and is intended to be only an initial step in our agency's continuing study and efforts in this vital area of regional development."

Patterns, which is based at the State University College, New Paltz, is a citizen's regional planning, research, and development corporation, specifically concerned with helping guide the orderly future development of the region's seven counties: Dutchess, Ulster, Orange, Greene, Columbia, Putnam and Sullivan.

The bond issue, which goes before the voters Nov. 7, is a major effort to alleviate the region's transportation deficiencies, the agency contends, "to strengthen and promote a more viable and mobile system, which, in turn, would offer the region's people greater opportunities in their everyday lives, both now and in the future."

Specifically, the state's program promises that work will be accelerated on Interstate Rt. 84, a major east-west route through Orange, Dutchess and Putnam Counties; the East West Arterial in the Poughkeepsie Area, and the Hudson River Expressway in northern Westchester, Putnam and southern Dutchess counties.

In addition, the program provides for improving bus service, adding new general aviation airports and possible electrification of New York Central's Harlem and Hudson Divisions to Brewster and Poughkeepsie.

List Breakdown

Statewide, the bond issue breaks down to $1.14 billion to speed highway construction, $1 billion to modernize commuter railroads and expand and improve transit systems, and $250 million to facilitate air travel.

These funds will be supplemented by an additional $1.85 billion in federal monies, the report continues, and $1 billion from local and authority funds for a total transportation expenditure of $5.25 billion.

Five Mid-Hudson counties (Columbia, Ulster, Dutchess, Orange and Putnam) will be sharing a total state highway allocation of $414 million with Westchester and Rockland Counties in what is known as District 8 by the State Department of Transportation.

Sullivan County will be sharing $150 million of highway money with several counties to the north, and the Binghamton area to the west; and Greene, $282 million with six counties in the Albany-Schenectady area.

But more important, the report says, these bond issue monies are scheduled to be spent in the next five years, and for highways, this will mean about a 40 per cent speed-up in construction throughout the state, compared to the five years ending in 1966.

The emphasis, too, will be on regional highway systems, principally the heavily traveled limited access highways (expressways) and not on local streets.

Highway construction in general, however, is expected to be stimulated throughout the region because of the additional monies.

2 More Groups Oppose Charter

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Additional opposition to the proposed new state constitution was on record today in the wake of action by members of two statewide groups.

The legislative committee and the constitution committee of the County Officers Association announced Tuesday it had asked the association's members to oppose the new charter.

Meanwhile, in Utica, Delegates to the annual State Grange convention approved a resolution expressing disapproval of the proposed document, which is to be voted on in the Nov. 7 election.

The county officers' committees said the association should oppose adoption because the voters were not permitted to ballot separately on controversial issues and because some of its provisions would lead to an increase in state taxes.

The Grange said it was opposed to the proposal because of educational and judicial provisions.

Social Agency Hears Review Of Related Councils Work

A panel discussion of related job that must be done, what it will require, how it will be organized, Planning in this sense is immediate and useful, he said. This planning process is the aim of the Social Agencies.

Lawrence Siewers, council president, served as panel moderator. Dr. Arnold, in assessing the role of the leisure time and character building committee, noted that times are changing and programs must be geared to the needs of now. A community should provide a comprehensive leisure time program for all age groups from preschoolers to senior citizens.

The concerns of the Council for Family and Welfare Services are in three important areas, according to Dr. Shea, chairman. He outlined them as probation department and family court; family centered casework service; and area homemaker service.

The first named departments are understaffed, he noted. The family centered casework service would be developed from the strength of an existing agency such as Children's Home. It could serve as anchor for a many-faceted program serving adult as well as child.

The need for a homemaker service was determined by a survey conducted in the spring of 1965. Dr. Shea said that Mrs. Richard Overbaugh and her committee have accomplished most of the planning needs for the service.

Dr. Derman reviewed the overall health program started in the county in 1946. He said the program could be strengthened if vacant posts could be filled and additional positions made available.

A question and answer period followed. The November meeting of the council will be held Tuesday, Nov. 14, at the YWCA.

For Transit Borrowing

$1 Billion State Interest Tab

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York State probably would have to pay about $1 billion in interest charges on the $2.5-billion borrowing sought by Gov. Rockefeller for his transportation program.

'Rough Estimates'

This is the prospect foreseen in "rough estimates" made by the Republican governor's budget division and by State Comptroller Arthur Levitt, the only Democratic department head in state government.

Levitt's office said it was impossible to make a precise estimate of interest costs because Rockefeller has not spelled out his plans for issuing the transportation bonds, if the voters approve the borrowing.

For that reason, the comptroller has withheld his support for the bond proposal, which appears as Proposition 1 on the Nov. 7 election ballot.

Geology Field Trip Nov. 4

The John Burroughs Natural History Society will have a geology field trip Saturday, Nov. 4. Anyone interested may join the members by meeting at the intersection of Rt. 199 and 32, at the exit at the west end of the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge at 10 a. m.

Dr. Richard J. Ordway will be in charge and various stops will be made to see the different kinds of geologic structures and varied clays. Fossil hunting also will be a part of the trip.

All are to bring lunch and a flashlight. In case of rain, the trip will be held on Sunday, Nov. 5, same time and place. The next field trip of the John Burroughs Natural History Society will be on Nov. 12 at the John Burroughs Sanctuary. Details will be announced later.

Sears Display To Include Indian Artifacts

The Rev. Harry E. Christiana will present at the display of Indian artifacts displayed by Elmer Carney at the Sears sports department Saturday and will personally answer questions, tell how to find Indian relics, and explain their purpose. Also on display will be "Oswald" the ancient ceramic piece owned by Carney which is believed to be over 1500 years old.

Anyone wishing to donate any Indian artifacts may bring them to Sears. The display opened on Wednesday and will last for two weeks. The display will be changed from time to time.

ALDERMAN DISQUALIFIED — Alderman Charlotte Whitton has been disqualified from city council in Ottawa, Canada. In a judgement released Tuesday Justice Ferguson of the Supreme Court of Ontario, declared Ald. Whitton's seat vacant. Justice Ferguson ruled that she had forfeited her seat by bringing a lawsuit against the city early this summer. She challenged the validity of a new ten-year lease granted the Central Canada Exhibition Association to operate Lansdowne Park. The fiery former mayor has no right to appeal and must leave city council at once. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

The More You Make Takes More to Live

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 13-year-old son and an 8-year-old daughter. It took them $9,191 in an average U.S. city for a "moderate" living standard last year, and with price increases since then the figure is at least $9,420 a year now.

They spent $7,329 on food, housing, clothing, transportation, medical and personal care and other items and the rest on taxes, life insurance, gifts and contributions to social and charitable expenses of the husband.

"It is not a poverty budget nor is it a luxury budget," said Ross. The bureau will later publish living cost figures for families with both higher and lower incomes.

The "moderate" family budget, Ross said, shows that "aspirations and expectations multiplied at least as rapidly" as rising income and the production capacity of the economy.

The same couple without children could have lived just as comfortably with $3,778 less income. If they had four children instead of two, they would have needed an additional $2,345 in income to keep up the same level of living.

The median income of the nation's 48 million families is about $7,500 a year.

The study was based on a theoretical 38-year-old man with a steady job earning $11,000 a year, his wife who doesn't work, of living
